PARIS, SATURDAY-SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 18-19, 1982

Israelis Offer Talks

On Beirut Departure

By David K. Shipler

New York Times Seruce

JERUSALEM — Israel proposed Friday to the United States that Israeli and Lebanese army officers meet to work out the gradual transfer of positions in West Beirut from Israeli to Lebanese

The suggestion followed Thursday night's cabinet decision that the Israeli Army would withdraw from Beirut only when the Lebanese Army was ready to move in. Israeli officials predicted that once the Lebanese agreed, the transfer would take at least several days, since the Lebanese Army has shown timidity about entering West Beirut

The proposal for a meeting was made by Defense Minister Ariel Sharon and Foreign Minister Yit-zhak Shamir during talks in Jerusalem with Morris Draper, a U.S. special envoy who has been traveling between Israel and Lebanon since the assassination of Lebanon's president-elect, Bashir Gemayel, on Tuesday.

Mr. Draper declined to answer reporters' questions after he left the talks. But Israeli officials present at the meeting said that the Americans seemed satisfied. Mr. Draper was scheduled to fly to Beirut to present the proposal to Lebanese officials.

Milder Private Stance

President Ronald Reagan, in his first direct comment on the Is-raeli move into West Beirut, called on all foreign forces to leave Lebanon and predicted that the Lebanese Army would take over the Israeli positions, The Associated Press reported from White House Station, New Jersey. "We want to see all foreign forces removed and see Lebanon go forward once again in control of its own destiny. and I'm sure that's what Israel wants also," the president told Republicans at a fund-raising recepion Friday.

well-placed Israeli official said that the U.S. view, as expressed privately, was considerably less demanding of Israel than the public statement Thursday accusing Israel of violating the agreement under which the Palestine Liberation Organization was evacuated from West Beirut. In public, the United States demanded an immediate Israeli withdrawal from the sector. "We were surprised and angry" at the statement, the official said, since it came only hours after a much more "understanding" U.S. line had been presented by Mr. Draper

[The State Department issued an unusual statement Friday that gave additional details of the dispute with Israel, Reuters reported from Washington. It said that the administration has decided not to seek written pledges on what Israel Beirut, "in light of the many previous oral assurances we had ob-

[These were given both before and after the agreement on Aug. 20, under which PLO fighters left

Beirut, the statement said.] The Israelis believe firmly that the private position is the authentic one, since Washington is also interested in seeing the creation of a strong, pro-Western Lebanese

The Israeli conviction is that the United States made the tough statement because of "Arab pressure," as an official put it.

The administration's public position was cited by some officials as the reason that the Israeli cabinet voted unanimously Thursday (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Paris Blast of Israeli's Car Hurts 45

PARIS — A bomb blew up an Israeli diplomatic car here Friday, critically wounding at least five persons, including an official of the Israeli Embassy's military purchasing annex, and injuring at least 40 children from a nearby school.

The blanches the Para Confiner in the 17th dieses

The blast shook the Rue Cardinet, in the 17th district, shattering windows and creating panic on the crowded sidewalks and inside the Lycee Carnot. The device exploded near the purchasing annex, police said. The annex is on Boulevard Malesherbes.

The Israeli diplomat was identified only as Amos Man-El a member of the Israeli purchasing mission in Paris. Embassy officials said he was in critical condition, and that three of his relatives were seriously wounded. Two young passers-by were seriously injured, police said. Joseph Franceschi, secretary of state for public se-curity, said the police believed that the bomb was placed under the right fender of the car and exploded when the driver turned on the ignition. The Israeli Embassy said the bomb was planted in the saddlebags of a motorized bicycle parked near the vehicle. That tactic was used in an explosion outAn Israeli Embassy spokesman said the embassy and its annexes, including the military purchasing mission, had closed earlier than usual Friday to allow staff to prepare for celebrations on the eve of the Police said it was the same mission that was machine-gunned in March by militants of the outlawed Direct Action extreme leftist group.

Prime Minister Pierre Mauroy immediately condemned the attack as an attempt to hamper France's peace efforts in the Middle East. The Israeli ambassador. Meir Rosenne, called on Mr. Mauroy to lodge a protest against the attack.

Mr. Rosenne blamed the attack on the Palestine Liberation Organization which, he said, has vowed to "make life unlivable for any Israeli wherever he is." Witnesses said wounded students were carried away on stretchers after receiving emergency aid on the sidewalk. A police spokesman said most of the injured were treated for cuts and shock.

Police said a telephone caller to a news agency said the Lebanese Armed Revolutionary Faction claimed # 1980, also on a Jewish holiday, when four passers-by were killed and nine injured.

Jewish New Year, Rosh Hashana.

Israelis Mop Up in West Beirut; Christian Forces Seize Palestinians

forces crushed the last major Lebanese militia resistance to their occupation of West Beirut on Friday, and Christian Phalangist militia-men entered the Moslem sector of the capital to seize their longtime Palestínian enemies.

Soviet diplomats said that earlier in the week, Israeli troops had seized Soviet Embassy buildings on West Beirut's Corniche Mazraa commercial thoroughfare. An Israeli spokesman in Jerusalem said that Israeli troops had only sought pound during a battle. In Washington, meanwhile, the State Department said the United States protested to Israel over an incident Thursday in which an Israeli officer reportedly had fired at and missed an unarmed U.S. Marine standing guard atop the U.S. Embassy in West Beirut. It said the bullet missed by two feet.

There was no immediate comment from Israel, but Larry M. Speakes, the White House deputy press secretary, said Israel apologized, saying the officer had mis-taken the Marine for a leftist mili-

War correspondents reported Friday that Israeli tanks and troops flushed out members of the Mourabitoun militia, Lebanon's most powerful armed leftist Moslem group, with a three-hour barrage, then searched house-tohouse for weapons.

A Mourabitoun communiqué

Shaker neighborhood after a defense against "overwhelming odds." It said 30 militiamen had been killed since the Israeli advance into West Beirut began Wednesday, and that Mr. Koleilat himself had been wounded in the Israeli tanks also guarded the Sabra and Chatila Palestinian camps, and automatic weapons fire echoed from inside the camps as armed Phalangist militiamen entered on foot and in jeeps from Christian-controlled East Beirut,

As women from the camps appeared, weeping hysterically and reporting that their husbands and sons had been taken away by armed Phalangists, fear spread among Moslem residents of West Beirut. The Christians fought the 1975-76 civil war against an alliance of leftist Moslems and Palestinians, and the two sides remained bitter enemies afterwards. Three Israeli armored personnel carriers were posted outside the high-walled Soviet Embassy compound, where unconfirmed reports said several leftist militia commanders formerly allied with the Palestine Liberation Organization have taken asylum.

A group of Soviet diplomats came to an embassy door and told Western reporters that the Israelis occupied the buildings of our school, consulate and living quar-ters" on Wednesday and held one quoted the militia's leader, of the buildings until Friday.

Compiled by Our Staff From Dispatches | Ibrahim Koleilat, as conceding the | They said the Israelis had burst metal gate in the side wall of the embassy compound with two armored personnel carri-

In Jerusalem, a military spokesman confirmed that Israeli soldiers had entered the compound Wednesday. He said, "There was shooting in the area and some of our men took shelter behind a wall in the embassy compound for a limited time. They did not enter any embassy building."

As Israel solidified its grip on

West Beirut, its Christian allies in East Beirut split over who would be the next president of Lebanon. The National Liberal Party announced that its 82-year-old leader, Camille Chamoun, will contest the Phalange Party nominee, Amin Gemayel, the brother of the assassinated president-elect, Bashir Gemayel, in next week's presiden-Unless one of the candidates withdraws, the Lebanese Front co-alition of Maronite Christian groups would be certain to collanse. Christian sources said.

■ Arafat Returns to Tunis Reuters quoted the Tunisian news agency TAP on Friday as saying that Yasser Arafat, the PLO chairman, returned Thursday night to Tunis from Rome, where he had met with Pope John Paul II and PLO officials had said on Mr. Arafat's departure from Rome that he was leaving for Damascus.

Bonn Coalition Falls; Schmidt Seeks Vote

By James M. Markham

New York Times Service

BONN — The coalition that has governed West Germany for the past 13 years collapsed Friday as the junior Free Democrats pulled their four ministers out of the government, and Chancellor Helmut Schmidt, in a dramatic speech to parliament challenged the opposiparliament, challenged the opposition to agree to hold new elections. Rebuffing the chancellor's pro-posal for elections, Helmut Kohl, the leader of the conservative Christian Democrats, vowed instead that his party would put together a new government — evi-dently with the Free Democrats and then face the voters. Hans-Dietrich Genscher, the leader of the Free Democrats and former foreign minister, made a similar Climaxing weeks of open bicker-ing between the Social Democrats and the Free Democrats over eco-nomic and foreign policy, the breakup of the coalition left Mr. Schmidt in charge of a minority government and opened a period of uncertainty in West German politics as Mr. Kohl and Mr. Genscher bargained over the cabi-net they propose to form.

The end of the coalition came early Friday when, alerted to Mr. Schmidt's plan to address the Bun-destag, Mr. Genscher and the three other Free Democrats in the cabi-- Peonomics Minister Otto Lambsdorff, Interior Minister Gerhart Baum and Agriculture Minister Josef Ertl — resigned.

With the four cabinet chairs empty, Mr. Schmidt, in a vigorous address to the Bundestag, blamed Mr. Genscher and the Free Democrats for destroying the coalition and accused his opponents of indulging in "intrigues."

"Because I take my responsibility seriously, I refuse to watch these said Mr. Schmidt, who has been chancellor for eight years. "For us Social Democrats, the reputation and solidity of democracy is more important than tactical party ad-

To end the country's political impasse, Mr. Schmidt proposed an all-party agreement to dissolve the Bundestag — a difficult procedure under the constitution — through confidence vote that he would agree to lose. If the opposition agreed not to put forward a candidate of its own in the 21-day waiting period stipulated by the constitution, Mr. Schmidt said, elections could be held at the end of No-

Bitterly taunting the Free Democrats, whose popularity has dropped radically in the past year, Mr. Schmidt said that in new elections they would not be able to campaign with posters showing him and Mr. Genscher as they did in 1980. Riding Mr. Schmidt's coattails, the Free Democrats polled a record 10.6 percent of the

"Now you are going to have to pay the mortgage for your mistak-en decisions," he said, turning to the Free Democrat beaches in the Bundestag. "I only hope that you will be good debtors."

Wiesbaden Elections Mr. Schmidt accused the Free Democrats of planning to abandon the coalition if they obtained 5 percent of the vote in elections in Hesse Sept. 26, which would guarantee them representation in the parliament in Wiesbaden, the state capital. A poll below 5 percent might have kept them in the government, he suggested. "But I percent more or I per-cent less in Wiesbaden is no basis a federal government," clared the chancellor to applause from the Social Democrat benches. But for I percent more, I have already seen that you are getting ready to blame the breakup of the coalition on the Social Demo-

By calling for general elections — and by mixing scathing words about Mr. Genscher with warm praise for other Free Democrats — Mr. Schmidt appeared to be trying

The coalition's fall leads to one of the strongest rallies in years on the Frankfurt exchange. Page 7. to confuse his opponents, and he cited a string of Christian Democratic leaders who have also de-manded elections as an exit from the country's impasse.

Neither Mr. Kohl nor Mr. Genscher want elections now that could jeopardize their leadership crais, though favored by most polls, have no interest in elections with Mr. Schmidt still enjoying the advantages of incumbency. Kohl's Response

In a brief response to Mr. Schmidt, Mr. Kohl observed that "change in a democracy is no in-trigue, as you have described it."
"It is a shame, Mr. Chancellor," he continued, "that in your farewell address you allowed your bitter-ness to overcome you."

It appeared that some days might elapse before the Christian Democrats and their new Free Democrat allies reached agreement on portfolios in a new government. In his own low-key appearance before the Bundestag, Mr. Gensch-

Chancellor Helmut Schmidt giving his proposal for new elections in the Bundestag.

er attributed the collapse of the co-alition to what he described as the Social Democrats' abandonment of their original program with the Free Democrats and the adoption

THATCHER IN TOKYO - Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher of Britain bowed to the British and Japanese flags Friday during a ceremony after her arrival in Tokyo. Page 2.

Clergy, in Stern Message to Regime, Warns of Threat to Poland's Future

Washington Past Service
WARSAW — Warning of possible tragedy, Poland's Roman Catholic bishops sharply criticized the martial law authorities Friday for failing to take adequate steps toward national reconciliation.

A statement issued after a twoday meeting here of the Polish episcopate that included Poland's primate, Archbishop Jozef Glemp, expressed concern at what was de-scribed as "the multiple crises shaking Poland" and the lack of dialogue between the government and the suspended Solidarity trade

The bishops condemned the beatings and arrests of Solidarity supporters by riot police during nationwide demonstrations at the end of August.

The statement was one of the most forthright to be issued by Po-land's Roman Catholic Church since the imposition of martial law in December. It appeared to reflect the fear of church leaders that so-cial tensions within the country could become unmanageable if if the present political stalemate is allowed to continue.

The government spokesmen have ruled out negotiations with interned Solidarity leaders, including Lech Walesa. Instead, the authorities have sought to launch "a Patriotic Movement for National Rebirth" in which some lay Catholics have been invited to participate.

The church has allowed the lay-reactor during a 1980 security test.

The mock raid, which was carried out by a special "threat assess-ment" team hired by the Department of Energy to test the security at the government's nuclear weap-

have led to a meltdown, sources

The three large reactors at Savannah River, moreover, were said Thursday.

informed sources said.

standing that they are designed to pave the way for the lifting of mar-tial law. But Friday's episcopate statement makes clear that the bishops do not regard the National Rebirth movement as an adequate substitute for the restoration of independent unions.

The episcopate statement said the bishops were filled with con-cern for the future of the country and the lack of any significant signs of improvement in the social situation. In a reference to street demonstrations on Aug. 31 that were broken up by riot police, the bishops warned: "The growing tide of violent events could assume a harmful, even tragic direction for the existence of our people and

This phrase was interpreted as a reference to an extreme, but plansible scenario for future developments in Poland. According to this scenario, prolonged civil strife could result in a Soviet invasion if the Polish authorities turn out to be incapable of maintaining order with their own internal forces.

So far the riot police, known as ZOMO, have been able to deal with the demonstrations. But after the recent disturbances in which firearms were used to disperse demonstrators on at least two seperate occasions, church leaders obviously fear that there could be an escalation of violence on either side.

The bishops' statement said:

'Terrorists' Seized U.S. Atom Plant

men to participate in committees "Up until now, proper steps have for national rebirth on the underthat the great majority of society expects a agreement and reconciliation and workers want their own independent organizations: trade unions including Solidarity and Rural Solidarity. University students also wait for their own independent organizations."

Turning to the street distur-bances, the bishops said it was their duty to defend people who had been "beaten, wounded morally humiliated, deprived of their freedom, or subjected to various sentences and high fines." The church has recently been criticized by the government for allowing collections of money to assist people convicted of offenses under martial law.

Condemning the use of violence "by either side," the bishops said they had prepared a special memorandum that they were forwarding to government leaders. The contents of the memorandum were not

■ Solidarity Activist Surrenders Juliusz Cezary Baginski, a Solidarity activist who had been in hiding since martial law was proclaimed, has surrendered to police, the Associated Press quoted the Polish news agency PAP as reporting Friday.

PAP said Mr. Baginski, a member of the Solidarity leadership in Jelenia Gora, southwestern Poland, reported to local police headquarters and was released "after a talk."

Development Efforts Failing in Black Africa

Los Angeles Times Service TORONTO - The dramatic foreign debt crises of such countries as Mexico and Argentina have obscured another persistent economic problem of the Third World — almost complete failure of development in black Africa after two decades of effort.

While most of the world's finance minis-ters and top bankers fretted over the Third World's foreign debt problems at the annual meeting here last week of the International Monetary Fund and the World Bank, statis-tics were quietly published that showed a woeful and frustrating record of development in Africa since the breakup of colonial-ism there in the 1960s. Economists predicted that the situation might worsen in the 1980s. Ousmane Seck, finance minister of Senegal, in a little-noted speech, called on "the international community to assist African countries in an effort to arrest this trend. which is intolerable and, in fact, dangerous Speaking on behalf of all African finance ministers. Mr. Seck said Africa needs international agreements to stop the continuing decline in prices for African commodities, a halt in the growing trend of industrialized countries toward barring imports, a new World Bank institution to help Third World increase in foreign aid. ,

According to the annual World Development Report of the World Bank, made publie just before the meetings, nine African countries actually showed a decline in gross countries search for energy supplies and an a country's economic activity - in the 1960s and 1970s: Chad. Mozambique, Uganda, Niger, Madagasar, Sudan, Ghana, Senegal and Angola. In eight others, the average annual increase in GNP per capita was less than I percent: Upper Volta, Zaire, Guinea, Central African Republic, Benin, Zambia, Zimbabwe and Congo.

In short, in more than half of the countries in Africa, the average person found his economic plight either worse or only slightly better than at the time of independence in In only two African countries, tiny

Lesotho and oil-exporting Nigeria, were the growth rates for the past two decades higher than average for the Third World. 'Mixed Blessing' The World Bank predicted that the 20 poorest countries in Africa — those with a GNP of less than $410 per person per year — will have an increase in per capita growth during the 1980s of, at best, one tenth of 1 percent a year. At worst, the bank said, these countries would experience a decline of 1 percent a year. For all the other African countries except Nigeria, the bank's forecast was only slightly better. Even the oil boom in Nigeria was described as "a decidedly mixed blessing" because it has harmed agricultural production. Agricultural production was hurt by the Ni-gerian civil war of the late 1960s and by the oil discoveries, and the bank said there has heen no recovery. The bank said that oil production hurt ag-less profitable to export farm products and cheaper to import foreign foods and by creating an urban boom that drew young Nigerians from the farms to the towns. Some of the reasons for Africa's economic problems were outlined by the bank in a separate report published a year ago and distrib-uted again at this year's meeting. The report has been widely criticized in Africa because it tends to put a good deal of the responsibility for Africa's troubles on its failure to de-velop rural areas. Some African officials insist that external factors - high oil prices and low prices for African exports, for exam-

-should be considered more. The World Bank report said Africa came to independence in the 1960s with "a scarcity of trained manpower." Internal politics also hurt economic growth. "In the wake of independence," the bank said. "violent internal conflicts burst forth in many of the new na-

Other problems included the fact that modern economic development came to most African colonies only after World War II. The experience was new. In addition, the enervating tropical climate and enormous population growth, stemming partly from remarkable progress in health care, also made development difficult.

On top of this, Africa was burt by two external factors that it could do nothing about: Oil prices soured at a time when the world recession caused a drop in the prices that Africa was getting for exports such as

INSIDE

■ A Washington controversy is stirring over the expected appointment as ambassador to Indonesia of a U.S. businessman who officials said has a "close" and "special" relation-ship to President Suharto of

■ Bendix purchased a control-ling interest in Martin Marietta after winning a decision by a U.S. appeals court. Page 7. ■ El Salvador's government, with the quiet support of the Reagan administration, has begun an indirect "dialogue" with guerrilla leaders intended to end the civil war. Page 4. ■ President Marcos of the

Phillipines defended his

Philipines defended his human rights record against U.S. congressional critics. He denied allegations by Amnesty International of widespread torture, disappearances and other abuses. A lame-duck session of the U.S. Congress is expected after the November elections.

President Reagan, claiming that stopgap funding for the government is "bad economics and bad management." acted and bad management," asked Congress to return to com-plete work on its regular ap-propriations bills. Page 3.

Security Team's Raids Exposed Problems at Facilities By Milton R. Benjamin Washington Post Service WASHINGTON - Seven counsurround the nation's commercial nuclear power reactors. It thus

terterrorist experts, using forged credentials, infiltrated the governwould be possible, by circumventing the filtering system, to engineer a huge radioactive release.

The threat assessment teams ment's Savannah River nuclear weapons plant, seized hostages and succeeded in taking over the also found it relatively easy to incontrol room of a large atomic filtrate the government's fuel-grade plutonium production reac-tor at Hanford, Washington, and discovered problems of major concern in the safeguarding of materials at Rocky Flats. Colorado, where parts for nuclear weapons are manufactured, the sources add-The only weapons production

ons production facilities, was de-scribed to horrified members of Congress at a classified hearing Sept. 11. facility to get high grades for se-curity from the counterterrorist consultants was the Pantex Plant If the security experts who pene-trated one of the three reactors at the South Carolina facility outside Amarillo, Texas, who U.S. nuclear weapons are actually assembled. where all the plutonium and triti-Senator John Glenn, an Ohio um for U.S. nuclear weapons is produced — had been terrorists in-Democrat, last week sent a classi-fied letter to President Ronald tent on sabotage, they could have triggered an accident that might

Reagan urging him to act immediately to rectify serious problems in security at the nuclear weapons plants. The senator said Thursday, "the administration obviously has not built in the early 1950s, and are not shielded by the domed secondbeen taking these major security deficiencies seriously." He said

ary containment structures that surround the nation's commercial nuclear power reactors. It thus plants in the fiscal 1983 budget, later eliminated this amount en-tirely and did not seek any funding for this purpose in the supplemen-tal appropriations bill Congress re-cently passed over the president's

> Sources who attended the Sept. 11 classified congressional briefing said members of the assessment teams described in some detail the manner in which they infiltrated the Savannah River plant.

They gained entry to the 300-square-mile (780-square-kilometer) reservation simply by turning off a public highway that bisects the plant, sources said.

They subsequently passed through checkpoints within the reservation, the sources said by using forged credentials.

Sources who attended the briefing said one of the major problems in security at all of the govern-ment's weapons facilities appeared to be the belief that an attack mounted by terrorists using so-phisticated infiltration and commando techniques simply couldn't happen in America."

هكذامنالأحهل

Push Into Beirut Stirs Fears of Deeper Israeli Political Involvement

By David K. Shipler New York Times Service JERUSALEM - When the Israelis entered Lebanon on June 6, the question immediately arose as to how they would eventually manage to get out. Now that they have moved deeply into West Beirut and more deeply into Lebanon's morass of internal factionalism, the question has grown more urgent and more troublesome.

Never before has Israel sought so ambitiously to translate its military power into political might.

NEWS ANALYSIS

Never have the leaders in Jerusalem moved so directly to influence the internal political makeup of a neighboring Arab state. Never before have they taken control of an Arab capital. And never has an Israeli victory in a war seemed so dubious.

Despite Prime Minister Menachem Begin's insistence that Israel desires not one inch of Lebanese territory, despite his pledge to withdraw as and when the Syrians withdraw, there is a growing dread, reflected in the Israeli press and in the private comments of ordinary people, that the best army in the Middle East has stepped into a quagmire, and that the exit will not be easy or early.

Strong Government Sought

Mr. Begin is a skillful politician in the Israeli arena, and his de-fense minister, Ariel Sharon, may be one of the most effective military minds in the world today. But they are novices in the unfamiliar territory of Lebanese politics; they are largely unschooled in the subtleties of political manipulation in the Arab world, as their failures to gain cooperation from the Arabs of the occupied West Bank

And yet they are determined to see the situation in Lebanon resolved in their interest before they

GENEVA --- At a time when it is coming under considerable pressure from member governments to cut costs, the United Nations system is spending $250 million - 8 percent of its total budget - each year on travel, according to a re-

The report was written by Mil-jenko Vukovic, a former Yugoslav diplomat who is one of the 11

members of the Joint Inspection

the UN system charged with trying to streamline the United Nation's and will continue to be, an integral and important part of UN business. But it is extremely critical of "Organizations are paying the increased cost of travel without any significant attempt to change the situation for the better," it

Cost Breakdown

Taking an average of 1980 and 1981, the report finds that the United Nations and its 11 special-ized agencies spent $148.7 million in direct travel costs — $85.2 mil-lion on tickets and $63.5 million on daily subsistence allowances.

Indirect costs, such as staff salaries

during missions, came to $107.3

The report is also highly critical of the way the UN organizations have allowed the firm of Thomas Cook to operate a virtual monopoly since 1955. It recommends that the agencies should open up bids to smaller travel agencies with the eventual aim of establishing an in-house UN travel agency. This, it figures, could save up to $30 million a year.

The report acknowledges that such an agency would violate the current rules of the International

Air Transport Association, which only approves agents that are pre-pared to promote air travel, as well as simply sell tickets. But, it says, a

UN General Assembly resolution might pave the way toward getting this and other IATA restrictions

DOLDER

GRAND HOTEL

ZURICH

A house of tradition an outstanding reputation for the very highest standard

Raoul de Gendre, Dir.

trasse 65, CH-8032 Zurich

one 01/251 62 31

autonomous body

The report agrees that travel is.

port just issued here.

bureaucracy.

current recession.

says.

Internal Study Assails

an army decisive enough to keep its own territory free from Palestinian guerrillas. In Bashir Gemay-el. the 34-year-old Christian Phalangist leader who was to assume the presidency on Sept. 23, the Israeli leaders felt they had a man ruthless enough to rule and indebted enough to Israel — for years of clandestine military aid to sign a peace treaty and provide security guarantees along the Israeli-Lebanese border.

But there was little sensitivity in Jerusalem to the delicate task that Mr. Gemayel faced in building bridges to the Lebanese Moslems. and to his need to put some dis-tance between himself and the Israelis, at least until he had governed for a while.

Mr. Begin showed some awareness of this when he said in an interview on Aug. 27 that he was not impatient about a peace treaty. But 10 days later, Mr. Sharon warned bluntly that Lebanon would "certainly be territorially united" only if a Lebanese government signed a treaty with Israel. Otherwise, he said, a 25-mile (40-kilometer) deep zone from the Israeli border northward would be placed in "a special status." This was taken to mean control by Israel or its surrogate, the Lebanese Major Saad Haddad.

This threat of partition hangs over Lebanon even more ominously after Mr. Gemayel's assassina-tion. There is no indication that the murder, and the fragility of government that it has demonstrated, have induced Israel to lower its ambitions or pare down its be prime minister someday, is understood to be adamant about avoiding any situation that could lead to the kind of anarchy in which the Palestine Liberation Oreanization could operate again, lest his war be denounced in Israel as a foolhardy adventure without

Consequently, the Israelis are What they are after is a strong clear their great stake in a central government that can raise favorable political outcome. Mr.

Residents of West Beirut strolled among tanks carrying soldiers of the Israeli Army, which seized control of the Lebanese capital's Moslem sector in a two-day assault that began Wednesday.

Begin was reported to have explained the army's entry into West Beirut as an effort to put down the Moslem leftists and remaining fighters of the PLO, so they cannot erode the Christians' capacity to name a successor and to form a

It is not clear how intimately the Israelis intend to try to influence the Lebanese politicians' delibera-tions. Some officials in Jerusalem say there will be a hands-off approach But the very fact of the Israelis' control of the capital is an influence itself, for it creates the impression, probably correctly, that a kind of Israeli veto exists, that if a new president hostile to Israel is elected by the parliament, the troops will not leave southern Lebanon and the country will remain divided into Syrian, and Israelicontrolled sextors.

That prospect has stirred profound concern among Israelis themselves. The Tel Aviv newspaper Ha'aretz said Thursday that the army's move "arouses the suspicion that Israel intends to hold onto West Beirut for who knows how long." The paper continued:

criticism within the Lebanese com-"Bitter experience has shown that our military superiority does not by itself neutralize totally opmunity, and we will make it more difficult for the president of Syria to agree to withdraw his forces posing forces who are willing to use terror tactics against their opfrom Lebanon. ponents. Therefore, it is worthwhile for us to cut short as

Even the rightist newspaper Ma'ariv, which usually supports the government, said that while the army's entry into West Beirnt was justified, it should withdraw quick-

Israel Offers Talks on Beirut

(Continued from Page 1)

much as possible our military presence in West Beirut and give over the mantle to the Lebanese Army.

For as much as we delay this process, we will expose ourselves to night to keep the army in West Bearnt pending the Lebanese Army's readiness to take over. Several ministers were reportedly distressed that the move into West Beirut was decided upon in a midnight telephone conversation between Prime Minister Menachem Begin and Mr. Sharon, without wider consultation in the cabinet.

But when it came time for the vote, even the dissenters felt they should present a united front. Indeed, there is a widespread perception in government circles that everyone involved - the Lebanese government included — is secretly delighted that the Israeli Army moved swiftly into a situa-tion that could have degenerated into anarchy and civil war.

When the PLO withdrew from the city, Mr. Begin and other officials have said, they left behind about 2,000 guerrillas with arms caches ready to reorganize and take advantage of any disorder. In addition, Moslem leftists inherited the PLO's heavy weapons, the Israelis said. Reports from Beirut Friday indicated that the Israelis were assuming control of key headquarters and were disarming

Spain Airline Revises

By William G. Blair

in the crash Monday of a charter jetliner in Malaga, Spain, was is-sued Wednesday by the Spanish carrier, Spantax Airlines. Thursday, at least seven of those said to be dead or missing were reported trying to take off for New York on the final leg of a two-week package tour of Spain. The plane carried his name but said he was representing "the highest management" of Spantax, said Thursday by telephone from Palma de Majorca

Confirmation that a husband and wife also named on the list were alive was made in a telephone call to The New York Times from the husband, Benjamin Rosen of Fort Lee, New Jersey. Mr. Rosen and his wife. Yetta, were among the crash survivors who arrived in New York late Monday on a special flight of Iberia Air Lines of

Asked if he could say who on the list actually was dead, the offi-cial in Palma said it was impossible to differentiate between the dead and missing and those who are alive because the names "are changing from one minute to the other. We were under strong pressure to release the list, even knowThe five persons on the Spantax

The confusion surrounding the

On the Spantax list issued later, which includes the names provided without addresses or nationalities by the Spanish government, the Lujan name is given as Mesias Luof martial law in Poland last De- ernment orders would mean stiff cember. The president cited Soviet support of Poland's military gov-WASHINGTON - The Comernment as the reason for sancmerce Department, under pressure tions against those aiding in confrom business, is seeking to limit struction of the pipeline, which is the impact of the trade sanctions to carry natural gas from Siberia to

U.S. Government Seeks to Limit

Effects of Its Pipeline Sanctions

By Clyde H. Farnsworth

New York Times Service

"Literally hundreds of companies are requesting clarification of their position with the Office of the Diplomatic Activity

The Commerce Department's

efforts coincide with fresh diplomatic moves to resolve the dispute.

Officials here and in Brussels said that Secretary of State George P. Shultz would meet in New York

later this month with his counterparts from Britain, France, West

Germany and Italy at the start of the new session of the United Nations General Assembly, and that the pipeline dispute would be the

Even though only four compa-nies have been directly affected by the sanctions, the forumes of many.

companies are bound up with those on the sanctions list through joint ventures and supplier rela-

The sanctions were levied

gainst the four companies for shipping to the Soviet Union com-pressors built with U.S. technology for use in pumping gas along the 3,700-mile (5,920-kilometer) pipe-

The sanctions mean that American oil and gas equipment or tech-nology cannot be shipped to the four companies: John Brown Ltd.

of Britain; Dresser France, a subsidiary of Dresser Industries of Dal-las, Creusot-Loire of France and Nuovo Pignone of Italy.

Initially, the sanctions barred any U.S. company or any European company using U.S. technology under license from receiving exports of U.S. goods and services if they sold equipment to the Soviet Union for construction of the pipeline. But the Reagan administration later limited the sanctionsto exports involving oil and gas. Since the denial orders were imposed, the Commerce Department

It told the Rockwell International Corp. that the regulations

It made a preliminary ruling exempting Walter Kidde, a British subsidiary of Kidde Inc. of Clifton, New Jersey, from sanctions

even though it makes firelighting equipment for use at pumping sta-tions along the pipeline.

It made another preliminary ruling exempting Andrew Antennas, a British subsidiary of the Andrew Corp. of Orland Park, Illinois, from the sanctions even though it provides microwave equipment that is part of the communications complex for the pipe-

The ripple effects of the sanctions already imposed are beginning to be felt by Dresser, the one U.S. company directly involved.

Edward R. Luter, a Dresser senior vice president, reported that the company's French subsidiary had been stricken from the bidding lists of several international engineering companies, which he de-clined to name, because of the ban on its access to U.S. oil and gas has made these decisions:

line now under construction.

General Counsel."

pipeline.

that President Ronald Reagan has Western Europe. imposed on companies involved in The French government ordered Dresser France to fulfill its conbuilding the Siberian natural gas tract for the pipeline compressors, "It would not have been approeven though shipment meant viola-tion of the American embargo. priate to reach out and capture all the secondary suppliers," one har-ried Commerce Department offi-Similarly, the British government told Walter Kidde and Andrew cial said. "You have to stop some-Antenna to fulfill their contracts with the Russians, although ship-"The department has been ment in these cases has not yet takswamped," said another official en place. Refusal to comply with either the French or British govwho asked not to be identified.

fines or other penalties.

■ Dutch Pipeline Ruling A Dutch court ordered Seismeterfabriek Sensor Nederland, a subsidiary of the U.S. firm Geosource:

Inc., on Friday to fulfill a contract?

to supply equipment for the Soviet natural gas pipeline, Reuters reported from The Hague.

The district court said that, in spite of the U.S. embargo on use of U.S.-supplied technology in comp-ment shipped to the Soviet Union the firm must supply seismometers ordered by a French oil firm, Compagnie Europeenne des Pétroles, or pay a penalty of 10,000 guilders

Thatcher Briefs Suzuki About Pipeline Dispute

TOKYO - Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher of Britain told Prime Minister Zenko Suzuki on Friday that West European contracts with the Soviet Union for the Siberian natural gas pipeline did not undermine the Western alliance, despite U.S. objections, Japanese Foreign Ministry offi-cials said.

Mrs. Thatcher, shortly after arriving here for a five-day state visit, reportedly reassured the Japa-nese leader of continued strong U.S.-European ties despite European defiance of American sanctions on the pipeline in connection with the imposition of martial law in Poland.

Mr. Suzuki expressed concern that the extension of credit to the Soviet Union could affect the global strategy of the West, the offi-cials said. He said he wanted to discuss the pipeline question further, because Japanese companies are also involved in the Soviet rival here as the first British prime minister to officially visit Japan ina decade.

The two leaders started talks within hours of Mrs. Thatcher's ar-

They also agreed that the two nations should conclude as soon as possible a bilateral technology agreement, and set the agenda for their more extensive talks Monday

Mrs. Thatcher proposed that the two leaders discuss five topics inlateral relations including Britain's trade delicit with Japan, scientific and technical cooperation, the world economy, China and the is-sue of Britain's lease on the New Territories of Hong Kong, and the dispute over the Soviet material gas pipeline. The United States opposes the pipeline, which will go from Sibena to Westen Europe.

Before the meeting, Mrs.
Thatcher, accompanied by her husband, Denis, was greeted by. Prime Minister Suzuki, officials, diplomats, and children waving flags during a ceremony at the guest house where she will stay.

WORLD BRIEFS

Guatemala Executes 4 Rebel Suspects

GUATEMALA CITY — A firing squad executed four men accused of being guerrillas at dawn Friday in a heavily guarded cemetery near Gua-

The four, accused of being members of a Guatemalan guerrilla group, were sentenced to death by a secret military tribunal Thursday after they had been convicted of charges ranging from murder to threatening state security. An army statement announcing the executions was the first acknowledgment by the military government of General José Efrain Rios Montt of the existence of the secret tribunal.

The statement said 40 suspects had been sent before military judges.

Six others were convicted and soon will be sentenced, and 30 were found did not apply to Rockwell's French subsidiary, Rockwell Valves, even though Rockwell valves are used in the compressors that Dresser France shipped to the Soviet Union Aug. 26. not guilty or released because of lack of evidence.

All Flights Are Suspended by El Al TEL AVIV - The management of the Israeli national airline El Al has suspended all flights and ordered its planes into storage following a refusal of the airline's striking stewards to return to work.

The airline's board, at a meeting late Thursday night, made the decithe airline's board, at a meeting late Iminsday night, made the decision to halt operations until the stewards agree unconditionally to go back to work. The managing director, Yitzhak Shandar, said Friday he did not know when —or if — the company would resume operations.

The airline was grounded on Monday after stewards struck over the dismissal of three colleagues who had demanded higher commissions for selling duty-free goods.

Britain Convicts Tanzanian Hijackers

LONDON — Five Tanzanians who bijacked an Air Tanzania jet Feb. 26 and then surrendered at Stansted Airport north of London were convicted Friday and sentenced to prison terms of between four and

In Britain's first air piracy trial, all five men were convicted of hijacking, which carries a maximum sentence in Britain of life imprisonment.

The hijackers, demanding the removal of Tanzania's president, Julius K. Nyerere, took the plane and its 86 passengers and crew members on a 50-hour trip through Africa, the Middle East and Europe.

Monaco Silent on Physicians' Report

MONTE CARLO — The palace press office declined to comment Friday on the statements from Dr. Jean Chatelain and Dr. Jean Duplay that the family of Princess Grace decided to remove her from a life support system several hours after her condition was determined to be Dr. Chatelain, chief surgeon at Princess Grace hospital, said the decision to stop artificial lung and heart machines keeping the princess alive-was made Tuesday night by the royal family after consultations with a team of physicians. Dr. Duplay is the chief of the neurosurgery section at the Pasteur Hospital in Nice. Both doctors were at Princess Grace's

Princess Grace, who died Tuesday after a car crash Monday, will be buried Saturday after a funeral Mass at the cathedral. Officials said they expected about 400 persons to be in the funeral cortege traveling to the cathedral from the nearby palace where the princess is lying in state.

Vatican Said to Be Queried on Banks VATICAN CITY — Several bishops have asked the Curia for a full report on dealings between the Vatican bank and the liquidated Banco Ambrosiano to consider it at a conference here next month, Vatican sources said Friday.

The meeting of Catholic Church leaders is scheduled to convene Oct.

4-8. It will group more than 70 bishops from 26 European countries. They will be joined by representatives of the Curia, the church's central government, and religious orders to discuss the main theme of joint efforts to spread the gospel in Europe. But several of the bishops, alarmed at the effect of the Ambrosiano affair on the church's image, have asked the Curia to send a high-ranking churchman to give a detailed and up-to-date report, the sources said.

Spanish Socialists Want NATO Vote

MADRID — The Spanish Socialist Party, which is favored in opinion polls to win the general election Oct. 28, said Friday that if it came to power, it would put Spain's membership in NATO up for a referendum

In its election program, which was approved earlier in the day and leaked to the press, the party said that negotiations on Spain's integration into the alliance's military structure would be frozen immediately. and that a referendum would be organized later. Through a parliamentary vote and despite strong opposition from the left. Spain became the l6th member of the alliance in May.

De Sade Books Confiscated in Greece

ATHENS - Police confiscated thousands of books by 18th-centur French author the Marquis de Sade on Friday, following a court rulin that also led to the imposition of a two-year prison sentence on one the Greek publishers of his works. The publisher, Themis Banousis, was found guilty Thursday of viola

ing the laws on indecent literature by translating and publishing the works of de Sade. He said four police officers came to his bookstore at removed the books. Many of the 47 other Greek publishers charged wi the offense, but not yet put on trial, also reported the police action. Mr. Banousis was set free Thursday night pending an appeal. He w sentenced despite support from members of the government and inter-tional bodies, who said Greece was the only European country that c not tolerate the works of de Sade. Compiled From Agency Disposches

Bolivia Seen UN Spending on Travel Among the other points in the Officials from the United Na-

official travel. Delegates to UN meetings accounted for a further 14,180 days. (There are about 46,000 employees in the entire UN Tickets bought by the International Monetary Fund and the World Bank cost $47 million — in excess even of the $37.2 million Business totaling $88.4 million was channeled through travel

tions and its specialized agencies spent a total of 472,800 days on agents, who charged up to $13 million in commissions. Nine airlines accounted for 70 percent of UN travel between Geneva and New York, representing $14.4 million worth of business. what it terms UN "complacency" in the face of rising costs and the Swissair alone accounted for 23.6 percent, followed by Air France > can with 10.8 percent. Where flights exceed nine hours, heads of agencies and as-sistant secretaries general are al-lowed to travel first class — and most of them do.

with 11.6 percent and Pan Ameri-

 As a percentage of budget, the most traveling is done by offi-cials in the Universal Postal Un-ion, (14 percent) followed by the Vienna-based International Atomic Energy Agency (13 percent) and the Geneva-based World Health Organization (10 percent).

• The average length of a mission is 11 days. Cutting this by just one day, the report says, could save up to $13.6 million.

Along with the proposal to create an in-house travel agency, the report urges the UN organizations to negotiate directly with airlines for better terms.

Labor Keeps Seat But Margin Is Cut In Welsh Election piled by Our Staff From Dispatche

SWANSEA, Wales — Britain's opposition Labor Party has retained a parliamentary seat in a by-election in the Gower Peninsula, but has lost strength in the former South Wales stronghold. The Liberal-Social Democrat alliance boosted its national standing by capturing second place with 25 percent of the vote Thursday and pushing the ruling Conservative Party into third place with 23

The Labor candidate, Gareth Wardell, won 43 percent, or 17,095 votes, defeating Gwynoro Jones of the alliance, with 9,875 votes, and Trefor Lewellyn of the ruling Conservative Party, with 8,690.

It was Labor's second consecutive by-election victory, but its winning margin of 7,220 in Gower, a mixed rural and industrial seat, was down more than 3,000 votes and 10 percentage points from the 1979 general election.

ANY U. S. BOOK IN PRINT DELIVERED FAST! anywhere in the world

Military Rule

LA PAZ - Bolivia's military regime will end two years of military rule and reconvene the nation's democratically elected congress to form a new constitutional government, sources inside the govern-

Ranking military officers reached the decision at a predawn meeting with President Guido Vildoso Calderón, a general named to the presidency July 21 amid Bolivworst economic dential sources said.

A presidential spokesman said General Vildoso and other high-ranking military officials would make an official announcement later Friday on the reconvening of the National Congress.

It was not immediately known when the congress would be reconvened. It was disbanded after a military coup in July 1980 that overthrew the civilian government of interim president Lidia Gueiler and installed Gen. Luis Garcia Meza. General Garcia Meza was forced out in August 1981 in favor of General Celso Torrelio, whom

General Vildoso replaced. Hernán Siles Zuazo, the Democratic Popular Union leader who won election to the presidency only weeks before the army seized power, has pledged to return soon from exile in Lima, a radio report said. Supporters said he was ready to govern. The armed forces have annulled the results of three elections when it became clear the winner would be Mr. Siles Zuazo. The armed forces have ruled for most of the last 17 years.

The military regime's decision to turn over power came amid severe economic problems and a general strike called Friday to pressure the military to step aside in favor of civilian rule. The Bolivian Workers Central union said the nationwide strike, which began at midnight, would continue until General Vildoso promised to resign and hand over power to the Democratic Popular But Labor Minister Julio Villa-gomez, a colonel speaking for the 2-month-old military regime, went on television to denounce the strike as illegal and warn that public employees who refuse to work Friday will be fired. By Thursday, most of Bolivia already was paralyzed by strikes hit-ting the states of Cochabamba, Oruro, Chuquisaca, Potosi and Tarija. La Paz was midway through a 48-hour general strike. All national and international flights were canceled Thursday, and factories and most public and private offices were closed. The general strike calls began af-ter General Vildoso announced Tuesday an 18-point emergency economic plan. It included a proposal to give each worker and each dependent an $18 monthly bonus which labor leaders denounced as insufficient - and would increase most fuel costs and restrict the exchange of the dollar for the

HARRY'S N.Y. BAR ®

Sa. 1911 5, rue Dounou, PARIS Just tell the taxi driver 'sank roo doe noo" or Falkenturm Str. 9, Munich or M/S Astor at sea

As Set to End List of Crash Victims

New York Times Service NEW YORK - A list of 56 pasengers said to be dead or missing to be alive. The airliner, a DC-10 operated Spantax, an air charter company, crashed and burned while 380 passengers and a crew of 13. An official, who refused to give ing that some of the names are unlisted as Carlton Macowey was actually Fernandez Malowey Carlton and that the person listed as A. Toledo was actually Angela Garcia identities of the crash victims was compounded when Ray H. Burson, a spokesman for the U.S. Embassy in Madrid, said Thursday that two of the 16 names on an official list of confirmed dead, provided earlier Wednesday by the Spanish government, had been changed by the Spanish authorities that five persons on the list were to missing. The two names were given by Mr. Burson as E. Lujan and Jane F. Parry.

of the dead are so badly burned that in many cases positive identi-fication has not yet been possible." As a result, she said, "some people on the airplane's manifest have still not been accounted for "She said that U.S. officials were being extremely cautious about the identities of the crash victims.

list said by the official to be still alive are Carlton Macowey, Irene Toledo, A. Toledo, Joud and M. Fernandez. The official was not aware that the Rosens also were

The official said that the person

jan and the Parry name as Jayne Parry.

In Washington, a State Department press officer said that one of the problems faced by officials at the scene of the crash "is that most #### technology. "The denial order is a serious threat to the viability of Dresser France," he commented, "since American oil and gas technology is its lifeblood." Rockwell's valves, according to company officials, had been sold to Dresser long before imposition

Expected Nominee Reportedly Had Ties to Suharto

By Michael Getler

pected appointment as ambassa-dor to Indonesia of a Washington businessman who adminis-tration officials said has a close relationship to Suharto, the Indonesian president, is stirring controversy in the State Department and the U.S. diplomatic no decision has been made.

Mr. Crane served in the U.S. Foreign Service in the the early 1960s in Indonesia and Africa and in the U.S. Information Agency in the mid-1970s. But sources said his prospective naming has caused concern among some career Foreign Service officers in the State Department. White House officials have also acknowledged the potential for controversy.

Inquiries among many current and former officials and diplomats revealed a concern about two issues.

The first was raised by six of these sources, who alleged that Mr. Crane worked for the Central Intelligence Agency at times during his overseas assignments in Africa and Indonesia. Asked about this, a CIA spokesman said that the agency has a policy of declining to either confirm or deny allegations of CIA affiliation. However, a former leading CIA official who knew Mr. Crane slightly during the Agnew years said he could not recall a CIA affiliation. The second was the possibility of sending Mr. Crane as ambassador to a country in which these sources alleged he had business dealings - developed after he left government — and a personal involvement with the presidential family, including some handling of finances. The sources did not elaborate.

any illegalities. But the sources said they were concerned about potential conflict of interest.

government. He said he was not able to talk until "something more formal happens, if it does. He said a discussion now about anything would be inappropriate but that he would ultimately be "anxious to talk" and to give "lots of assurances."

in May, it was publicly disclosed that President Ronald Reagan had offered the job of ambassador to a veteran diplo-mat. Morton I. Abramowitz, who had been ambassador to Thailand. But on May 20, a statement issued in the name of then-Secretary of State Alexan-der M. Haig Jr. announced with regret that Indonesia would not had rejected Mr. Abramowitz nal problem of the Reagan ad-

Mr. Abramowitz had been op-

U.S. Diplomats Disagree on Post

Washington Past Service
WASHINGTON — The excommunity.

Administration officials said Kent B. Crane, 47, who served as an aide to former vice president Spiro T. Agnew, is the leading candidate to become the new ambassador to Jakarta, although Mr. Suharto is due to make an official visit to Washington in October, and officials said the administration will probably want to have a new ambassador nominated by then. The post has been vacant for almost a year because the administration abandoned an intended nominee in another controversy earlier

Crane Declines Comment There were no allegations of

Mr. Crane has been president of Crane Group Ltd., a consulting and international investment firm in Washington, for several

In a telephone interview Thursday, Mr. Crane declined to discuss his activities in or out of

The post of U.S. ambassador to Indonesia, an archipelago of 150 million people in South Asia, has been vacant since No-accept Mr. Abramowitz.

Indonesia later denied that it and said the issue was an interministration. It was reported in May that posed by political enemies in the administration and that an important weapon used against him was an anonymous and confidential paper, much of it inac-curate, about him that eventually found its way into the top ranks of the Indonesian governBy Howell Raines

New York Times Service WASHINGTON - By denouncing Great Society programs in a speech to a black audience. President Ronald Reagan has provided fresh ammunition for enties who say he is trying to reverse the racial progress of the last 20 years.

The president's speech to the National Black Republican Council has also fucled anew the partisan debate over Mr. Reagan's personal sensitivity to blacks and his

That dehate gained force Thursday because of the intense reaction to the president's speech and be-cause the speech coincided with a series of meetings in Washington this week by black groups that are sharply divided on the question of Speech to Republicans In his speech Wednesday night

reacting to recent criticism of his administration's treatment of the disadvantaged, Mr. Reagan told black Republicans that blacks "would be better off today" if the Great Society programs of President Lyndon B. Johnson had never

A spokesman for the Democratic National Committee, Robert Neuman, predicted that the presi-dent's speech would drive lower his poll standing with blacks and provide an opportunity for effec-tive attack on Mr. Reagan.

charges was the fact that Mr. Reagan's appearance at the black

Republican's convention revealed

a cleavage between the White House political strategy for the fall elections and the Republican Party's official position on black re-

Officially, the Republican National Committee is committed to using the black Republican council to recruit more black party members. But White House strategists

Glossed over in the exchange of been started.

Mr. Reagan's racial attitudes.

understanding of black history.

CONCORD CENTURION tord Watch Company S.A.,

President Ronald Reagan escorted President Ferdinand E. Marcos of the Philippines and his wife, Imelda, after a meeting at the White House. The Marcoses are on a five-day state visit.

Marcos Defends Record on Rights In Meeting With U.S. Congressmen

WASHINGTON — President Ferdinand E. Marcos of the Philippines went to Capitol Hill on Friday under heavy police security gastd to defend his human rights record against congressional critnes also agreet to ms should rought; ible a blazed or cruent, and so the more exercise 6; itories of Hong Rec-ute over the Source-tine. The United is a Siberia to Words

clore the sene tcher. accompany band. Denis, wa pane

ne Minister Serie & outsats, and dilier:

RIEFS

i a Guzienialn perë:

a. rupmaj jese∓

em muder in disas.

ement of General be-lyrach nation

clanes unto some his

Toursday make make it hak Shande sale

ay would reserve

. अस्ति शक्तमक्षेत्राचेः

manded higher name

o retura to worl

We maintain that we have enhanced human rights" by effective-ly eliminating "leftist anarchy," Mr. Marcos said before the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

He denied allegations by Am-nesty International, London-based group that monitors human rights, of widespread torture, disappear-ances and other abuses in the Philppines, "They don't know what's Rebel Such hours with President Rouald Reagan on Thursday, arrived Wednesday on a five-day state visly guarded cancers . H.

Faced Serious Unrest

During his meeting with the House committee, Mr. Marcos contended that in the face of se-nous unrest led by leftist rebels, "I had to proclaim martial law." Mr. Marcos declared martial law in departure from office at the end of his second presidential term. He ruled under martial law until January 1981

"When I proclaimed martial law," Mr. Marcus said, "there was no such thing as human rights .... There were 200 private armies in

"I took unto myself the restruc-turing of our society," Mr. Marcos said, contending that he had instituted reforms in agriculture and the political process.

On Thursday, Mr. Reagan, asked about the Philippines' human rights record, said: "I think they have made great progress." That sentiment is not universally shared in the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which invited

Mr. Marcos for the meeting late Friday morning after he appeared before the House Foreign Affairs

Three Democratic members of the Senate committee — Claiborne Pell of Rhode Island, Alan Cranston of California and Paul E. Tsongas of Massachusetts - sent Mr. Reagan a letter Monday pro-testing Mr. Marcos's visit on human rights grounds.

committees appear to share the administration's position that human rights trends in the Philippines are favorable and that continued U.S.-Philippines friendship serves vital American interests.

One reflection of that sentiment Public Works Program is that U.S. military and economic aid to the Philippines, amounting to more than $100 million annually, has not come under serious congressional challenge on human rights grounds.

Mr. Reagan and Mr. Marcos agreed during their meeting to renegotiate beginning in April on a new agreement covering U.S. mili-tary bases in the Philippines. The 1979 agreement provides for review and possible revision of the accord every five years until it expires in 1991.

Mr. Marcos's aides have indicated that the Philippines wants a substantial increase in U.S. compensation for access to the bases.

More than 200 uniformed police officers were deployed for Mr. Marcos's visit, Near the Capitol, about 150 Marcos supporters ral-lied, waving Philippine and U.S.

aded by Al Panel Says Lowering Tar, Nicotine Doesn't Cut Hazards of Cigarettes more; other hazardous substances in cigarettes such as carbon monoxide and hydrogen cyanide,

and the possibility that eigarette smoke may act synergistically with other hazards, such as air pollugreater risk to smokers.

Congress in Scattle.

Les Angeles Times Service
WASHINGTON — Cigarette
smokers who have switched to brands with low tar and nicotine content are still endangering their health, according to a committee of the National Academy of Sci-

"Evidence of health benefits from switching to reduced tar and microine cigarettes is doubtful," the committee said Thursday. It said snokers who cut back on the number of ciearettes or switch to a reduced tar and nicotine brand "may unconsciously change how they smoke to maintain their intake of

The committee also said that the tar and nicotine levels on cigarette packs do not represent a smoker's actual exposure and that similar amounts of tar and nicotine can be obtained from cigarettes with different measured ratings.
While the amount of tar and nicotine in cigarettes fell by about half between 1955 and 1975, the most recent year for which complete data were available, deaths inin respiratory system cancers increased by about 70 percent during that period.

The reason for this substantial and unexpected increase is un-known," the committee said, but listed among possible explana-tions: changes in smoking habits, such as smoking more or inhaling

cers is seldom reported, and the public often overestimates cancer

Dr. Scott complained that graduates of "diploma mills" receive degrees in exchange for little more than a check and often are treated seriously by reporters despite their questionable qualifications.

said, "the American Cancer Society asserted substantial advantages for low-yield cigarettes and indicated that over a period of time, smokers do not try to compensate

by smoking more than before." Although the committee focused The group that did the study, the Committee on Substance on lung cancer, it noted that car-diovascular disease is an even Abuse and Habitual Behavior, op-erates under the auspices of the National Research Council, an The Tobacco Institute suggested in a statement that the report con-flicted with findings released last arm of the National Academy of week at the International Cancer Sciences, which is a nonprofit, government advisory group.

Doctors Criticize Press On Cancer Reporting

SEATTLE - The way in which academic credentials guarantee the media report on cancer can help send cancer sufferers to those who sell unproven or worthless treatments, according to a New Zealand doctor.

As long as cancer inspires great fear and anxiety, it's easy "for the crank and the charlatan" to present an attractive, brief, convincing and seemingly flawless case through the media, John Scott of the University of Auckland Medi-cal School said this week at the 13th International Cancer Con-

In an earlier interview, Dr. Scott said doctors contribute heavily to the problem in the way they deal with people with advanced cancer. The medical profession "doesn't give them the time and it doesn't give them the compassion that they need," he said.

Analysis of Reports

J. Paul Van Nevel of the National Cancer Institute in Bethesda. Maryland, said an analysis of cancer stories in the 50 largest U.S. newspapers found that they did little to dispel public misconceptions about cancer. He said a two-month study of cancer stories appearing in 1977 and in 1980 found that the subjects reported rarely matched the priorities of cancer researchers. He said, for instance, the cancer of the colon and rectum, which trails only lung cancer as a killer with 57,000 deaths a year, is rarely mentioned. Dr. Van Nevel said the popular media traditionally treat cancer -a complex of diseases with different causes, treatments, and outcomes - as a single disease. He said the incidence of various con-

But he said that even impeccable neither accuracy nor responsibili-ty, and "some of the cranks' are going to be right. There are no sim-ple answers to any of this."

In both the United States and New Zealand, Dr. Scott said, there seems to be an idea that the unorthodox should have equal prominence with the orthodox. I'm not so sure that's a valid idea."

He said unconventional practi-tioners defend their products un-der the banner of "freedom of choice." But uncritical reporting of the unproven along with the scien-tifically tested and confirmed, Dr. Scott said, "restricts the people's freedom of informed choice.

structures and roads.

Seychelles Envoy Is Named

WASHINGTON - President Ronald Reagan announced Thursday that he is nominating a career diplomat, David Fischer, 43, depuchief of mission in Dar es Salaam, as ambassador to the republic of Seychelles.

FIELD TRAINING — A West German Leopard-2 tank leaves a trail of dust and smoke at Münster, West Germany. It is followed by an anti-tank helicopter during NATO exercises.

mained opposed to the idea of a agreed to Mr. Reagan's request, which was sent by letter. Mr. Baker told the Senate to be

"There's nothing you can do about it." Mr. O'Neill grumbled in

Voted by U.S. House sure that would have transferred $1.5 billion in funds originally al-located for the synthetic fuels pro-

WASHINGTON - House Democrats, ignoring Republican charges that they were cynically playing election year politics, ap-proved a large-scale public works program Thursday that they said would provide at least 200,000 new

Their measure would allocate more than $1 billion to cities with high levels of unemployment. The cities could use the funds to finance unskilled labor to repair bridges and streets or rehabilitate public buildings and parks.

The House passed the measure by a vote of 223 to 169. Thirty-two Republicans joined the Democrats in supporting it while 28 Democrats voted against it.

The House bill was not expected closing sessions of this Congress.
Nothing similar to it has cleared committees in the Republican-controlled Senate, and there was little chance that it could be joined to any other legislation before Congress adjourns early next month.

Appeal by O'Neili

Before the lengthy debate began, the speaker of the House, Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. made a special appeal for passage of the bill, claiming it would have an immediate impact on the conomy by employing the jobless in rebuilding the country's deteriorating public. the country's deteriorating public

"We can no longer accept in good conscience the president's plea for patience," the Massachu-setts Democrat said. "The costs of unemployment compensation now outweigh the cost of putting peo-ple back to work. We can afford this measure because Congress saved almost $2 billion by passing the supplemental appropriations bill over the president's veto."

The Republicans immediately challenged this, calling the mea-sure "a hoax" that they said would lead the unemployed to believe Congress had done something for them when it actually had done

But after these attacks on the Democratic bill, the Republicans tried to substitute a similar mea-

United Press Interne

gram to the Labor Department for tion," and Mr. O'Neill and Mr. allocation to cities. The cities would in turn use this money to hire persons now receiving unemployment benefits or those on wel-

The Democrats ridiculed this move, asking why the Republicans opposed their measure while trying to push through a similar bill that would cost $500,000 more and would restrict those eligible to ben-

The House defeated the Republican substitute by a largely party-line vote of 243 to 152.

Meanwhile, the Labor Department issued its weekly count of un-employment insurance claims. had filed initial benefit claims in the week of Aug. 29 to Sept. 4, a jump of 29,000 over the previous week and the largest number filed in any week this year.

2d Suspect Held In N.Y. Killing of Donovan Witness

United Press International
NEW YORK — A second reputed organized crime member accused of taking part in the slay-ing of a witness in the investigation of Raymond J. Donovan, the U.S. labor secretary, has been or-dered held without bail pending a hearing on Tuesday. Philip Buono, 67, pleaded not guilty Thursday to a charge of sec-ond-degree murder in the shooting Aug 25 of Nathan Masselli, 31. He was arrested Wednesday. Meanwhile, Salvatore Odierno, 67, of Valley Stream, Long Island, a second suspect in the killing, was arraigned in a Bronx court. An orto hold him without without hail was continued. A third suspect, still being sought, has been identified as Joseph Verlezza.

Mario Merola, the Bronx dis-trict attorney, said after Mr. Odier-no's arrest that the killing was the apparent result of a disagreement over money. Mr. Buono and Mr. Verlezza were initially named in a report by the U.S. special prosecu-tor, Leon Silverman, during an investigation into allegations that Mr. Donovan had ties with organized crime. But Mr. Silverman concluded Monday that there was insufficient "credible evidence" of cuts and his pohey of having the congressional elections in Novem-Justice Department and other agencies ahandon the traditional The strategists acknowledge that legal remedies for discrimination. Mr. Reagan's main reason for appearing before black audiences

Reagan's Defense Fuels Critics of His Civil Rights Record

On Thursday, Democratic spokesmen predicted that Mr. Reagan's attempt to use a black fo-rum to solidify himself with white was not to gain black supporters, moderates might backfire by prompting a heavy black turnout in the fall elections. Although that but to reassure moderate whites who might reject his leadership if he appeared to he overtly prejuis open to argument, it was clear that the president's speech prompted an immediate toughen-

Mr. Reagan's senior black adviser, Melvin J. Bradley, ac-knowledged that White House polls show that Mr. Reagan's ap-proval rating among blacks is "in Moreover, another Reagan adviser added, the negative feel-believe there is little the president can do to win more black voters for the party between now and the

ing of campaign talk from both

The racial issue was brought into sharp focus by a series of events that started with the meeting in midweek of the black Re-

Friday of the annual conference of the Black Congessional Caucus. In addition, the Washington Council of Laywers issued a report accusing Mr. Reagan of crippling civil rights enforcement at the Justice

At about the same time, Mr. Reagan's black appointee to the chairmanship of United States Commission on Civil Rights, Clarence M. Pendleton, called on the president to allay black fears by convening a "minority summit conference" at Camp David, Md.

A Reminder to Reagan The suggestion by Mr. Pendle-ton, who is a Republican opposed to the civil rights enforcement policies of the past, was part of a polne effort by black conservatives to groups.

The White House also brushed aside Mr. Pendleton's suggestion of "summit" talks. More quietly, it has ignored appeals from black Republicans to appoint a black with the title of deputy counselor to the president. In his speech, Mr. Reagan re-jected any appeal to blacks through government programs de-signed to subsidize the disadvantaged. Criticizing what he called the Democrats' "rhetoric of com-passion," he asserted that Republicans must attract blacks with the promise of economic self-help.

The dispute over governmen black problems has been one main point of debate this week. The

Reagan Asks Congress to Meet After Elections

By Helen Dewar

NEWS ANALYSIS

diced against blacks.

Washington Post Service WASHINGTON — President Ronald Reagan, claiming that stopgap funding for the govern-ment is "bad economics and bad management," has called on Congress to return to Washington for a lame-duck session after the Nov. 2 elections to complete work on its regular appropriations bills.

Both the Senate majority leader, Senator Howard H. Baker Jr., Republican of Tennessee, and the speaker of the House, Representa-tive Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., Democrat of Massachusetts, said they repostelection session but reluctantly prepared to return Nov. 29.

reference to the tradition of honor-ing such presidential requests. even more strongly now, that at-Mr. O'Neill said he told the tempting to run the federal government without a proper budget -

White House chief of staff, James A. Baker 3d, "you've never seen a special session with 75 people here." Moreover, Mr. O'Neill added, "everybody who has legislation kicking around here will want to bring it up."

Congressional aides noted that, while Mr. Reagan's request was limited to action on money bills, there is nothing to prevent Congress from taking up other matters. such as controversial "social issues" such as abortion and school prayer that have bogged down the Senate for weeks and such of Mr. Reagan's priority items as a bal-anced-budget constitutional

Mr. Reagan's letter arrived as Congress stepped up its pace of ac-tion on appropriations bills but still remained far from enactment of most of its regular spending bills for the 1983 fiscal year that starts Oct. 1. No more than a few, if any, of the 13 regular appropriations bills are expected to be passed and sent to the president for signature or veto before Congress plans to quit for election campaigning in early This will require stopgap funding through a "continuing resolu-

Baker were talking in terms of hav-ing such a resolution last until mid-February or early March. Mr. Reagan, however, said in his letter that any continuing resolu-tion should be for "the shortest possible time." Calling for passage responsible regular appropriations bills in a timely manner," he with a series of temporary continu-ing resolutions and the associated overall budgetary uncertainty and bad management." Liberals Launch Filibuster

"I have said before, and I feel

Steven V. Roberts of The New York Times reported from Wash-

filibuster Thursday, this time against a bill that would permit organized prayer in public schools.

U.S. Panel Rejects Immigration Limit

The Associated Press WASHINGTON — The House Judiciary Committee has decided to do away with a proposed ceiling on legal immigration to the United States, one of the major elements of an immigration bill that would the first thorough overhaul of U.S. immigration law in 30 years. The amendment eliminating the proposed cap on legal immigration as sponsored by the committee chairman, Representative Peter W. Rodino Jr., a New Jersey Democrat. He argued in favor of provisions in the current law that grant virtually unlimited immigration rights to immediate family members of American citizens.

It seems unlikely now the bill can be voted on by the full House in the coming week, and Congress is tentatively planning to adjourn by Oct. 8. The Senate has already passed its own version of the bill reer by performing the old English country songs she and her two sis-ters had collected as teen-agers, appeared on stage until the 1970s, doing an eclectic one-woman show, usually in far-flung places. In 1966, Queen Elizabeth II made her a Member of the Order of the British Empire.

The delaying tactics began after failed to dispose of the proposal, which has been offered by Senator Jesse Helms, Republican of North Carolina, as an amendment to leg-islation raising the national debt

The sticking point is that sponsors of the prayer bill, with White House backing, are demanding a record vote on their plan. The measure has little chance of becoming lay this year but a public coming law this year, but a public vote would give conservatives potent ammunition to use against lawmakers who oppose it.

The prayer bill would eliminate Supreme Court jurisdiction over

DIAMONDS

YOUR BEST BUY by ordering direct from Antwerp, the world's most important cutliamond market. Give diamonds to the ones you love, buy for investment, for your enjoyment
Write airmail for free price list or coll us: Joachim Goldenstein diamantexport Established 1928 strant 62, B-2000 Antwe Belgium - Tel.: (32.3) 234.07.51. Telex: 71779 syl b. at the Diamond Club Bldg. Gold Medal

NEW YORK'S

HOTEL BARLYLE

MADISON AVENUE AT 76TH ST., NEW YORK 18021 CABLE: THECARLYLE NEWYORK TELEX: 620692

BVLCARI

ROMA 10 VIA DEI CONDOTTI NEW YORK HOTEL PIERRE GENEVE 86 RUE DU RHÔNE MONTE CARLO - AVENUE DES BEAUX-ARTS PARIS HOTEL PLAZA-ATHENEE

David Dubinsky Dies; He Led Garment Union Miss Fuller, who began her ca-

The Associated Press

NEW YORK - David Dubinsky, 90, a pioneering labor leader who built the International Ladies Garment Workers Union into a 400,000-member political force, died Friday, a umon spokesman

Under Mr. Dubinsky, the union grew from a small, indebted labor organization into a major national union that he led for 34 years before retiring abruptly in 1966. "I don't want to die with my boots on," he said at the time. During that time, sweatshops were largely transformed, and he pioneered the expansion of labor's role to include not just wages and hours but a range of benefits and even the cultural life of the worker. First a socialist revolutionary, later an avid anti-Communist and one of the first major labor leaders to drive Communists from his own union. Mr. Dubinsky became a powerful force in politics at all lev-He was born Feb. 22, 1892, in trolled Poland and taken to Lodz when he was 7. He was only 15 when he took part in a strike against the bakery where he was employed. The employer was his

Because of his union-organizing activities, Mr. Dubinsky was ar-rested and ordered to exile in Siberia. But he escaped en route and made his way back to Poland. He arrived in New York on Jan. 2, 1911. He soon joined the gar-ment workers union, and rose through its ranks to become president in 1932. The union was $1 million in debt when Mr. Dubinsky took office, and its membership was down to 45.000. Through a combination of bank loans and energetic organizing drives that swelled membership to 200,000, he liquidated the debts in two years, leaving the union with assets of $850,000.

Rosalinde Fuller

NEW YORK (NYT) - Rosalinde Fuller, 90, who played Ophe-lia to John Barrymore's celebrated Hamlet on Broadway in 1922, died Wednesday at her sister's home in Seoul Minister to Visit U.K.

SEOUL - Foreign Minister Lee Bum Suk will visit Britain from Oct. 3 to Oct. 6 at the invitation of Foreign Secretary Francis Pym, the Foreign Ministry bere said Friday. The announcement said the men will discuss the Korean situation and bilateral cooperation.

Lausanne - Switzerland-HOTEL CARLTON

Charming Garden Hotel 4 Avenue de Cour - 1007 Lousanne.

Tel.: 021/263235. Telex 24 800.

AMERICAN OVERSEAS SCHOOL OF ROME ACCREDITED MIDDLE STATES ASSOCIATION PRE-SCHOOL TO 12th GRADE

HIGH SCHOOL -Standard U.S. Curriculum, U.S. Advanced Placement. MIDDLE SCHOOL: -Program for Ages 11 to 13

LOWER SCHOOL: —Half Day for Ages 3-4 Full Day for Ages 5-10. VIA CASSIA 811, ROME, ITALY. Tel.: (06) 3664841.

SPAIN

AMERICAN SCHOOL OF MALLORCA

(Grades 6 to 8).

AN INTERNATIONAL ACADEMIC INSTITUTION coredited by the Middle States association • Boarding 7 - 12 and day K - 12 • The high school offering pre-origineering and business sequences along with top college • The only professional vocational education program in Europe; students acquire paid skills • Notable history of college admissions • Advanced placement and ge freshness courses • Specific learning disabilities center that achieves excellent is • Testing center for SAT, ACT, TOEFL and other US examinations.

CALLE ORATORIO, 9 - PORTALS NOUS - MALLORCA - SPAIN

study teaching to degree in both Medical and Veterinary Medicine. Courses taught in English. Program under guidance of American Dean utilizing American curriculum. Transfer students accepted. Semester begins November 1982. We are an accredited school and listed in W.H.O. and affiliated with U.S. hos-

Ross University School of Medical & Veterinary Medicine Portsmouth, Dominico, W. Attention: Mr. Butler or minica. W.L 16 West 32 St. NYC 10001

GERMANY

ACADEMY OF INDUSTRY

• Management • Business economics • Marketing • Business arganization • Psychology. HOSTERLIN-ACADEMY D-7858 Well est Rhein, West Gen

One student ne moster concept for boys 12 through 20 of everage and superior intelligence: • Wishing to accelerate mic deficiencies dents wishing to ente scodemic program w S. WOODHALL, ONFORD ACADEMY terook, Conn. 06496 noters Since 1906

GREAT BRITAIN

appears every Saturday

SW ITZERLAND

BELGIUM

DO YOU WANT A COLLEGE EDUCATION YOU CAN USE? -

Then look at the Benelux's largest international business school: EUROPEAN UNIVERSITY Autworp

offiliated with several leading American universities. Small classes . Close professor-student contact and co-operations programs available:

Bachelor of Business Administration

Boch elar of Arts/Economics • Bachelor of Public Administration • Bachelor of counting • Bachelor of Computer Sciences • Bachelor of Science/Engi-pering • Bachelor of Arts/Political Science • Bachelor of Arts/Languages Total tuition fees: 8.Fr. 120,000 per year.

 Also Master of Business Administration and Master of Public Administration (evening courses) For information, contact: Prof. Dr. X. Nieberding, President, EUROPEAN UNIVERSITY, Amerikalei 131-133, 2000 Antwerp. Tel. after 7 p.m.: 03/238.10.82. (In the summer months: all weekdays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.)

FRANCE

-The most renowned school for French-

THE INSTITUT DE FRANÇAIS

Overlooking the Riviera's most beautiful bay MAKES LEARNING FRENCH A WONDERFUL AND UNIQUE EXPERIENCE

avoilable 4-week all-day immersion program starts Sept. 27, Oct. 25 and all year.
LODGING IN PRIVATE APTS, AND 2 MEALS INCLUDED. For adults, 6 levels: from beginner 1 to advanced II. Years of research & experience in the effective teaching of French to a INSTITUT DE FRANÇAIS - I 18 néral-Leclerc, 06230 VILLEFRANCHE-S/MER. Tel.: (93) 80.86.61.

Brochers with enrollment fees, glone or with board and ladging: CENTRE MEDITERRANEEN D'ÉTUDES FRANÇAISES 06320 Cap d'Ali (France). Tel.: (93) 78.21.59.

Alvaro Magaña, provisional president, right, and General José Guillermo Garcia, the defense minister, reviewed the troops Wednesday during Independence Day celebrations in San Salvador.

El Salvador, With U.S. Support, Begins 'Dialogue' With Guerrillas

By Bernard Weinraub New York Times Service SAN SALVADOR - The Salva-

doran government, with the quiet support of the Reagan administra-tion, has begun an indirect "dialogue" with guerrilla leaders in-tended to end the civil war.

Western diplomats said Thursday that interest in talks had increased after a secret meeting Sept. 3 in San Salvador between the provisional president, Alvaro Ma-gaña, and the Costa Rican foreign minister, Fernando Volio, to discuss peace negotiations between government and guerrilla

Mr. Volio's trip to the capital came after Costa Rica's president, Luis Alberto Monge, met in Costa Rica with Guillermo Manuel Ungo, head of the Democratic Revolutionary Front, the political arm of the leftist-led guernilas. In an interview last weekend.

Mr. Magaña denied he was studying proposals from the guerrillas, who are grouped together in the Farabundo Marti National Liberation Army. But he said he hoped to establish a multiparty commis-sion before the end of September to take up the question of whether to open peace negotiations.

Angered at Speech

Amid indications that the United States is pressing for negotia-tions, Salvadoran rightists have reacted angrily to a speech by a senior State Department official last month in San Francisco urging reconciliation" between warting oups in El Salvador and other Central American nations.

The rightists viewed the speech, by Thomas O. Enders, assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs, as marking a shift by the Reagan administration in seeking accommodation with leftist forces in the region. Perhaps even more surprising, the speech characterized U.S. policy in the region as a virtual continuation of Carter administration actions.

In the first public reaction to the Enders speech, El Diario de Hoy, a conservative newspaper, said Wednesday that Mr. Enders had a "simplistic view" of Central America and was "out of date" in his understanding of the region.

"If it weren't because it was given by an influential figure in the Reagan administration, the newspaper said of the speech, "we would be tempted to believe it was the working of some confused left-ist or some Third World priest." U.S. officials in San Salvador said the speech marked a shift the Reagan administration as they were under President Jimmy Carter, although activists in San-Salvador compiling statistics on violence against civilians deny this.

cause opposition to a "dialogue" ficials maintain that the Salva-doran left has softened some of its what a diplomat termed "propos man would consider encouraging, acceptable."

diplomats, are assurances of pertalks start, ending of the so-called "state of siege," access for guerrillas to the press and the reopening of the national university of El Salvador, which closed in June 1980.

demands of the insurgents — a drastic overhaul of the Salvadoran Army — has apparently been dropped.
U.S. officials said the ultimate aim of any negotiations between the Salvadoran government and the guerrillas would be to enable the leftists to participate in the political process and to take part in presidential elections, which are tentatively scheduled for March toward negotiations as opposed to confrontation with Cuba and the Soviet Union over Central America. Officials asserted that human rights were as much a priority of U.S. officials say efforts to spur talks are highly delicate, partly behas been voiced by powerful rightists, some ranking army officers and key members of the Salvadoran guerrilla insurgency. But ofkey demands and made a series of tions which a sane, reasonable

The proposals made by the insurgents, according to Western sonal security for all leftists once

U.S. officials said one of the key

Guatemala Army Tied To Terror Campaign

By Marlise Simons

New York Times Service
LAS PACAYAS, Guatemala — It was just before dawn when Pedro Gualin heard the shooting, grabbed his hunting rifle and ran. From the foliage nearby, he watched helplessly as strangers in civilian clothes fired wildly into the village huts and set them on fire.

When it was all over, he said, he found his wife, Marcela, dead on the floor. At least 60 other men, women and children in this Pokomchi mountain village were also dead. Of the 300 survivors who fled to nearby San Cristobal, many told townspeople that the army had come to kill them on June 11 and that they would never sleep in Las Pacayas again.

This incident has joined the many tales of death in Guatema-la's central highlands, where the war between leftist-led guerrillas and the army rages across a vast expanse of mountains, ravines and Reports of clashes and massacres come from villages often mac-cessible by road. With the two sides in the conflict issuing contra-dictory bulletins and wearing civil-ian clothes as well as green uniforms, it is difficult for outsiders to verify who is winning the war or who is to blame for the massacres.

But a reconstruction of the incident at Las Pacayas through numerous interviews with survivors, military officers, health workers and community leaders in a nearby town has confirmed that the strangers who attacked the peasant huts at dawn were soldiers assigned to the military base at Coban, 12 miles (19 kilometers) away.

The regime of General José Efrain Rios Montt, which seized power five months ago, is carrying out a methodical counterinsurgen-cy program. Since a state of siege was imposed July 1, government forces have been sweeping across the western and central highlands.

The war is waged largely against the Mayan Indians, many of whom are supporters or members of the guerrilla groups that have worked

Ruling in Swise Rail Crash

The Associated Press PFAPFIKON, Switzerland — Error by a Swiss Federal Railways employee caused the accident in which 39 West German vacationers died Sunday, the investigating legal official said Thursday. The employee was responsible for raising and lowering barriers at a in the highlands for almost a dec-

Thousands of Indian villagers, who account for more than half of the country's seven million inhabitants, are being herded into armyitants, are being herded into armycontrolled zones, and General Rios Montt has pledged "to defeat them by December."

As a result, the death toll, which dropped after the March 23 coup to about 200 a month from about 400, has climbed again: According to Guatemalan news reports, 532

people were killed in June.

With the press silenced now, the army put the July figure at 452.

These sources have usually offered conservative estimates.

conservative estimates.

The new government's efforts to present a better image of itself to the world have been complicated by continuing reports of massacres in which many of the dead are women and children. Invariably the army blames the insurgents, and in a recent interview General Rios Montt dismissed as "communist propaganda" the stories of large-scale kill-ings by the military that are re-peated by refugees pouring into southern Mexico.

Church groups monitoring human-rights abuses contend that the guerrillas are responsible for many deaths, but they say that the rebels generally target individuals identified as enemies rather than entire families.

Civic Action Also Used

In the past two months, the tacties of the army appear to have changed. Senior officers stressed that the current drive includes civic action, unlike in previous counterinsurgency campaigns, as well as the use of informers and interro-

Still, strong evidence exists that the army and Civil Defense patrols under its command are responsible for a terror campaign designed to disrupt broad Indian support for the insurgents. According to a document prepared by Roman Catholic Church workers, soldiers killed 89 people in the village of Petenac in Huchuetenango province July 14. The victims ranged in age from 99 to 15 days and included 37 chil-

In another Indian village, soldiers reportedly ordered the Civil Defense patrol to club four men to death after they had first burned the wife, daughter-in-law and grandchild of one of the men.

A foreign missionary who has been critical of the guerrillas said the Civil Defense men were "so laden with guilt that they came to and the state of the second se

Expulsions From Chile Stir Unrest

Government, Church Clash on Human Rights

By Jackson Diehl Washington Post Service
SANTIAGO — The impending

expulsion from Chile of eight government critics, including four human-rights activists, has triggered a new confrontation between the authoritarian government of General Augusto Pinocher and the Roman Catholic Church as well as social movements here.

In one of the most aggressive actions against dissident leaders in recent years, the government has obtained a judicial sentence of expulsion against two directors of the Chilean Human Rights Commission and two leaders of the Justice and Peace rights group. The four were accused, along with lour others, of violating a ban on political activity by organizing for the Christian Left, a political party.

The human-rights activists have denied the charges, and all eight have disputed the government's case on the ground that the evidence against them was obtained after they were surested by the Chilean secret police and held in a prison. Five of the men say they were tortured and forced to sign

They say they have little hope of winning an appeal later this month. The activists and a variety of rights leaders have charged that the case is part of a campaign to weaken groups that have criticized repressive measures of the govern-

Government Denial

This is "putting at stake the very system of human-rights" organizations outside of the govern said Domingo Namencula Serran, one of the leaders of the Justice and Peace group confirmed to ex-pulsion Ang. 11.

Government officials, who have denied charges of torture, have responded that the case shows that human-rights organizations and ostensibly apolitical social movements are being used by leftist activists to oppose the government. As debate over the case has increased officials have expanded this charge of leftist infiltration to include Chile's Catholic Church, the traditional leader of rights activism since General Pinocher's coup in 1973.

Last month, General Fernando Paredes, the head of Chile's national police investigation department, charged that agents of the Soviet Union had turned leaders of the church into "allies of the

Working With the Poor Officials have said they are considering charges against the mem-bers of a social rights group whose office was destroyed in a suspicious fire two weeks ago. The group is headed by Fabiola Letelier, sister of former Chilean diplomat Orlando Letelier, whose assassination in Washington in 1976 led to the indictment of several high

The conflicts and charges come at a time when the Pinochet gov ernment, plagued by severe eco-nomic problems, is facing wide-spread social unrest and sharp public criticism on other counts But at the forefront of the dissent have been rights and social move-ments, which have grown significantly in recent years and often in-lude former political activists.

These organizations have carried ont such tasks as assisting families of political prisoners and documenting alleged rights violations and have inked the government by expanding into organizing community movements and working with the poor and unemployed.

The conflict over the groups ac-tivity and the Chilean govern-ment's rights record have taken on particular importance as the Reagan administration considers whether to certify to Congress that the Pinochet administration has improved its performance on human rights. The administra-tion's voucher is necessary before military and economic aid suspended by the Carter administra-tion in 1977 can be resumed.

Both government and rights of-ficials say that U.S. certification, already delayed about six months, has become an issue of political importance in Chile. Foreign Support

Human-rights leaders, with an eye to the effect of U.S. and other international support, have focused on the case of the eight dissidents, which they maintain has been one of the most serious blows to civil rights in Chile in recent years.

The case began on Dec. 10, when Pablo Fuenzalido and German Molina were arrested after a gathering in commemoration of International Human Rights Day. Both are leaders of the Chilean Human Rights Commission, an or-ganization founded by exiled Christian Democratic leader Jaime Castillo in 1980.

Seven other persons were arrested between Dec. 10 and Jan. 17 by Chile's secret police, including the two members of Justice and Peace.

a Latin American tights organization whose leaders include Adolfo Perez Esquivel of Argentina, the 1980 winner of the Nobel Peace Prize.

The nine men say they were blindfolded and taken to a prison where they were forced to sign confessions and record incriminaling statements under the pressure of threats and, in five cases, beatings and torture with electricity

Blast Kills 3 at Seoul Plant

SEOUL - Three workers wer killed and six were seriously in jured Friday in an explosion at at explosives factory here, police said

Art for Your Money

Twice As Much

If you purchased this Trib at a newsstand, you're already enjoying a rare bar-gain—the whole world in just a few tightly written, fact-packed pages. You're reading a product created by scores of journalists working day and night from dozens of distant datelines to bring you a compact com-pilation which can be purchased for the price of a cup of coffee.

But why not double the bargain? Enjoy twice as many newspapers with double the headlines, business trends, candid commentary, high fashion and comic strip hi-jinks, and Art Buchwald three times

COUNTRY

By subscribing to the International Herald Tribune for six months or a year, you receive each copy at almost half the newsstand price. Up to 46% off, to be precise, depending on where you live. Twice as many Tribs for your money.

Subscribe now and we'll speed bargainprice Tribs to your home or office from our various simultaneous distribution points in Paris, London, Zurich and Hong Kong.

Join the global who's who of thought-leader readers who turn to each morning's

Trib for the latest in objectively reported world news, briskly written opinion, the sell reports from the international marketplace, at-the-stadium recaps of just-completed matches, what's happening in the world of culture-and all in an internation-

Double the value of the Trib by halving

Subscribe now so you don't miss a single

Just fill out the coupon below and mail. For maximum savings, subscribe for a full year. This cut-price subscription offer is for new subscribers only.

Herald Tribune

To: Subscription Manager, International Herald Tribune 181 Avenue Charles-de-Gaulle, 92521 Neuilly Cedex, France. Telephone: 747.12.65. Telex: 612832. ☐ Yes, I would like to accept your bargain offer. Please send me the International Herald Tribune for the time period and at the reduced price circled on this coupon.

Address Nationality

Company activity

Job/Profession

IMPORTANT: Payment must be enclosed with this form to validate your subscription. Please make checks payable to the International Herald Tribume. Do not send cash. Pro-forms invoices are available upon request.

Please circle below the time period and reduced subscription price selected.

I year 6 months 3 months

Austria A.Sci	3,050	1,525	840
BelgiumB.F	r. 6,000	3,000	1,650
Denmark D.K	t.  1,280	640	350
Finland F.N	E  990	495	270
France. F.	F.\ 800	400	220
Germany D.h	£ 360	180	100
Great Britain	£ 62	] 31	] 18
Greece	8,000	4,000	2,250
Ireland		45	25
Italy Li	e 165,000	82,500	45,500
Luxembourg L.F	r. 6,000	3,000	1.650
Netherlands F	1 406	203	112
Norway		560	308
Portugal Es		4,330	2,400
Portugal	s. 14,200	7,100	3,900
Spain Pta Sweden S.K	r. 990	495	270
	r. 320	160	90
	r.  كون	1	, , ,
Rest of Europe, North Africa and	s 256	1 128	1 71
former French Africa, U.S.A	31 220	132	1 72
French Polynesia, Middle East	$ 264	132	) " "
Rest of Africa, Canada, Latin		176	98
America, Gulf States and Asia	S 352	170	1 20

ash on Hamal

activity by organization activity by organization. Let a provide the character of the broader of the character of the provide the control of the character of the control of the con ere commed and k They say they have inning an appearance onth. The actions nghis leaders bar ie case is pan d'ie caken groups that pressive measure Government by ne of the leates of: nd Peace group on Government office, enied charges of the ponded that the care stensibly and R sents are being mile. 1V1515 to oppose the 's debate on the his charge of bloodachude Chile's Cat

he traditional laded. THE SINCE GORD Last month Govern Paredes, the heat at ional police installa ment, charged the ex-Seviet Union hallow: Working Widel: Officials have suite. असंस्ताल केम्बर मृह्यः hers of a socil or its ्रांतिक स्था व्याणकोः crous fire two week:

er, sister of long (2) ाना Orlando lastic प्र smation in Water. to the microsoft. The conflict sales at a time with the nomic problem is spread social medipublic critics a E But at the forting a. The been missings TRAIS, which has as andy to recta pala dude former paints These organizations. ्या अस्ति धर्मः हास and have that the the poor and make The confidences human needs is

Pasolini self-portrait, done in 1965.

ARTS/LEISURE

Devaluation Fears Fuel Bids for Minor French Objects

By Souren Melikian International Herald Tribune

DARIS - The fear of a third devaluation of the French I franc appears to have set off a new panic among the nonprofessionals and small-time dealers that usually at-tend misor sales at Drouot.

At the first auction of the opening season, conducted by Stephane Deurbergue on Sept. 14, worthless items elicited unexpected outhursts of enthusiasm while the better pieces sold at low prices. The success encountered by total duds that would be declared unsalable anywhere else may be partly due to the young auctioneer's keen sense of mise en scene. An urbane man with a placid smile and burely detectable twinkle behind his gold-rimmed glasses, Deurbergue knows exactly how to create through seemingly haphazard piling of furniture an impression of country attics just emptied, dust, junk and forgotten treasures. On Tuesday, the mixture had just the right feel — the first two items featuring prominently.

As the porters repeatedly passed around large flat baskets — "manettes," in obsolete French hardly to be heard outside Drouot — filled with miscellaneous, often nondescript items, sold as a single lot, those sitting in the front, behind the row of tables isolating them from the auctioneer's podium, grabbed them and feverishly fumbled through the junk.

Extraordinary Financial Response

This is not unusual on such occasions. The sight of something to get hold of after the two-month summer closing of Drouot acts as the smell of blood on a hunter. What is extraordinary is the financial response. The conwhat is extraordinary is the imancial response. The con-tents of a manette — a white faience tureen "damaged," as the suctioneer wryly noted, a water jug of which there must be, at a rough guess, a good half-million more in French rural households, and bits of metal defying analy-sis — were knocked down at 348 francs. This could be regarded as a kind of inaugural joke among the boys: The going commercial price would probably be closer to one-tenth of that price.

But it soon became clear that the joke was repeating itself on a surprising scale.

itself on a surprising scale.

In keeping with time-honored French auction practice, the manettes were followed first by a few books, then by drawings, paintings and some prints all mixed together. An interior scene with a young girl sewing, done in the neo-18th-century manner favored by the academic artists

By Susan Lumsden.

FLORENCE — The restoration of Sandro Botticelli's "Primavera" for the 400th anniversary year of the Uffizi Gallery is as much an event as its creation, and somewhat more comprehensible.

When it was painted, about 1478, the large (3.14 by 2.3 meters)

tempera painting was one of the most bizarre masterpieces of the unbulent Florentine Rensissance

It was an allegory of spring based on the pagan myths of Venus, recast in red robes as a beckoning

Virgin Mary. Zephyr, the figure of wind, appeared to be abducting the nymph of spring while the three lissome Graces danced unaware under Cupid's pointed bow.

The work was weird, unquestionably beautiful and a world away from Florence where Lorenzo the Magnificent's brother, Gi-uliano de' Medici, had just been stabbed to death during Mass in Botticelli, a neo-Platonist, contended that perfection - and therefore beauty — was necessarily of a higher world, unassailable by idea rankled traditional humanists, who held man to be the measure of all truths, and merely baffled oth-

Disgruntled, Botticelli gave up painting for politics and died in poverty in 1510 after his mentor, the Dominican friar Savonarola, was burned at the stake by the Florentines for preaching against their wanton ways. By the time Vasari wrote his "Lives" in 1550, Botticelli was just a "good draftsman" and so he remained until the 19th-century Romantic revival and

Bernard Berenson took a second infidels of the republic. The

opal Herald Tribune

Botticelli: New Look, New Ideas

restoration of the "Primavera," all the more remarkable since it didn't need restoration as much as clean-ing. Other of the 39 works of art in (until Jan. 6) were in worse shape, some having been damaged by the flood in 1966. Yet the "Primavera" is spotlighted to emphasize Flor-

tion, sanctioned by science, hence the title: "Method and Science ---

Work and Research in Restoration." The companion exhibition,

"The City of the Uffizi," is mainly a historical guide to the other mu-seums and monuments in Flor-

On first viewing, the new "Pri-mavera" is truly a breath of spring, particularly since its bearer, Zephyr, is now a clear turquise instead of a deathly green. Zephyr, more than the nine other figures, was responsible for the interpretation of the "Primavera" as some sort of

New interpretation

mavera" as a philosophy of love, painted by Botticelli for the wed-

ling of Lorenzo di Pierfrancesco

de' Medici. The various personalities show the relationship between bestial, human and divine love. Venus, the goddess of love, is the medium whose beauty draws man from his earthy origin and troubles to his divine destiny, which is his inspiration and salvation. The fascination with the "Primavera" itself is proof that men can recognize and be drawn to beauty with-

These new readings are possible because the old brown fog over the "Primavera" was caused by discolored varnish, not by green paint that had irreversibly browned with out necessarily understanding it.

A new interpretation is the "Pri-

"Primavera" as some sort of

e as Italy's center of restora-

Palazzo Vecchio exhibition

1860-70, was hard to make out under its coating of oily grime. The eye of a small dealer apparently detected some dden beauty under the yellow varnish. In a heated contest with a colleague, the dealer got it at 2,668 francs,

After a drawing in sepia wash done in imitation of a famous painting had been sold for 232 francs — an amateur's essay of that type is commercially worth naught - a pair of small watercolors were offered. Their oval, hori-zontal format is traditionally disliked on both sides of the Channel and accordingly considered noncommercial. The subject matter, in the most backneyed beribboned-she-pherdess tradition, hardly recommended them. If the late-

THE ART MARKET

19th-century painter's intention had been to catch something of the light-hearted manner of his 18th-century predecessors such as Pater, be failed abysmally. At 600 frames, the pair would have been dearly paid. At 2,494 frames, it became something of a mystery.

Yet, this was nothing compared with the portrait of a young girl inscribed in the name of Paul Mignon and dated 1897. The artist's name is not entered in any of the great biographical dictionaries of painters, draftsmen and engravers, so that it is difficult to check facts, but the paintings struck me as distinctly later - the '30s of this century, I should have thought.

Could this have been, who knows, a fake Paul Mignon? Two ladies of some age obviously thought differently. A random bid was made at 1,100 by a third lady who did not seem too sure about her own keenness. Luckily for her, there was one more bid and the uncertain Mignon finally sold to a fourth bidder for 1,340 francs.

Seconds later, the third lady found an object for her thirst for collectibles. It was a mechanical reproduction of a drawing, laid down on board, varnished, and described precisely in those unflattering terms by the auctioneer. She raised her finger with great determination, and got the piece for 242 francs, probably 20 times what it is worth. Objets d'art went exactly the same way. Two plates decorated in the Delft manner" as interpreted by popular department store designers, brought 638 francs, a small fortune, other things being equal. At that rate one might have expected any relatively good piece to soar to wildly unattainable heights. That was far from being the case. Early in the sale there was a underpants under their newly diaphanous veils. "Yes, you could say

we've even discovered the sex of Spring," jokes Umberto Baldini, the head of Florence's Laboratorio di Restauro dell'Opificio delle Pietre Dure, the Italian state-government laboratory responsible for

Mountain Horizon

the distant horizon of mountains between the trees, "It's like a new flight into space," Baldini says.

"Not only does it expand the painting, but also the reputation of Botticelli as a limited linear paint-

Baldini is quick to caution that the 1982 "Primavera" is not exactly what the artist painted 500 years ago. "A work of art has its own organic life and colors change with ime. Yet just because I have a few

20 years ago, you wouldn't call me

What was cleaned was what was feasible, based on the scientific studies, the first of the "Primavera." Severe restoration in the last century rendered the robes of Venus and the throat of Spring too delicate to touch. "Complete cleaning would have revealed the damage of the centuries," Baldini explains. "Even the restoration is an interpretation, like the same

Beethoven symphony played by Toscanini and by Furtwängler. The results are very different. This approach is called 'proportional cleaning' and I expect it's going to be criticized."

The first volley was fired by those who like their old masters brown. Rembrandt and the more ful and compassionate way, and the Basel catalog prints a "letter"

she wrote to Pasolini after his death, in which she explores his contradictions: "You had too great a loathing of sin, and of sex which, to you, was sin. You loved purity too much, and chastity which, to you, was salvation. And the less purity you found the more you avenged yourself, seeking filth, and pain and vulgarity as a punishment. . . But is it enough to believe in love and not to believe

It is strange, of course, to see those great inventories of sexual li-berality and wit: the "Decam-eron," the "Canterbury Tales" and the "1001 Nights" rendered as bru-tal pilgrimages of disgust and de-basement, but that was the essence of Pasolini's distress and it seems

Perhaps the greater discovery is the art restored.

The culmination is the current age. In the cleaning, the Three estoration of the "Primavera," all Graces were found to be wearing who catered to the French upper middle class around study of some Gothic church towers. It hardly seemed overpriced at 348 frames. Nor did a most interesting drawing about 20 by 16 inches in watercolor heightened with gouache of a medieval street in Rouen. The gable-ended houses, which were all razed in the 1944 bombing, were represented in great architectural detail with a skillful handling of light effects. Judging from the costumes, the drawing is datable to the 1840s. Some foring in the sky, probably caused by the acid board on which the drawing is laid down, is hard if not impossible to restore. But this does not affect the documentary value, which is considerable and is hardly disturbing aesthetically. At 296 francs, this too seems reasonable.

Some objets d'art were equally inexpensive. One lot consisted of two flat eigarette cases in silver-plated metal. The style of the early '30s, with its taste for abstract geometrics, was excellent and at 139 francs the two objets, in perfect condition, were hardly overpriced.

Higher Price Bracket

In a considerably higher price bracket, a so called "gar-niture de cheminée," i.e. a chimney piece clock and assort-ed candlesticks made en suite around 1860-70, was again not expensive. The rococo-style ormolu with its twisted soliage was a bit on the heavy side, as in all the objets d'art of the Napoleon III period, but the chiselwork was good. The very large pieces are of a type that has avidly been sought in recent years largely for export to the Unit-ed States, South America, and the Gulf area. At just over 20,000 francs, it sold moderately well - the final price when it reaches its ultimate destination might be closer to 60,000-80,000 francs. At any rate this would have been so

This is not to suggest that there has been a drop in demand for the better quality works of art. But the dealers who stock such pieces belong to a cetegory that is sufficiently well-informed to dread the effects of the current recession. Their abstention beyond a certain limit may be read as an anticipation of worsening conditions. It is for comparable reasons that the good watercolor of a medieval street in Rouen sold for so little: dealers who sell 19th-century drawings, again, belong to a better educated category than those who might go after a common faience water jug. Small-time dealers are scared of holding onto their devalued cash while their sophisticated colleagues dread a deflationary situation and longer-term [all in demand. Hence the discrepancy between the wildly expenfairly large - about 18 inches high - good, watercolor sive trash and the rather low-priced better items.

monochromatic, painters of the 17th century are forever guilty in suggesting to subsequent centuries that good art is dark art. "In the 14th and 15th centuries and before, the colors of paintings were as vivid and violent as the times, says Thomas Schneider, an independent Florentine restorer who rates as "excellent" the job done on the "Primavera." Until the 1930s, he says, many paintings were coated with brown varnish to give them an air of authentic age; the English actually called it "gal-

varnish, discolored pigment or just scientists have a role in art. Otherwise what we'll have in another 100 years will be 20 more books on Botticelli and five fewer paintings by him."

Botticelli also had an idea of perfection. It was such that the newly visible flowers in the restored "Primavera" - when stud-ied by a University of Florence botanist, Guido Moggi - were found to be real Tuscan spring species growing today in the old Medici villa at Castello, where the painting hung for so many years. Yet, those daisies, violets and irises are painted upright and intact in spite of the eight harbingers of spring dancing on them.

"Don't ask me why some of those flowers are not painted squashed." Moggi says. "Those are philosophers' questions.'

The Met's Changing Style

By John Rockwell New York Times Service

PEW YORK — The Metropolitan Opera that opens its season Monday night with Kiri Te Kanawa, Tanana Troyanos, Judith Blegen, Kurt Moll and Luciano Pavarotti in "Der Rosenkavalier" is, in a basic sense, the same old Metropolitan Opera it's been for one year short of a century. It is the United States' international opera company, the repository for the proven masterpieces of the operatic repertory and the home for the best singers it can attract.

But the old Met is also the new Met. The Met's newness can be measured in many ways. One is the shift in artistic leadership from Rudolf Bing to the interregnum of Goeran Gentele and Schuyler Chapin to the "troika" of Anthony Bliss, James Levine and John Dexter to what amounts, now, to a new troika of Rliss. Levine and Joan Ingpen, the British assistant manager in charge of casting.

Another form of measurement would be the style of productions the Met now offers, less opulent but more dramatically considered than they used to be. Another would be singing — not simply, as some old-timers grumble, fewer "stars," but a different kind of star. One could also add a new emphasis on depth of ensemble and the preservation of that ensemble, and on the dramatic and musical values achieved in rehearsal, over the course of a season's run.

But perhaps the most striking way to describe what is different about the new Met is to consider its reper-

Until the 1970s, the Met was known primarily as a singers' house, an aviary for what Ingpen refers to as "canary fanciers." But singers have to have something to sing, and the Met's repertory under Bing was weighted heavily toward warhorse operas of the German and, especially, Italian schools. Bing can be credited for his innovations, chiefly then-rarely-played operas by Verdi and occasional landmark productions, such as his opening-night "Don Carlo" in 1950 and the Eugene Berman "Don Giovanni" that, although falling apart, still graces the Met repertory. Typical Bing Season

A look at a typical Bing season — 1959-60 — reveals some interesting similarities and dissimilarities from the Met's forthcoming 1982-83 season. The number of operas presented - 23 in 1959-60; 22 this season - is comparable, although the earlier season was one month shorter. The proportion of operas by Italian and German composers was similar, too, belying the widespread assumption that the current regime has de-emphasized the Italian warhorses: 10 Italian and nine German in 1959-60; 11 Italian and seven German in 1982-83. But there are differences between the two seasons.

standard reperiory to a stulinfying extent. In 1959-60, operas like "Madama Butterfly," "Aida," "Carmen," "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "Pagliacci" recurred throughout the season, filling in gaps that needed to be filled. Casts shuffled in and out of these operas in a way that does not suggest an overriding concern for coherence: in 1959-60, for the 11 performances of "Aida." there were eight different Amonasros. Today, there are still many repetitions of popular as well. In Bing's day, the repertory was based on the operas — more than ever, reflecting the longer season. This year there will be 16 "Barbers of Seville," 13 "La Bohemes" and 13 "Il Trovatores."

ously done at the Met. Along with the "Bohemes" and "Trovatores," there will be 13 performances this season of Mozart's "Idomeneo" - one of the three new productions — and an opera never before done at the Met, as well as a revival of the company's triple bill of Satie's "Parade." Poulenc's "Les Mamelles de Tirésias" and Ravel's "L'Enfant et les Sortilèges." The new regime at the Met took power in 1974.
Levine says that he and his associates "had a clear-cut hackneved operas and established works not previ-

idea of how we intended to expand the repertory." Those plans included the introduction of "20th-century classics," commissions and new productions of standard works, and works Levine thought should be standard. Plans for the next three seasons include new productions of Handel's "Rinaldo." Zandonai's "Francesca da Rimini," Mozart's "La Clemenza di Tito," Mussorgsky's "Khovanshchina" and, tentatively, Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess" and the first of the company's two centennial commissions, an opera based on the Medea theme by Jacob Druckman. Repertory at the Met today is planned by Levine and Ingpen. Bliss, as general manager, holds final veto power, but claims not to intrude his own artistic opinions into the process.

Talk of a Second Theater

The Met will never become an experimental house: its position as a guardian of the standard repertory as well as the sheer size of its 4,000-seat hall preclude that. There is still talk of a smaller, second theater for more experimental or intimate works and productions, but that will not come until the late '80s at the earliest, after the $100 million endowment drive is completed and the next round of labor talks, in 1984.

But the new Met remains actively interested in less familiar, nonexperimental operas, and one reason is the kind of singer available today, particularly in the United States, who is comfortable in a wide range of repertory and willing to take part in a closely knit ensemble that remains a unit throughout the run of an opera. Add to that the necessity for starker, less expensive productions, and the Met's choice of repertory becomes partly determined by the need to find operas that fulfill those conditions. Better to do Poulenc's "Dialogues of the Carmelites," which can sustain an austere production and doesn't invoke nostalgia, than an undercast "Aida."

American opera companies have long been conservative in comparison to Europe's — Ingpen places the taste lag at 20 years. That can have its advantages, Levine adds — the avoidance of "fad productions that are thrown away in six months." But the lag also means that Europe's own interest in new repertory can have a ripple effect on the Met. Thus, famous singers are now more willing to sing unusual operas, and the Met is more willing to accommodate them. The choice is first of all, Levine stresses, based on the work itself. But aside from the inherent value of an opera like "Khoyanshchina," for instance, Ingpen points out that it is being planned in part because Martti Talvela wants to sing it.

Such wishes can't always be fulfilled, however. If an opera relies too heavily on one singer, the Met may be unwilling to risk a new production. The company has a production of Bellini's "I Puritani" in the warehouse. But Joan Sutherland doesn't want to sing it anymore, and the Met has not yet found another sing-But there has been a steady shift, too, toward less er of similar stature to warrant a revival.

Three Painting Shows in London

By Max Wykes-Joyce

International Herald Tribune ONDON - One of the most vigorous exhibitions currently to be seen in London is that of the recent work of the Colombian art-Gallery. It consists of paintings of California in mixed media on a strong base of watercolor; etchings, aquatints and lithographs of similar Californian themes: and lithographs and screenprints, some hand-tinted, inspired by the short stories and novels of the magic realist Gabriel Garcia Márquez, the foremost Colombian author. Trained in Colombia as an architect and designer. Ortiz studied graphic design and printmaking in London, then took a postgraduate degree at the Slade School of Art. From 1980 to the beginning of this year she worked in the Printmaking Arts Center of the University of California at Santa Barbara From this stay on the West Coast arose the paintings on the theme "Palm Trees" and a sequence of nine prints. Good as these are, it is in the García Márquez-inspired prints that she comes into her own. García Márquez created an imaginary small Colombian town, Macondo (presumably based on his native town of Aracataca), with the people and activities of which his best tales are concerned. There is no better evocation of "the lonely, desolate world of rural South America" than the Macondo stories and novels; in Ortiz he has found the ideal tran erary world into visual imagery. Victoria Ortiz, Paintings and Prints, Curwen Gallery, 4 Windmill Street, Charlotte Street, London W1, to Oct. 2.

Parka Rego, a Portuguese painter who also studied at the Slade school in London, shows her latest work at the Edward Totah Gallery. "My pictures begin with a story, an event or a title" she wrote in 1977. "Different parts of the painting correspond to different pa es or episodes in the story. The story is made up as the painting goes along. Because I don't know where the stories will take me, painting is always a surprise, and I live in dread that every painting may be

It seems evident from this show of new work that her fear has not come to pass. In these new visual tales, however, she has abandoned her former method of collage construction for straightforward and the boggles, fachans, hobgoblins and trolls of folklore and nightmare mingle with humans in ing images, which nevertheless have a robust humor about them, even though painted, as her compatriot Alberto de Lacerda observed in a celebrated poem about

Christie's

Rego. "to give fear a face."

Paula Rego. Recent Paintings and Prints, Edward Totah Gallery, 39 Floral Street, Covent Garden, Landon WC2, to Oct. 9.

The opposite of Rego's complex fantasies are the elegant, finely detailed and subtly colored still lifes of the young German painter and printmaker Kurt Schönen, currently holding his first London exhibi-tion at the Graffiti Gallery. For the subjects of these beautifully crafted etchings and mezzotints, and related drawings, he takes the pens, papers and brushes of his trade, his reading glasses, a bowl of fruit, and similar extremely sim-

"Kurt Schönen — Prints and Watercolors," Graffiti Gallery, 30 James Street, London WI, to Sept.

Pier Paolo Pasolini's Drawings

By Michael Gibson

tional Herald Tribunz BASEL — Pier Paolo Pasolini is internationally famous for his films and was also familiar to Italians as a poet and newspaper co-lumnist. Now, seven years after his death, a collection of his drawings is being shown.

Pasolini died in November 1975, at the age of 53. He was clubbed and run over (with his own sports car) by a youth who rejected the director's advances. His cinema career had lasted 14 years and he had produced 17 full-length films.

The Basel Kunstmuseum is showing 120 drawings by Pasolini through Sept. 26. Their chief interest is what they reflect of the man.

One could say that their chief interest is their lack of artistic mterest, their predominant ordinariness, except in the self-portraits. which among other things reflect the man's unappeased and unappeasable self-preoccupation. But that is only one trait of the strange and driven personality that made him an extraordinary provocareur and fitted him for the role of the cultural martyr. His intense personal contradictions, which he made a public matter, and his sex-ual pilgrimages into the shadow world of young homosexual toughs, both reflected in his films. appear to have been received by a fairly large public as a heightened image of his own preoccupations.

Oriana Fallaci, a tough interviewer, was fond of him in a pain-to have touched a raw nerve in the Western world, His artistic production shows nothing of this. About half the works were done between the ages of 19 and 21 and are unremarkable studies of scated, standing, or reclining men and women. One or two of them have the stenographic urgency of Roman frescoes in mpeii. The most revealing works are the infrequent oil paintings because of what his use of color expresses of the artist's own emotional tone: a murky, lonely world, coloriess, joyless, sunless, but well structured, the houses windowless, the trees without leaves. All this mutely reflects something of the disbelief in life to which Fallaci re-But the show on the whole in its meagerness seems to express an emotional reality that Pasolini's living intensity concealed, a dis-tress whose inevitability can only arouse compassion. The exhibition will be at the Nuremberg Kunsthalle, Sept. 29 to Oct. 31; in Bellinzona, Switzerland in November; at the Albertina in Vienna in December, and the Frankfurt Kunstverein in early 1983, and may go to England and the United States after that.

lery tone. The 'Patina' Argument A more moderate argument is the one against restoration beyond careful conservation. The value of a work of art is not only its beauty but also its age, the fact that it has survived so long. To remove the patina of time, this argument goes, is to remove the soul or immortali-ty of beauty. It is all the more convincing when restoration is admittedly subjective and interpretive. The difficulty, says Schneider, is deciding what is "patina." Is it

"The real trouble is that restoration is not scientific enough," says Maurizio Seracini, who did the scientific studies of the "Primavera." His photographs, which are on dis-play, give a fascinating fourth di-mension to Botticelli by showing how the artist actually painted. "Rarely does anyone study the microclimate from which art in need of restoration has emerged and to which it will return," Sera-cini says. "What is restoration if it's not long-term conservation? Is it just a show? Maybe this exhibition will finally show Italians that

INTERNATIONAL ART EXHIBITIONS

GALERIE ISY BRACHOT 35 Rue Guénégaud, Paris-óth. Tel.: 354.22.40

FELIX LABISSE 1951 - 1981

September 16 - November 6, 1982 ≃

Kinetic art Paintings, sculpture GRAND PALAIS CHAMPS-ELYSEES Av. Winston-Churchill 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. - until Oct. 17 mm

GALERIE LA CAVE ...

7 Rue de Miromesnii 75008 - Tel.; 2654066

JAPAN

GRANDS ET JEUNES

D'AUJOURD'HUI

SERGIO TELLES = Sept. 16 - Oct, 16 ===

LONDON ALWIN GALLERY 9-10 Grafton Street, Bond Street, W.1. 01-499 0314. London's Leading Sculpture Gallery

LEFEVRE GALLERY 30 Bruton St., W1, 01 493 1572/3, XXII CENTURY WORKS OF ART Monday-Friday 10-5. Sats. 10-1.

COMING IN NOVEMBER

ARTS & ANTIQUES

a special supplement by the International Herald Tribune

For advertising information

contact: Françoise Clément International Hetald Tribune 181 Ave Charles-de-Gaulle 92521 Neuilly Cedex

France Tel.: 747.12.65. Telex: 613595. or your local IHT representative.

AUCTION SALES

Geneva

IMPORTANT AUTUMN SALES 1982

JEWELLERY, GOLD BOXES. MINIATURES, FABERGE, RUSSIAN ART, WATCHES. SILVER, ART NOUVEAU AND ART DECO.

PORCELAIN AND WINE. Deadline for inclusion

Please contact:

September 30th, 1982

8 Place de la Taconnerie. 1204 Geneva Tel: (022) 28 25 44 Christie's France S.A.R.L.

17 Rue de Lille

Tel.: (01) 261 1247

Tel.: (01) 69 05 05 Christie's Amsterdam B.V. Cornelis Schuytstrant 57 1071 JG Amsterdam

Tel.: (020) 642 011

Steinwiesplatz

8032 Zurich

Maoson & Woods (Belgium) Ltd. 33 Boulevard de Waterloo 1000 Brussels

Tel.: (02) 512 8765

on & Woods Ltd... 8 King Street, St. James 8, London SWIY 60T Tel.: (01) 839 9060

Christie's Fine Art Auctioneer since 1766

Christie's (International) S.A. Christie's (International) A.G.

Herald Cribune

Grace, the Real Thing

One way to estimate an American's age is whether he calls the beautiful blonde who died this week Grace Kelly or Princess Grace. If the former, he is old enough to remember the McCarthy investigations, liking Ike, the suburban dream and the remarkable sangfroid of a young woman swamped by re-porters as she sailed to Europe to marry a prince. When one of them asked if she spoke French, she replied, "Comme ci, comme ca" — as always, giving the public no more than she thought it proper for it to know.

At the time she was a film star, but already of so queenly a mien that it seemed lese majesté when a presenter called her "Gracie" during the Academy Awards ceremony at which she was honored for "The Country Girl." The title she acquired by marriage, "Her Serene Highness," suited her as well as the "It Girl" and the "Oomph Girl" had suited her predecessors on the American screen. Grace Kelly the actress would have enchanted Henry James the novelist. The young American he sent to Europe. Daisy Miller. was as much a victim of New World gaucherie as of malaria. But the Old World doesn't appear to have fazed this grandchild of poor immigrants. Miss Kelly was a far more credible royal than most royalty, like the Cockney model in another Henry James story, "The Real Thing," who posed a far more convincing aristocrat for a painter than the society woman he had first hired.

If a profoundly democratic society like ours was proud that an American became a much-publicized princess, it is not because Americans are closet monarchists. Instead it is because Americans think this particular princess was best of class.

-THE NEW YORK TIMES.

U.S. Military Spending

For the second time in recent weeks, the Reagan administration has run up against congressional resistance to additional Pentagon spending. Last week the president was defeated in a request for a $2-billion increase for the rest of this fiscal year when Congress overrode his veto of the supplemental appropriations bill. This week the argument is over administration resistance to 1983 military spending limits set in the budget process.

From the perspective of Senate Republican leaders, much more is at stake than the defense budget itself. There is, of course, room for doubt that the administration's military strategy is so finely honed that a few billion dollars can be crucial to its success. Nor has the administration made a case that any particular cut cannot be tolerated. But the issue that has given pause to so staunch an administration supporter as Sen. Ted Stevens, chairman of the Appropriations subcommittee on defense, is whether the administration is a reliable partner in congressional efforts to control the budget.

The budget resolution that Congress and the administration signed off on last June called for trimming several billion dollars from the amount the president wanted for defense in 1983. This year Congress put very strict controls on the appropriations committees to make sure that the bills written for each program area stayed within the limits of the budget resolution. The final allocation public in late July.

On Aug. 3, OMB Director David Stockman told the Senate Budget Committee that the administration not only agreed to those allocations — including defense — but would use them as the benchmark against which to judge whether the president should veto an appropriations bill. Now the administration claims that it did not understand the implications of the allocations, and Defense Secretary Weinberger has refused to supply a plan to meet the lower target.

The administration apparently hopes that by taking a hard line with Congress — which has always found it hard to deal with the defense budget in other than pork-barrel terms - it will win out in the rush to keep the government operating while Congress adjourns to prepare for the November elections. Senate leaders, however, have good reason to push for a compromise that conforms with both the spirit and the letter of the budget resolution. If the agreement on military spending is violated, control over congressional decisions in other parts of the budget will be greatly weakened. Congress will also have relinquished the only real leverage it has to persuade the administration to develop a coherent strategy for improving America's defenses without imposing intolerable strains on the federal budget.
— THE WASHINGTON POST.

Other Editorial Opinion

Bashir Gemayel Is Gone

Among the sinister news items of which this year has been so full, here is perhaps the worst. Not that Bashir Gernayel was a saint come down from some stained glass window to provoke our tears with his virtue. He was first of all, like most Lebanese politicians, a clan leader and not especially squeamish as to the methods he used. But it happens that this fighter also had a political brain. He had understood that if he was to become president of Lebanon he would have to be president of the Lebanese, and not only of the country's Maronite Christians - who, furthermore, are more deeply divided than is self elected by representatives of all the country's religious communities. One began to hope again. Evacuation of West Beirut was carried out without the slightest incident. The Israelis drew back their tanks. The Lebanese Army reappeared. With that ardor for life the instant the fire storm ends that they share with the inhabitants of volcanic regions, the people of the capital began clearing the ruins with the help of bulldozers rushed in from Saudi Arabia.

After so many years of civil war, many people had despaired of Lebanon. Still, for some time now, a year perhaps, one had sensed, in the face of so much misery, the rebirth of a national consciousness, a desire to surmount passions, prejudices, hatreds, and restore to the country of the cedar its old role as the Switzerland of the Near East, where Maronite and Orthodox Christians, Shiite and Sunni Moslems, Druze, Jews and Armenians once lived in peace.

Bashir Gemayel, who had a sharp mind, grasped this movement and banked on it. The Israeli invasion, in which he had the wisdom not to let his troops take part, gave him his chance. Scarcely back from hell, many Lebanese, and with them many friends of Lebanon, began to dream; Reconstruction was going to start any minute ...

- André Fontaine in Le Monde.

At the time of his death he was steering a canny course down the middle - between Moslem demands that he repudiate peace with Israel, and Tel Aviv's increasing pressure for a piece of paper, signed and scaled.

The thread that runs through all Israeli foreign policy is that you never take risks with Arabs, of whatever religion. Rather than aim for the possible prize of a united, friendly Lebanon, which might turn out to be neither united nor friendly, why not take what was more easily available — another swipe at the Syrians, knock them back militarily for a few more years, and use a large chunk of southern Lebanon as a buffer? Now that Bashir is gone, the hand of those who argue in this way will certainly be strengthened.

Lebanon has few effective leaders and very little time in which to find them. Asked who might be responsible for the killing, a Phalange official said: "There are just too many people who want to keep this country in a mess

- Martin Woollacott in The Guardian

Calm Beauty, Blithe Elegance

It may be argued that Grace Kelly, whose career on the screen stopped just short of a dozen films, never really left the stage, although she retired from acting when she married and could not be persuaded to return.
"Why should she?" asked Gary Cooper, one of her leading men. "She's moved from the artificial stage to a real one."

Indeed, her life fascinated, even if its details were brief. Her reputation grew with every movie that she did not make, and, as Her Serene Highness the Princess Grace of Monaco, her polish and charm sustained the image of a fairy-tale marriage. She was not named Grace for nothing. F. Scott Fitzgerald once complained that there are no third acts in American lives: Grace Kelly's life, in fact, contained four: delicate daughter of a hearty Philadelphia Irish family, Hollywood, royal retirement to Monte Carlo, and now her trag-ic death in an automobile accident at age 52. This is the sort of progress that captures the imagination. We like to believe that a commoner, especially an uncommon one, can be swept off her feet by a prince and live happily be shattered as easily as it is painted.

What has Grace Kelly left us? Perhaps most important, a thin but exquisite portfolio of film roles that will beguile and enchant for years to come: her fresh innocence in "High Noon," her alluring humor in "To Catch a Thief," her poignant and unexpected depths of emotion in "The Country Girl," for which she won an Academy Award as best actress in 1955. And an enduring image of calm beauty and blithe elegance.

— The Las Angeles Times.

SEPT. 18: FROM OUR PAGES 75 AND 50 YEARS AGO

1907: Dealing With the Moors

PARIS - The Herald editorial says: "Gen. Drude's negotiations in Morocco with the delegates of the tribes are proceeding apace. To judge from the conditions he imposes, his intention is to remove all temptation from the turbulent Moors to recommence their ex-ploits. France employed half a century in the conquest of Algeria, and then her hands were free, whereas in Morocco the Act of Algerias trammels her action. The Moors are a proud and independent people, and no treaty that delivers any portion of their land to a for-eigner can be long binding on them. In this case, as in Algeria, France has embarked upon an adventure that will probably be long and will certainly be costly.

1932: Economies in New York

NEW YORK -- Mayor Joseph McKee, contiming his drive for municipal economy, struck a blow at the upholstered luxuries of department heads and commissioners in an order to abolish the city's private auto fleet. in which scores of officials heretofore have been carried to and from work. Himself a user of the subway, the mayor said he could see no reason why other officials could not use the underground, and ordered that city cars were to be used for city business only. The mayor, whose whirlwind campaign to cut expenses is causing gasps of astonishment at City Hall, also instructed the department of sanitation to put members of the street cleaners' band back at street sweeping.

JOHN HAY WHITNEY (1904-1982), Chairmon KATHARINE GRAHAM and ARTHUR OCHS SULZBERGER, Co-Chairmen

PHILIP M. FOISIE WALTER WELLS ROBERT K. McCABE SAMUEL ABT

LEE W. HUERNER, Publishes Executive Editor Editor Deputy Editor Deputy Editor Associate Editor

ROLAND PINSON RENE BONDY FRANÇOIS DESMAISONS RICHARD H. MORGAN Director of Finance Director of Circulation
Director of Advertising

International Herald Tribune, 181 Avenue Charles de Gaulle, 92200 Neailly-sur-Scine, France Telephone 747-1265. Telex 612718 (Rerald). Cables Herald Paris.

Directeur de la publication: Walter N. Thayer.

General Manager. Asia: Alain Lecour. 24-34 Hennessy Rd. Hong Rang. Tel. 5-28 So 18. Telex 6/170.

S.A. au capital de 1.200.000 F. R.C.S. Nanterre B 732021126. Commission Puritaire No. 34231.

U.S. subscription: $256 yearly. Second-class postage paid at Long Island City, N.Y. 11101.

© 1982, International Herold Tribune. All rights reserved.

THE SUPERPOWERS WILL SPEND ONE MILLION DOLLARS PER MINUTE ON ARMS THIS YEAR.

PARIS — The dispute between Americans and Europeans over the Siberian natural gas pipe-line has had such an effect that some people suggest that the entire gamut of trans-Atlantic rela-tions depends on it. Yet, with all the problems that have to be dealt with together, reason must be brought into the picture. A family quarrel, as Pres-ident Reagan called it, cannot be allowed to cause damage out of all proportion to the issue.

First, let's disregard all the imputed intentions and look at the facts. The pipeline question started several years ago when the French government was looking for ways to secure a dependable, and thus diversified, source of energy for a country with few energy resources of its own. The first answer was nuclear power (and France has firmly followed this option), but that was not enough. There was still a need to import huge amounts of hydrocarbons.

There then emerged the danger of overdependence on crude oil. Independence mandated a substantial use of natural gas.

Deeply concerned with maintaining its indeworld supply, carefully determined how much gas it could import from the Soviet Union to complete a systematically diversified energy picture. When the program is completed, Soviet gas will account for only 5 percent of France's energy consumption.

Furthermore, technical measures will be imposed so that we can promptly offset an interruption of Soviet supplies. Our European partners have reafields made bids to supply the equipment. Why should Soviet companies or Soviet workers be the only ones to benefit from industrial contracts of

It is true that the risk of energy dependence is not the only argument that has been advanced by U.S. critics of the pipeline. For some time now

Washington has been telling us that trade with the Soviet Union would enable that country to acquire foreign currency and thus the means to enhance its military strength and consolidate its domination

over Eastern Europe despite considerable economic difficulties. Washington's conclusion has been that trade with the Soviets must be curtailed in

The French government has given its view of this reasoning. Of course we firmly rule out any form of cooperation that would contribute directly to Soviet military power. In late 1981 France was Naturally, European firms in the appropriate soned as we have, and have acted as we have.

this size that we ourselves have placed?

e. France, after a thorough study of the

The PLO Poses a Political Threat

PARIS — There is an old warning that one should be careful for what one prays, since one may get it. Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin had long and fervently prayed for the removal of the military threat posed to his country by the Palestine Liberation Organization. He took energetic steps to see that his prayers would be fulfilled, and so they were. There is no longer a PLO military threat to Israel. There is now a political threat, of a scale which never before existed. The pope, President Reagan, the presidents of Greece, Italy and France, and other West Europeans all in one or another way have now acknowledged or lent support to the notion that a Palestinian political entity must be recreated. If this happens, it inevitably will be at the expense of Israel, as Israel now exists, or of Israeli security as the government of Israel now conceives of its security.

Moreover, Israel for the first time in its history finds itself roughly treat-ed by the world press, for what has happened in Lebanon and goes on happening. It has been placed on the defensive, and it discovers that a real rift has been opened among its sup-porters in America, many of whom anisance. Its rockets and shells en-

The Pipeline Spat, Viewed From France

By Claude Cheysson

The writer is French minister of external relations.

active in defining measures for strict control over the transfer of sensitive technologies. France repeated its determination in this respect at the Version that descended on Poland, and has acted accordingly. French public opinion would never agree to privileged trading conditions for the Soviet Union and its allies in Eastern Europe in the absence of progress in East-West relations. Financial and banking difficulties have been responsible for a sharp drop in commercial and economic exchanges. Those between France and the Soviet Un-

When economic pressure is used as a weapon, the first victims are often ion declined 30 percent from early 1981 to early 1982, while those between the United States and

But we do not believe in the effectiveness of sanctions. Punitive measures, which are necessarily limited, are not the way to persuade Soviet leaders likely to be those employing it.'

the Soviet Union rose more than 50 percent.

of security and sound finance

France unconditionally condemned the repressailles and Bonn summit meetings in June.

By William Pfaff

Now That Begin Has Had His Way,

can no longer in good conscience supdetermined settlement of the West school, seize hostage Bank with Jewish colonists.

The Israelis protest that the world press pays too much attention to casualties in Lebanon and neglects the civilians killed in Israel by earlier PLO attacks. Let it then be said that the PLO has repeatedly attacked not only Israeli civilians but Jews abroad, and non-Israelis who merely happened to be in the Palestinians' way.

A Nuisance

By credible accounts, they have trained and armed apprentice terrorists from Europe, Japan, even the United States. They have been unscrippulous in what they have done.

But they have not done much. Even the official Israeli press spokesmen have to include European victims of terrorism in their totals of the PLO's crimes in order to get the number into three figures.

The PLO, whatever its stocks of arms in the refugee camps, was never a direct military threat to Israel of ous attempt here to extend one government's power in both space and time. It is hardly conducive to the climate of confidence necessary for interna-

For the immediate future, the French government and the three other European governments concerned are reacting within their national sovereignties. They have expressed the desire to see freely negotiated and signed contracts respected, and have asked companies in their countries to disregard foreign injunctions. In France, a 1959 order provides for requisition of goods and services for "the needs of the country" and thereby

There is nothing surprising about these reactions. Imagine for a moment how it would be if the situation were reversed: France, West Germany, Italy or Britain presuming to forbid a U.S. company from honoring a contract signed with South Africa, Guatemala or some other country. No one in Washington would hesitate to urge the Ameri-

of the four European states implies that our alliance and the community of interests uniting us within it are in any way called into question.

France recognizes the pre-eminent role played by the United States in defending Western civilization. But the alliance is an association of sovereign

Consequently, nothing in the common reaction can company in question to ignore such an order.

for honoring regular contracts when due.

tional transactions in liberal econom dangered the people on Israel's north-ern border. Its suicide squads, bands of desperate men, would infiltrate the port Israel's policy in Lebanon, or its country to blow up a bus, seize a What they did not do, because they could not, was jeopardize Israel's essential military security. The PLO's tactics were those of weakness, in default of anything serious to do. The PLO was isolated politically. Until the last few months, the Palestinians' only allies were the Arabs and the Soviet bloc, neither able to give them effective help to gain their goals. The European Community had declared that the Palestinians had a right to a homeland, but this meant little since the Europeans have little to say in the Middle East. The United States refused to consider the Palestinians as other than refugees with homanitarian claims. But now, thanks to Menachem Beein and Defense Minister Ariel Sharon, the Palestinian case has been in the headlines for months. The PLO has been enabled to make the claim that it, and it alone, among the Arabs, has successfully stood up to Is-raeli military attack. The legitimacy of the Palestinians' claim to a homeland in historical Palestine has found and in instruction retesting as found explicit or implicit acknowledgment in nearly all the Western capitals. Even the United States, vital to Israel, has now given qualified recognition to the Palestinian claim.

Furthermore, as a direct result of the invasion of Lebanon and its aftermath, the Arab League, at its meeting in Fez, proclaimed every Middle Eastern nation's right to cost in peace—as it never before had been willing to do. This indirect recognition of Israel's existence, gradging and limited as it is undercuts israel's previous claim that its own intransigence is essential because the Arabs refuse to let Israel ive.

So an Israeli might well say, "Bravo Menathem Begin!" Many more such Israeli victories and the Pales tinians will have won the day.

A Defeat

One might even think that, on the results thus produced, Israel's voters might reasonably mm Mr. Begin and Gen. Sharon out. They have managed to turn a perfectly tolerable, indeed advantageous, Israeli situation with respect to the Palestinians encamped in Lebanon into a costly political de-feat, at serious cost in Israeli lives and much greater cost to the innocent which even now goes on.

Do Israeli voters understand what has happened? One thinks not. Mr. Begin's support seems to be solider than ever. It is the opposition Labor Party, with its support derived mainly from the Europeanized community, demographically in decline.

There is another old warning, against hubris, or the arrogance which leads one to overreach oneself.
The risk for Israel today, which arises spontaneously from the terrible expe-nence of the Jewish people in 20th century Europe and from the besieged circumstances in which the Israelis have been forced to live, is that the Israeli government will lose that grasp of limit, of possibility, which is essential to good policy — the know-ledge of when to stop. Without that again what it has just done in Lebanon, which is to call into being exactly those things which it most fears. International Herald Tribune.

Ten

Sale Marie M

E 12 .

Service To

The 1950s in America: A Destructive Prelude

By George F. Will

WASHINGTON — Nostalgia white man who had a black sound W can reflect failure of nerve, a flinching from an arduous present. But Jeffrey Hart's new book recalling life in the 1950s — Comets recorded "Rock Around "When The Going Was Good!" — the Clock" for the movie "Black feel. I could make a billion dollars." Then he found Elvis. In 1955 Bill Haley and the Comets recorded "Rock Around the Clock" for the movie "Black feel." is constructive nostalgia.

Hart, an academic who helps edit National Review magazine, counters the view that the '50s tailfins and all that - revealed America's crassness. For the intelligentsia, Ike and America were "the bland leading the bland." For Hart, "Not since the 1920s had so much been happening, both in popular and high culture." Enriching the life of the mind were distinguished novelists (Faulkner, Hemingway), poets (Eliot, Frost), theologians (Niebuhr, Tillich) and painters (Hopper, Pollock) who made Manhattan the art capital of the world.

"Eisenhower's smile," writes Hart, "was almost a philosophic statement." Some people who wanted to supplement the smile with conservative ideas were casting seeds on stony soil. The em-blematic intellectual of the '50s, Lionel Trilling, had written in "The Liberal Imagination" (1949) that "liberalism is not only dominant but even the sole intellectual tradition." There were, he said, no conservative ideas in circulation.

Television

But in 1953 Russell Kirk published "The Conservative Mind," and in 1955 William F. Buckley Jr. launched the magazine (National Review) that, a quarter century later, was the president's favorite. In October 1951 Lucille Ball began television's first long-running situation comedy. Soon Lucy was, er, "expecting" (CBS banned the word "pregnant"); 44 million people watched the episode "Lucy Goes to the Hospital" — twice the number who watched Ike being inaugurated the next day.

In 1953 Hugh Hefner launched Playboy, In 1957 Searle pharmaceutical company launched Enovid - "the pill." Three books of the '50s - "The Kinsey Report," "Peyton Place" and "Lolia" suggested what was increasingly on America's mind

A Memphis record producer re-peatedly said: "If I could find a board Jungle." Rock was lastingly identified with youth unruliness. Like Hart, I was a happy lad in the '50s, which glow in my memory. But Hart does not refute the accusation that those years were pregnant with the impulses that were to make the '60s so dreadful. Infantilism

In his nicely named final chapter, "From the Clock at the Biltmore to LSD," Hart acknowledges that "the great shift in style and emotion" was gestating during the '50s. While we were "meeting un-der the clock," Hart notes, there was a mass market for books anticipating the anxieties of the '60s about the suffocation of individuality and spontaneity by social structures and pressures: David Reisman's "The Lonely Crowd" (1950), C. Wright Mills "White (1950), C. Wright Mills "White Collar" (1951), Sloan Wilson's "The Man in the Gray Flamed Suit" (1955), William Whyte's "The Organization Man" (1956). James Dean's portrayal of an "alienated" teen-ager in "Rebel

Without a Cause" (1955) popularized the kind of pouting that selfabsorbed youths in the '60s confused with politics. Hart rightly erophasizes the vi-tality of the '50s. But perhaps the going was good because the going was easy and standards of good were not demanding. America had unchallengeable military superiority, yet settled for stalemate in Korea. It had an economic head start on a world recovering from war, yet was soon panting.

The infantilism — impatience. hedonism, inability to defer gratification - that produced the cultural dissolution of the '60s beloed give rise to the inflation of the 70s. Those failings gathered force in the 50s. Some of that decade's vitality was license - a letting go after so much bearing down in De-pression and war. The great release of energy in the '50s had a destructive dimension, reflecting a col-lapsing capacity for discipline. The Washington Post.

Richard Huszagh raises two issues, terrorism and the Soviet gas pipeline, that the government is insensitive to #### nations — the Washington Treaty is not the War-saw Pact. We are an alliance, not a "bloc." to change policies that we condemn. The Soviet Union's economic relations with Western Europe Diversity and freedom of judgment are elements account for only a tiny part of its gross domestic from which we draw pride and strength in our asproduct. The authoritarian organization of the Sosociation. Joint consultations among all members viet economy enables the government to focus its of the Atlantic Alliance are fundamental. Apart efforts on priority sectors chosen by the leaders. So there is little sense in following a policy of trade restrictions that go beyond the imperatives from the more or less binding commitments resulting from treaties, no decision may be imposed by one power on the other. In the context of the present dispute between When economic pressure is used as a weapon, the first victims are often likely to be those em-Europeans and Americans, we regret the incentives to the Soviets to speed up their own technological ploying it. In the case of the gas pipeline, would endeavors: we also regret that fundamental princianyone consider it normal for a few European ples of the market economy are being upset and companies to suffer a severe blow and for tens of that division is being created among the allies. thousands of workers to lose their jobs, when the Even more, we deplore the apparent challenge to work will go ahead in any case and the Europeans the existing balance among the members of the depend on its completion? Yet this would be the Atlantic Alliance through the claim to a particular One should also call to mind the conditions in member of the group, to the "leader." The time has which the American government is trying to impose on non-American firms an order to not reso pernicious in its consequences. spect previously signed contracts. There is a curi-Los Angeles Times,

to for the foreign of the party

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Nixon on Détente

Regarding "The Case For 'Hard-headed' Detente" (IHT, Aug. 23): Former President Richard Nixon writes that he strengthened his hand with the Russians by ordering the bombing and mining of Haiphong in North Vietnam, on the eve of his first summit meeting with Mr. Brezhnev. Yet Mr. Nixon concludes his article with the contention that "the very fact that a summit is approaching tends to inhibit the Soviet Union from engaging in adventurous prac-tices beforehand." If a theory of international relations is to be credible, its reasoning should be consistent. RANDY H. GRODMAN. Geneva.

Ambassador Defended

In response to "French Reaction" (Letters, Aug. 27):
I would like to raise a cheer for Evan Galbraith and the fine job he is doing. In recent months the American ambassador has been the target of a number of undeserved brickbats. An ambassador's job is to present the views of his government, and that is what he is doing — with clarity and good humor that have earned him the respect of the French government.

which, however regrettably, are viewed differently by Washington and Paris. Ambassador Galbraith is grams to improve living conditions, an advocate of Washington's views.

a favorite liberal slur. Having been in business in France for more than 22 years, I want to say a man of Ambassador Galbraith's caliber representing America. PHILIP J. WOLF.

Longiumeau; France.

On the Philippines

The IHT has of late been publishing reports on the Philippines that are inaccurate, tendentious, baseless or create false impressions of the actual situation in the country.

One describes the Philippines as if it were on the verge of civil war. The sporadic disturbances caused by the local Communists do not at all constitutions there is a constitution of the constitution. stitute a threat to the stability of the government. President Marcos characterized the leaders of this group as upstarts out to make noise just to gain recognition. The isolated forays they make hardly, if at all, affect the peace and order that generally reign.

Another leads the reader to think especially of the poor, and at the enormous amounts provided in the That Mr. Huszagh is tossing a par-tisan brickbat becomes evident in his budget for the purpose would show crack about the worth of training that the government has at heart the businessmen to be diplomats. This is economic and social well-being of its citizens. One should not neglect to consider the context of an economy adversely affected by a world ecothat I am proud and thankful to have nomic recession that has lowered the price of its raw material exports and increased its energy costs. Another presents a repressive regime in a distorted description of what is actually happening. As in many countries, there might be some lapses among the military, but these are very rare exceptions and are promptly corrected and severely punished under our laws. The recent arrests of labor leaders were not meant to terrorize labor; the leaders were being held for inciting rebellion and sedition punishable in accordance with constitutional processes. Regarding two editorials that you published on Sept. 16, it should be observed that President Marcos holds office in accordance with the constitution of the land and with a mandate from the people through the democratic instrument of elections.

FELIPE MABILANGAN, Ambassador of the Philippines. Paris. the Middle Case let effected to consider the same of the control o une Palestima de le monte de la companya de la comp is essential book by n Israeli night night nachem Repartit

A Defeat

might even that be-

thus produced bear

easonably un le le haron out They bear a perfectly wheth-ageons, Israel 🚾

t to the Palestone

anon into a contrat it serious con a le

प्रदेश का अधिक का का किए प्रदेश का अधिक का का

ch even now goson

israeli voters miss.

appened? One bester

SUPPORT STEER BUTE

ver. It is the opposite

With its support dainsthe Europeanies on re is another dile

incously from the texts:

ry Europe and from:

CONTRACTOR & WILL

of limit of position

ार्थ रूप हर्का क्वांज — हि

O. S per to see for unal il bas par doce abich is to calculate:

se things which court

araphically in dicine

to let Israel line

SATURDAY-SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 18-19, 1982

ECONOMIC SCENE

By LEONARD SILK

Toronto Leaves Banks Feeling Safer, but Danger Isn't Past

TEW YORK - These are juttery days on Wall Street and in that vast In financial network that stretches from Hong Kong to Frankfurt. To he sure, the big money men are feeling a bit more secure than they did before last week's meeting of the International Monetary Fund in To-nonto.

Robert V. Roosa, a partner in Brown Brothers Harriman and a former undersecretary of the Treasury, said the bankers arrived in Toronto "if not hopeless, then desperate," but went home feeling that they were not at the edge of the precipice. "There has been a steadying of nerves," he believes the largest problem is that of

But all the danger is not past. Mr. Roosa regards as "soportic" and "just plain cotton candy" an article written by Walter B. Wriston, Citecop's chairman, for the editorial-opinion page of The New York Times, in which Mr. Wriston argued that anxiety about foreign debt was misplaced because governments almost never repay their debts, domestic or foreign, but just keep rolling them over ad infinitum.

Mr. Wriston did concede that Anthony M. Solomon there might be a problem of "illipaidity" if governments did not have the cash flow to meet their current obligations, but not one of interbank deposits in Mr. Roosa said he feels that there is still a danger of a chain reaction in the financial system that a country such as Mexico that a country such as microco could trigger. He sees Mexico as the victim of its own "man-made devas-tation." The country, he said, has "no liquidity at all" now, whatever its ultimate solvency. He accuses outgoing President José López Portillo of demagoguery and of "putting all the blame on the banks so he can ride

A number of bankers, including central bankers such as Anthony M. Solomon, president of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, are concerned that, in a highly interdependent world banking system, there are uncovered gaps where banks could fail. Mr. Solomon said there is no clear understanding among the central banks on who has the responsibility to serve as lender of last resort to some foreign branches and subsidiaries of major banks.

He said he believes the largest problem is that of interbank deposits in the Eurodollar market. "Certain banks," he said, "are not backstopped by central banks.

Mr. Roosa said that, if the world situation is to be repaired, the IMF will have to play a strong leadership role at the center of the system, with the full support of the United States and other countries. The IMF's managing director, Jacques de Larosière, will have to manage an ex-tremely complex problem with skill and daring, Mr. Roosa stressed.

Anxious members of the financial community are also looking to Paul Volcker and the Federal Reserve to be skullful and bold in rescuing the U.S. economy from the slump, but without reviving inflation. Henry Kaufman, the chief economist of Salomon Brothers, whose forecast of declining interest rates three weeks ago kicked off the explosion in the stock market, said the Fed is moving toward a more pragmatic stance, for which he is thankful.

Ignoring Temporary Bulges

Mr. Kaufman said the Fed should end its "wedding to strict monetary growth," and the Fed insists that it has. Mr. Vokeker, the Fed chairman, says he was never a monetarist, but was ready to use whatever weapon came to hand when he was fighting to bring down the rate of inflation.

But the Fed now believes its credibility has been restored and that it can act flexibly, ignoring temporary bulges in the money supply and paying more attention to pushing down real interest rates to help the recovery. High-level Fed officials stress that they intend to keep the money supply growing at the upper end of the range the Fed has set for itself of 2½ to 5½ percent. They believe this will permit the economy to rise in the fourth quarter and achieve real growth of 3 to 31/2 percent next of the levis page. year. The United States is looking a lot better to foreign investors. Law rence Veit, an international economist at Brown Brothers Harriman, said foreign money did not set off the stock market run-up but did help

> The change in the Reagan administration's fiscal policy, marked by its support of the tax increase, has also won plaudits from the financial community abroad and at home, though the economic growth that lies ahead may be too stuggish to reduce unemployment or aid the Republican Party's political fortunes.

The New York Times

Troubled European Companies Total Debt AEG Telefunken (West Germany) $2,200 Electrical products LOKERYS CHEWAYS AEG-TELEFUNKEN Ranco Ambrosia 400 Banks, industrial holdings 359 Rollei Werke (West German) 300 217 Wienerwald 111 Van Delden (West Germany) 70 Textiles 24 Autos

Herald Eribune

BUSINESS / FINANCE

Europe's Rash of Collapsed Firms

By John Tagliabuc ew York Times Service

BONN - At no time since World War II has Europe faced such a flood of corporate failures.

Major companies in the headlines, such as Britain's Laker Airways, the trans-Atlantic carrier that announced its insolvency in February, and AEG-Tel-funken, West Germany's tottering electrical giant, are merely the best known of thousands of companies that have collapsed or are in severe financial straits. The figures vary by country and business sector, but the trend is clear throughout Europe. In Belgium, corporate failures increased by 15.8 percent last year, and in France, by 20.3 percent. In Britain, insolvencies were up 26.4 percent; in West Germany, 27.4 percent. In the Netherlands, long a place of enviable prosperity, 42 percent more companies failed last year than in the year before.

By all indications, the first half of 1982 brought little respite. In England, Scotland and Wales, the number of insolvent companies increased by 21 percent. In West Germany, the number was 50 percent higher, and economists at Dresdner Bank estimated that perhaps 12,600 companies might close down this year, which would be a postwar record.

In France, the number of insolvencies was kept from exceeding last year's high only by government measures to defer the social security payments of financially troubled companies. But the end of a government-imposed price and wage freeze in October is expected to mark a new round of wage increases, and with it a rise in bankruptcies. Financial experts agree that the rash of corporate failures is largely the result of financial strains caused by the prolonged recession and the high cost of bor-

"In the last 10 to 15 years, industry's capital base has been shrinking," observed Gerhard Riedel, chief economist at Frankfurt's Berliner Handels- und Frankfurter Bank, Because of low earnings and a lack of venture capital, he said, companies have relied increasingly on borrowings to survive. At the same time, wages and social costs throughout Europe have climbed relentlessly.

'Now, high interest rates make loan service costly, and the recession is squelching sales," he added, "so a lot of companies are going under."

An economist at Amsterdam's Amro Bank agreed.
"It is quite simply a result of Europe's deep, long

The recession has stifled consumer spending, he added, driving retail businesses into receivership, while high interest rates on mortgages have crushed bankruptcies in the West German construction field increased by 148 percent from the first half last year. Moreover, other bankers note, enterorising Europeans exploited the prosperous 1970s to open thousands of small businesses, from boutiques to book-

(Continued on Page 9, Col.3)

Bonn Crisis Prompts Share Surge

FRANKFURT — The collapse of the Bonn government coalition led to one of the strongest rallies in stock exchange Friday.

The Commerzbank index of 60 shares rose 7.7 to 704.9, the highest since the middle of May. And dealers said the index, calculated mid-session, missed a second wave of buying orders.

Dealers said the memory of recent lean months was dispelled as investors sensed the approach of a more conservative administration.

The share rally, which started earlier in the week, gained strength after Chancellor Helmut Schmidt called for new elections. His proposal, cast aside by the coposition.

made a change in government likely. The main opposition party, the Christian Democrats, will negotiate with the Free Democrats to try to displace Mr. Schmidt's Social Democrats as the Free Democrats' coalition partners.

Adding to the stock market eu-phoria was a growing hope that the Bundesbank at its council meeting. Thursday may announce a further relaxation of its monetary policy through a reduction of the minimum cash reserves that banks

Some investment analysts said they believe that the rally is unlikely to be sustained, that many professional investors may take advantage of the rise to unload shares they no longer want.

The Frankfurt market largely re-versed the weak trend of the last month caused by the severe debt problems of AEG-Telefunken, West Germany's second biggest electronics firm, and concern over other credit failures abroad.

Blue-chip shares rose Friday by as much as 10 Deutsche marks ($4), led by those thought most likely to benefit from a change in government. Auto companies were among the leaders, with shares of

One analyst said hopes of a conservative administration could produce higher investment by compa-nies that have held back because of uncertainty over the Schmidt government's economic policy.

Bendix Says It Has Bought Controlling Marietta Stake

stock for $85 a share

NEW YORK — Bendix said ear-ly Friday that it had purchased a controlling interest in Martin Marietta, but the latter aerospace company declared that it was not de-leated yet and Wall Street analysts said the outcome remained un-

The Bendix announcement folcourt to permit Bendix to proceed with its offer for Marietta stock Marietta shareholders who had offered their stock to Bendix had un-til midnight Thursday night to withdraw their shares.

Bendix accompanied the an-nouncement with a cash offer for up to 70 percent of Martin Marietto 10 percent of Marian Marian ta stock, causing many investors to purchase Marietta shares. Bendix had previously said that it would pay cash for slightly over 50 per-cent of Marietta's stock.

Marietta stock.

Marietta vowed to press its own takeover attempt and disclosed that its directors had amended the company's bylaws to provide that written notice of any stockholders' meeting must be given at least 30 days before a meeting which pre-sumably would be necessary for Bendix to take control. Marietta said it expects to take control of Bendix "well within that time."

Bendix had said earlier in the week that 58 percent of Martin Marietta's stock had been tendered to it, and it had already owned 4.5 percent. It did not say how many Marietta shares were withdrawn before the Thursday night dead-

Later in the day, Bendix said a reliminary count indicated that it had purchased more than 19.3 mil-lion shares of Martin Marietta, Its previous 4.5-percent stake amounted to 1.63 million shares. A spokesman said the company would buy up to 4.6 million more shares to reach its goal of 70 per-

Marietta had a contractual agreement with its shareholders to purchase a controlling interest in Bendix if the latter took over Marietta. Such cross-ownership would likely lead to a lengthy court bat-

Bendix noted that Marietta had reserved its right to terminate its bid for Bendix if any changes were made in Bendix's bylaws. Bendix said it adopted two new bylaws Thursday. It also demanded that a special meeting of the two boards be called and that all of Marietta's directors resign so that a majority of directors from Bendix could be elected to the Marietta board.

Bendix demanded as well that arietta immedi a-share tender for Bendix and dissolve all its dealings with United Technologies, which has entered the fray on the side of Marietta. It also rejected United's latest bid for merger with United buying Bendix make the additional cash purchas-

Analysts said investors were placing large numbers of purchase orders for Martin Marietta based on the latest move by Bendix. Marietta stock rose more than $9 a share on the over-the-counter mar-ket Friday morning even before the New York Stock Exchange lift-red its delay of the issue.

The stock was among the most active Friday on the NYSE, closing with a gain of $8.625 to $46.25, indicating that investors saw the Bendix bid succeeding. Bendix closed at $53.875, down $3.75.

Analysts and risk arbitrage traders said there was still some ques-tion about how Bendix would

As things now stand, Martin Marietta might well be able to buy the 14.5 million shares of Bendix stock it says it has been tendered before Bendix could call a meeting of Marietta holders, as the withdrawal deadline for the Marietta offer for Bendix is midnight

Meanwhile, investors wondered whether United Technologies would continue to bid for Bendix under its agreement with Martin Marietta. United Technologies said Friday that it was "evaluating its options under its tender offer for Bendix."

NYSE Drops Sharply; Dow Off 10 Points

NEW YORK - Prices on the New York Stock Exchange fell sharply Friday as investors reduced their positions ahead of the weekly money supply figures. The Dow Jones industrial average was off only marginally until midasternoon, when the decline started to accelerate. The average closed with a decline of 10.86 points, to 916.94. Declines led advances by around two to one, and volume dropped to about 64 million shares from 78.9 million

The market also came under pressure in the afternoon from the report that U.S. housing starts dropped 16.2 percent in August.

The drop in housing starts fueled concerns that the economic recovery will not begin until at least the fourth quarter. Analysis noted that the August rally was sparked by the belief that the economy would turn around in the third quarter and that interest rates would continue to decline.

The projected bulge in the M-1 measure of the money supply, reported after the close, raised concerns that the Federal Reserve would tighten credit restraints. which could force interest rates

The most spectacular performance in the market was turned in by Martin Marietta, which soared 8% to 46% on turnover of about 1.5 million shares. The jump was caused by Bendix Corp.'s anenough Marietta shares to gain control of the company.

M-1 Shows Rise Of $4.3 Billion

Compiled by Our Staff From Dispatcher
NEW YORK — The basic U.S. money supply grew $4.3 billion in the week ended Sept. 8, the Federal Reserve said Friday.
The increase in M-1, which includes cash in the public hands and checking accounts in hins

and checking accounts, was in line with forecasts. Some analysts said the expected bulge would cause the Fed to make reserves scarcer and push the overnight rate for bank loans in the federal funds market higher than the 10.27 percent average of the week ended Sept. 15. But many others said the Fed would tolerate a large increase in view of its concern about the weakness of the economy.

Marietta said it would start purchasing Bendix shares as soon as possible under a counteroffer. Bendix fell 314 to 53%.

Crum & Forster also surged on takeover news. Forster's stock rose 3 to 44, adding to an 11½-point gain Thursday. The company said it is holding merger talks with another company, which it did not identify.

Technology stocks suffered from profit taking. Digital Equipment fell 14 to 844, Honeywell 24 to 80%, M/A-Com 1% to 16%, Teledyne 4% to 98 and Tandy 1%

IBM was an exception to the group, climbing % to 74%.

CURRENCY RATES

Interbank exchange rates for Sept. 17, excluding bank service charges. Dollar Values
Servency U.S.S | September | Currency Equiv.

0.442 Singupore S
0.8675 S. Arrican road
0.0014 S. Karcan won 0.009 Spoulsh pessel
0.1404 Swedish foren
0.0552 Tollwan S
0.0441 That book Asstration 5 Lottl
Australian 5 Lottl
Austrian schilling 17.9
Belgiet fin. franc 49.95
Casedion 5 L233
Douish frome 8.25
Fluxish reark 4.201
Greek drachese 70.90
Hour Kone 5 Lirish C 0.733

rilag; 1,2535 irish £ (a) Commercial franc. (b) Amounts needed to buy one yound. (*) Units of 1,000.

French Trying to Convince U.S. That Economic Plan Will Work

PARIS — As part of a concerted effort by the French government to persuade the Reagan adminis-tration and the U.S. business comminity that its austerity program will succeed, Jean-Pierre enement minister of research and industry, will hold talks with Vice President George Bush in Washington Monday, French offi-cials said Friday.

The six-day visit of Mr. Chevenement began Thursday and to include meetings with Treasury Secretary Donald T. Regan, Commerce Secretary Malcolm Baldings and William E. Brock, the U.S. trade representative. Mr. Chevenement is also scheduled to the chevenement is also scheduled to meet with John R. Opel, president of IBM Corp., and C.C. Garvin F. chairman of Exxon Corp.

Mr. Chevenement's visit, which was organized several months ago, is to be followed by trips to the United States by other French ministers, including Michel Rocard, minister of planning; Jean-

Pierre Cot, minister of cooperation, and Jacques Delors, minister of the economy and finance. Prime Minister Pierre Mauroy also is considering an official visit to Washington that could take place within two to six months, his aides said Friday.

"These visits, despite the fact that Mr. Chevenement's was planned earlier, reflect our current efforts to improve perceptions in the United States about our economic program of austerity and fighting inflation," a senior French government official said.

"Right now, our image in Amer-ica, particularly in the business community, is diquicting: People still perceive our program as being expansionist and inflationist, and we would like to correct this," he Considered together, the visits represent the highest-level direct contacts between the two countries at cabinet level since the Versaille summit last June, French and U.S. diplomatic officials said. The future of trans-Atlantic over such issues as European steel exports to the United States and the Siberian gas pipeline, also will be discussed during the visits, the diplomatic officials said.

But officials emphasized that the main aim of President Francois Mitterrand's government is to discuss its economic austerity program and to suggest increase cooperation between U.S. and French industry and research

Mr. Rocard plans to address the French-American Chamber of Commerce and the World Affairs Council in Los Angeles on Sept. 24. Mr. Rocard's visit, which is scheduled for Sept. 22 to 30, also includes talks with executives at Du Pont Co., Motorola Inc. and Dow Chemical.

Confirmation of the visits follow Wednesday's announcement by the government of a $4-billion Euromarket loan to defend the franc. which came in response to widespread speculation that a third devaluation of the franc might be not work.

And the second s

Jean-Pierre Chevènement

ssary. The franc has been steady in recent days; on Friday, it was quoted at about 7.07 to the U.S. dollar at midsession in New Nonetheless, there has been mounting criticism of the government's economic program by op-position leaders. During a televi-sion interview Thursday evening. former President Valery Giscard d'Estaing said the future would show that socialism in France does

British Inflation Rate Declines to 8 Percent

The Associated Press

LONDON — Britain's annual inflation rate, whose recent decline has been the one clear success of Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher's monetarist strategy, has fallen to 8 percent, the lowest in nearly four years, the government reported Friday. In the 12 months ending in August, prices rose by 8 percent, compared with 8.7 percent in the year ending the previous month. The 8percent rate is the lowest since Oc-

The inflation rate was unchanged in August for the second successive month. The government's retail price index also showed no increase in average prices during the month.

The 8-percent annual rate compares with a peak of 21.9 percent that was recorded a year after Mrs. Thatcher came to office in May 1979. A program of limiting credit and state spending in an effort to fight inflation became the lynchpin of her economic policy.

To the anger of labor unions

she has done little to fight a sharp rise in unemployment, which reached a post-Depression record of 13.8 percent last month. Leon Brittan, chief secretary to the Treasury, predicted that infla-tion will fall to below 7.5 percent by the end of the year. He said that nolding prices unchanged for two months in a row was an achievement unparalleled for 13 years. The government hoped the rap-id decline in inflation would bolster its attempts to contain pay settlements. It is locked in disputes with National Health Service workers, who are seeking a 12-percent increase, and coal miners, who want a 30 percent increase. Mrs. Thatcher wants pay raises held below 10 percent. Britain's inflation rate is now in line with the world average of 8.1 percent and below the European Community average of 10 percent. The government said equivalent annual rates elsewhere are 6.5 percent in the United States, 1.7 per cent in Japan, 16 percent in Italy, 11.9 percent in France and 5.6 percent in West Germany.

and opposition parties, however, Japanese Raising Sights Toward Key Role in World Aircraft Industry

By Tracy Dahlby

Washington Post Service TOKYO - After soaring into the wild blue yonder with its production of auto-mobiles and electronic gadgetry in the 1970s, Japan is preparing to launch itself into the upper echelons of the world aircraft industry in the 1990s.

With the strong backing of the government, Japan's industrial giants are pooling their technology and gathering up the huge amounts of financing needed for a takeoff into commercial aircraft production, one of the key knowledge-intensive areas in which the United States remains

Recently, the Japanese have demonstrated their flair for quality-control workmanship and reliability in making major parts for Boeing's new 767. Now, moving toward a larger stake in the development of Boeing's next-generation commercial jetliner, the Japanese are eager to shed their role as a subcontractor to the world's major aircraft producers.

"We've got the technological ability and the resolve to boost the Japanese aircraft industry into the ranks of the world's most Advanced aircraft makers, said Eitaro Murai, managing director of the Society of Japanese Aerospace Companies, an indus-ptry umbrella group. Mr. Murai, like other industry analysts

A Company of the Comp

in Japan, acknowledged that closing the technological gap, while possible, would be costly. But the biggest obstacle, he said, is the absence of a large enough domestic aircraft market to allow the country to build a strong export base as it has done in automobiles and shipbuilding.

In 1981, Japan's fledgling aircraft indus-try had $1.3 billion in sales — less than $ percent of global sales. Its growth has been hampered by its heavy reliance on military contracts from Japan's Self-De-fense Agency, although the share of defense-related sales shrank from 86 percent of total sales in 1979 to 78 percent last

If all goes according to plan — and Mr. Murai and others concede that is still something of a big "il" - the industry expects commercial aircraft sales to expand to as much as 50 percent of its business by the early 1990s and, measured at current prices, to top $5 billion.

For the moment, Japanese ambitions are welded to plans to take part in projects to develop the 150-seat short-haul jetliners now on the drawing boards at Boeing. McDonnell Douglas and Airbus Industrie. All three competitors have courted the Japanese industry for help in developing the next-generation aircraft and offset a sizable part of the estimated $2 billion to 3 billion it will take to get the project air-industry analysis and government officials say the Japanese have narrowed the field of potential foreign partners to Bocing, and may reached a broad agreement in talks with the company by the end of the year, if the powerful Ministry of International Trade and Industry has its way.

Virtually National Project

MITI has virtually elevated the 150seater deal to the level of a national project because of what officials view as its long-range implications for the development of new strategic industries that will provide the cutting edge for Japan's technologically sophisticated economy in the years shead.

"If Japan fails to realize this project," said Akira Yamazaki, assistant director to MITI's aircraft and weapons division, "we will have missed an opportunity to develop our technology in the field of large aircraft for the next 20 to 30 years." MITI is exerting strong influence bebind the scenes to organize Japanese aircraft companies for the project. Under its wing, Mitsubishi Heavy Industries,

Kawasaki Heavy Industries and Fuji

Heavy Industries agreed to underwrite 15 percent of the costs in developing Bocing's

For the 150-seater, however, the Japanese companies are demanding an ex-panded role that would involve them in all phases, including design, sales and after-sales servicing. MITI, which is offering substantial government subsidies to parti-cipants in the project, also wants to get Japan's giant trading houses into the act by using their global business network to help develop the sales and marketing apparatus for aircraft, which Japan now Talks are believed to be stuck on Boe-ing's demand that the Japanese shoulder 30 percent of the cost of developing the next-generation jetliner, while the Japanese insist on a stake of 20 to 25 percent. U.S. industry observers in Tokyo also suggested that it may prove difficult to include the Japanese in aircraft sales and servicing because of Boeing's dominance in those areas.

Spreading Financial Risks

In a bid to spread the financial risks more evenly among a large number of key companies, MITI has asked Nissan, Japan's No. 2 automaker, to participate in the venture. Nissan said last week that it 767. The role of the Japanese companies, had entered a broad tie-up agreement with which now pursue aircraft production Martin Marietta of the United States to only as a sideline, is largely restricted to obtain basic technology for the develop-producing the fuselage and other parts for ment of aerospace and defense-related the 767, under the terms of the agreement. Following that announcement, Nissan's president, Takashi Ishihara, indicated that the company is contemplating the leap into commercial aircraft production in line with efforts to diversify. Nissan offi-cials declined, however, to elaborate on the company's plans.

Major U.S. aircraft makers are not worried about Japan emerging as a serious ri-val anytime soon. But Willard A. Hughes, managing director of Boeing's Japanbased operations, said of the Japanese aircraft companies. "If government and industry were to make the commitment, I see no reason why they couldn't develop a competitive industry just as they have done in other fields."

Reflecting the widely accepted view in the industry in Japan that participation with foreign partners is the key step, a group of three Japanese companies launched a joint project three years ago with Rolls-Royce of Britain for the development of a fuel-saving, low-noise jet engine designed for use in a next-generation passenger jet of the 150-seater type.

In another international tie-up. Kawasaki Heavy Industries is putting the finishing touches on a multipurpose helicopter in collaboration with Messerschmitt-Bölkow-Biohm of West Germany.

The Bear Market in Silver is Over!

Incredibly low silver prices are forcing Canadian and US silver mining to grind to a halt. With silver prices back at 1967 levels in constant dollars, a full two dozen large silver producers have already closed. Even the great Star and Sunshine mines — two of the world's finest silver producers — were recently forced to close. Furthermore, the all-important secondary silver supplies are down even more sharply than mine production — off 32.7% (through May) from the This new someoze on silver sur has set the stage for 100%, 200% — even 400% — profits. A special new 9,000 word report spells out the hard facts behind the dramatic shift from silver surplus to silver shortage. This report, published by the SHVER & GOLD REPORT, books at the main forces converging on the silver market, and examines their likely impact on supply-demand fundamentals, investor sentiment, prices. and timing. Bearish factors are spelled

In addition, the report delves be hind the scenes to explain Poland's litthe known but important role in the silver mining industry... How Sol-idarity — the free Polish worker's union — is affecting silver prices... Why China's traditional role in the silver market is changing, and what impact it is now having on the silver market. Why the Soviet Union— one of the world's largest silver producers - is quietly importing silver through its Swiss bank. Moreover, a target price range for investors, with specific short- and interest rutes, and deflation.

long-term pricing and profit quidelines are given - each with step-by-step ex-In sum, this special in-depth report spells out why we think steep rives in silver prices are all but inevitable, what the countervailing forces are, and how to take advantage of this superb investment opportunity. Use the coupon below to get a free bonus copy of this report with a subscription to the SILVER & GOLD REPORT.

Silver & Gold Report, P.O. BOX 325, NEWTOWN, CT. USA 06470  [] Regular Subscription. One year, 24 issues, $134, plus free in-depth analysis of silver market. Second borns: Insider's Guide to Buring Silver & Gold, a $16, 56-page report check full of nitty-pritty, useful, how-to advice on buying, selling, and trading silver and gold.
introductory Subscription. Three months, 6 issues, $15 (a whomping $21 savings), plus in-depth report on salver market. IH21
☐ My check or money order is enclosed.  Please charge my ☐ MasterCard ☐ VISA Ami $

30 Day. l nconditiona Money-Back tFurries subscribers may pay either in USS or equivalent amount in other currency (hyperia subscriber) please add $10 per veur for airmal paying and handling)

to the control of the krico.

RINGFILL

The state of the s

LOS ANGELES — Pan American World Airways will carry out major new cost-cutting measures, including the reduction of its work force by 5,000 employees, in a bid to save between $500 million and $600 million annually and return to profitability next year, according to C. Edward Acker, chairman and chief executive.

Despite lower-than-expected passenger traffic, Mr. Acker said Thursday, Pan Am's survival is not in doubt, in part because it expects to more than triple its cash reserves within 60 days and halve its long-term debt by the middle of next year. "We will absolutely be in the black in 1983," Mr. Acker said.

Indonesia Firm Gets $600 Million Job

JAKARTA - Pt. Subentra Multi Petrokimia Indonesia has been awarded a $600-million contract for three units of Indonesia's $2-billion Aren Olefius petrochemical project in northern Sumatra, the government said Friday.

The initial $1.4-billion contract for the construction of the ethylene cracker and high and low density polyethylene plants was awarded late last year to a joint venture of Excon Chemical Co., the Indonesian state oil company Pertamina and Japan's Tonen Schiyu Kagaku.

Subentra will build and operate a 160,000-ton per year chloralkali plant, a 72,000-ton a year polyvinyl chloride unit and a 240,000-ton a year vinyl chloride monomer plant. Completion of the project is scheduled for 1985-86.

Air France to Trim Concorde Flights

PARIS - Air France announced Friday that it will suspend Concorde flights from Paris to Washington and Mexico City by the end of the year in a further scaling down of its money-losing services with the supersonic

The suspension will leave the Paris-New York route as the only regular Concorde service operated out of France with daily flights, it said. The date of the suspension will be announced later, the company said.

The decision is part of the austerity program the airline has instituted to improve its financial performance after an overall loss of 380 million fraces ($54 million dollars) last year. Early this year, Air France discontinued its Concorde flights to Rio de Janeiro and Caracas.

Malaysian Airline Reports First Loss

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia — The Malaysian Airline System re-corded a net loss of 39.15 million Malaysian dollars ($17 million) for the year ended March 31, its first loss since its inception in 1972, compared with last year's profit of 6.07 million dollars, the company said Friday. Chairman Raja Mohar Badiozaman blamed high operating costs and interest rates and the strengthening of the U.S. dollar.

Mexico's Alfa Fails to Pay Interest

NEW YORK — Mexico's largest private sector company, Grupo In-dustrial Alfa, said here Thursday that it cannot make a quarterly interest payment due Saturday to holders of its $75 million of floating rate notes,

Some of the company's subsidiaries ceased paying interest on their bank debt at the beginning of August. The company has not been repaying principal on its debt since the spring. But in early August, it said that it intended to continue paying interest on its Eurodollar floating rate

Banking sources said, however, that since then a further devaluation of the peso increased the burden of the company's foreign currency debt and led to a further review of its foreign commitments.

Bache Forms U.K. Futures Company

NEW YORK - Bache Halsey Stuart Shields Inc., a subsidiary of Prudential Insurance Co. of America, said Friday that it has formed a new company with Guinness Mahon and Co. Ltd., a London merchant bank, to handle financial futures dealings in London.

The new company, Bache Guinness Mahon Futures Ltd., will be a member of the London International Financial Futures Exchange, which is due to open Sept. 30.

Fiat-Allis to Halt Production at Plant

SPRINGFIELD, Illinois - Fiat-Allis Construction Machinery Inc. will indefinitely halt production at its Springfield plant and lay off some 1,100 workers this fall, according to company officials.

They said Thursday that the company will stop producing heavy machinery at the plant on Nov. 5 because of a lack of domestic orders.

Compiled From Agency Dispotches

IBM Security Drive Seen as a Message to Staff

By Andrew Pollack Sew York Times Service

NEW YORK - International Business Machines Corp. is waging a war, using its own security force, in an effort to keep competitors from exploiting IBM technology.

A bombshell in that war was exploded Tuesday when the comput-er giant decided to dismiss and sue three executives on charges of stealing corporate secrets.

According to IBM, the three ex-ecutives, including two senior engineers involved in designing IBM's personal computer, had formed a company, Bridge Technology Inc., to market products or designs for products that could be attached to the personal computer to enhance IBM, in announcing the suit, said it had gathered its evidence with the help of the president of a Cleveland computer company who pretended to negotiate with the employees while secretly taping his conversations with them.

The employees, who were dis-missed on Monday, have declined

Only three months earlier, IBM joined the FBI in an undercover operation that resulted in the arrests of executives of Hitachi Ltd.

and Mitsubishi Electric Corp. for allegedly stealing IBM secrets. Analysts said the two big IBM cases this year were not much different from other corporate espionage incidents in the computer industry. But IBM, they said, was attempting to capitalize on the cases to warm others.

against Tokyo-based Hitachi and National Semiconductor, based in Santa Clara, California, to keep them from using the data, to force the return of the allegedly stolen

The company, which filed the action in U.S. District Court in San Francisco, said the suit was brought only after out-of-court dis-cussions between representatives

Spinnerei, a maker of yarns, filed bankruptcy suits this year. Britain offers a host of examples: Jane Eyre Ltd., a textile manufacturer; Madam Butterfly Ltd., a dressmaker, and Clive Shilton

Ltd., a maker of women's handbags, were among the year's liqui-

Goods From Asia Furthermore, Asian manufacturers, fresh from sales victories in the United States, have invaded

Western Europe with electrical and electronics products, optical goods, and automotive and other products. West Germany's Rollei

Camera Co. and Braun AG, a material and to obtain damages.

"IBM is sending a message to its employees that Big Brother is watching," said Dale Kutnick, research director of the Yankee cause IBM has technology that can attach to or take the place of the thousands of IBM computers now in operation. But doing that no operation in many in-Group, a Boston consulting and #### market research firm that follows the computer industry. The reason others want to get IBM secrets is not so much be-

SAN FRANCISCO — Interna-tional Business Machines Corp. says it has sued Hitachi Ltd. and National Semiconductor Corp. — but not Mitsubishi Corp. — in connection with the alleged theft failed to reach a settlement. IBM, based in Armonk, New York, said it did not intend to sue Mitsubishi Corp., although four of its employees were also indicted in connection with alleged thefts. IBM's attorneys "have concluded of advanced computer secrets that that there is no basis to believe that Mitsubishi Electric has any came to light last June after an FBI "sting" operation. IBM said Thursday that it acted illegally acquired IBM property," IBM and Mitsubishi said in a joint

Hitachi and 14 of its employees were indicted by a federal grand jury in California last June on charges of conspiring to obtain illegally confidential documents and materials for an advanced IBM computer. Mitsubishi and its four employees were indicted in July on charges of conspiring to nological follower in many in-

Amsterdam

What IBM does have is the biggest market share in the computer industry. Companies can flourish merely by making products that transport stolen IBM secrets.

tional Advanced Systems, National Semiconductor's computer marketing arm, were indicted in separate cases on allegations that they stole documents from IBM and amount IBM wants in damages.

But it says the company should be awarded three times the damages with additional punitive damage lawyers' fees and court costs.

■ Hitachi to Defend Itself

the groundlessness of the charges," Reuters reported from Tokyo.

later sold them to Hitachi.

Two former employees of Na-requires a constant knowledge of IBM's plans. The security force that IBM has recruited to light its war is heavily laden with former FBI agents.

IBM in a court affidavit said it spends more than $50 million a year on security. IBM Sues Hitachi, U.S. Company Its Information Systems and

COMPANY REPORTS

Revenue and profits, in millions, are in local currencies unless otherwise indicated. The suit does not specify the Canada it is able to prove in a trial, along 1982 2,830. 279,4 United States Hitachi said Friday that it "will vigorously defend itself and prove

The agreement involves 11 Westinghouse plants, 10 in the United States and one in Mexico. Communications Group has more than 400 employees who work essentially full time on security-relat-The plants make light bulbs for consumers and industrial and aued matters, IBM said. tomotive markets.

Philips Corp.

The transaction, which is subject to U.S. government review, is expected to be completed in about

N.A. Philips

To Purchase

Lamp Plants

PITTSBURGH --- Westinghouse

Electric Corp. said Friday it has agreed to sell its Westinghouse Lamp business to North American two months.

Meanwhile, Philips Electronics Ltd. of Canada plans to acquire Westinghouse Canada's Lamp business. Westinghouse Canada is a unit of Pittsburgh-based Westinghouse Electric.

Robert E. Kirby, Westinghouse chairman, said the company would receive a total of about $200 million in cash and notes from both transactions.

"Westinghouse has not been able to generate satisfactory profit margins or return on investment in the lamp business in recent years," Mr. Kirby said.

ys igt iac fu ; t c

łc

Europe Sees Little Respite From Flood of Failing Firms

dations.

(Continued from Page 7) shops, on borrowed money. Togloomy economic environment is forcing many to close.

Analysts disagree, however, on the potential long-term effects of the upheaval. Some view it as a process of natural selection that will assure leaner, more competitive industries. Others fear that the financial bloodletting and the unemployment it causes might lessen the ability of surviving companies to rebound.

Bankers say the problems of AEG, which filed for receivership last month, reflect the financial difficulties of smaller companies, Expansion costs in recent years cut sharply into AEG's capital base, and lagging profits forced a reli-ance on bank loans that led to a debt burden of $2.2 billion. But other factors are contributing to the insolvencies. European industry is undergoing profound structural shifts caused mainly by an influx in recent years of lowerpriced products from low-wage countries closer to the sources of raw materials and energy.

"Many companies are disappearing simply because the markets they serve are saturated, or because cheap overseas manufacturers now supply the mass staple goods they once made," a Frankurt bank economist said. Foreign competition has deci-mated Europe's textile industry. manufacturer of hi-fi equipment, closed this year. In Britain, Sonic Sound Audio, a hi-fi equipment retailer, and Lesney Products, the die caster of matchbox toys, have been forced into receivership by a flood of cheaper imports from

The present upheaval has been made worse, some economists say, by corporate weaknesses that have their roots in past government and labor union policies. "Most of our mistakes stem from the early 1970s," said Ulrich Schröder, an economist at West-deutsche Landesbank in Düsseldorf. "There was the slogan about testing industry's breaking point. There were double-digit wage in-creases every year and sharp in-West Germany's Van Delden, a creases in many forms of corporate

Other Markets Sept. 17 Singapore Milan Froser Inc. Index : 2472.00 Previous : 2445.01 Justiez Eaux (C Gle) Elf-Aquitaine Zurich Tokyo

Frankfurt 51214 1.2514 0.75 1.14 1.43 Apefi Index : 118,41 Previous : 110,48 SBC Index :274.38

group, and Kammgarn taxation. High Law Cless China Toronto Canadian Stock Markets High Law Clean Criss SZRA ZNL ZNL 1499 649 644 26 File 6 + 49 26 File 6 + 49 27 77 779 277 779 779 277 779 277 779 277 107 1244 - 175 -Montreal 2900 Gibrolius - 200 Gerif G - 300 Gerif G - 300 Gerif G - 300 Geronduc - 400 Ger Floating Rate Notes Closing prices, Sept. 17 Banks Autholi Kumenii Sh-83 Alited irish Sh-83 Alited irish Sh-87 Alited irish Sh-87 Alited irish Sh-87 Ameni Sh-87 Ameni Sh-87 Ameni Sh-87 Ameni Sh-87 Ameni Sh-87 Ameni Sh-87 Benco Sh Macken S-3 Benco Sh Macken S-3 Benco Sh Macken S-3 Benco Sh Macken S-4 Benco Sh Macken Sh-7 Benco Union 73-50 Benco Union 73-50

Eulobank M Girozentrak Golobanken GZB 542 GZB 5429 GZB 5429 IBJ 5428 IBJ 5428 IBJ 5428 IBJ 5428 IBJ 5428 IBJ 5428

THE PROPERTY OF THE PROPERTY O Selected Over-the-Counter

ANALASE GENERAL STREET, SEERS STREET, SEERS

Kohvar Ko Prishme Proprish Prop Daniel of the control

100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% | 100% |

Non Banks

EUBOPEAN EDITION-PACIS WI DAI SDAY, JANUARY 21, 1991. INDIAN. PAGES. PARIS, 15.; LOUDOS, 2.; HEPARTHESTS, 29. VICTORIA PASSES AWAY AT OSBORNE entilly, Saturbaded by Her Child-CLOOK AT OSBORNE. SORBOW AT COWES. TALK WITH HER an, the Priyes of Wi OFFICIALS CALLED DEFICIAL BULLETIN. 7.8 P.M. "THE FRONT PAGE 1887-1980" MAJOR EVENTS OF THE PAST CENTURY AS REPORTED IN EVILLETING OF THE DAY. THE INTERNATIONAL HERALD TRIBUNE the Ripper, the Windsors, Stalin - a century of news headliners and the events that surrounded them. Hard cover, 28x38 centimeters, readable-size text The book is divided into five chronological sections. Reproductions of 129 front pages, many with Herald Tribune exclusive articles: like the first-hand report from the sinking Titanic, the Dreyfus trial, the Venice campanile caught in mid-collapse by a Tribune photographer! I ne book is divided into five chronological sections, each with an introduction describing the period from historical and journalistic viewpoints. THE FRONT PAGE is a distinctive personal or business the Order one of several moder lies the convenient gift. Order one - or several - today. Use the convenient grapher!
Follow coverage of the First World War by one of the few newspapers that stayed in Paris and was virtually gift. Order one gift. Order one settled at the front.

Read about people - Queen Victoria, Lindbergh, Jack coupon below. edited at the front

U.S. $32 or equivalent in any European currency - plus postage: in Europe, please add $2.50 or equivalent for each copy; outside Europe, please add $8 or equivalent for each copy. Complete and return this coupon with your check or money order in the currency of your choice to: International Herald Tribune, Special Projects Department, 181 avenue Charles-de-Gaulle, 92521 Neuilly Cedex, France.

entre en la promoción de la composição d

% - ____

Stephens .

 $S^{2}(X_{M,2})$

** : * : (c) te Sava

ill. Co

A Company of the Comp

.

and an order of the same designation of the same of th

A Contract of the Contract of fo c t

Tables include the nationwide prices up to the closing on Wall Street.

Stock Div. Yid. P/E 100s High Low Case Prev (Continued from Page 10) 1.26 1.26 1.27 17 20 20 20 25 4711 4ir .18 .18 .48 .20 4 72 72 325 24 240 240 .32 ¥ .12 172 and 172 an 505 054 972

37 H ,29 n1.04 .20 [61. 25 25 28

49.044.052.1915.00 0.145.052.1915.00 0.105.00 0.

device yearly low, — New Yearly high.

Unless otherwise noted, rates of dividends in the foregoing oble are annual disbursements based on the lost quarterly or semi-annual declaration. Special or extra dividends or payments not destinated as reauter are identified in the x—Ex-dividend or ex-rights, y—Ex-dividend and sales in full. :--Sales in full.

cid—Colled. wd—When distributed, wt—When lasued, ww Vith warrents, xw—Without warrents, xdis—Ex-distribution,

Athers a still or stock divid nore has been poid the year's high-low range and dividend are

Gold Markets P.M. 443.56

45.35 443.80 441.50 Gold Options (prices to $/ex.) Nov. Feb. May

SALES

MANAGER

SAUDI ARABIA

international corporations, req experienced soles manager, ability to seek out independ marketing opportunities, and pro-more the sole of technical products and services to the petroleum and petro-chemical sector, and other major industrial disents in the King-dom of Saudi Arabia.

degree and minimum five years sales experience. Excellent com-mand of Arabic and English lan-

Riyadh. Excellent salary, benefit and incentive program for qualifie

photo and current salary to: Chiffre C 18-115435 Publicitas

MARKETING

MANAGER

(Western Europe)

Wili motivate, direct & expand an established

distributor network selling DEC, DG, PE &

SERIES/1 Based Systems & Communications

Products.

Contact:

AMOS DEACON,

MDB SYSTEM, INC.

1995 NORTH BATAVIA, ORANGE,

CALIFORNIA 92665.

TEL: (714) 998-6900.

— CH-1211 Genevo : Switzerland

29.00-33.00 47.00-51.00 68.00-72.00 19.00-23.00 38.50-42.50 58.00-42.00 11.00-15.00 30.00-34.00 46.50-53.35 7.00-7.00 20.00-34.00 46.00 3.00-4.00 14.00-20.00 20.00-34.00 Valeurs White Weld S.A. 1, Quai du Mont-Blanc 1211 Geneva I, Switzerland Tel. 31 02 51 - Telex 28 305

MILLIONAIRE S Millions won weekly in Canadian Government Interias. Enter NOW. For a free brothure and order form write: Winfall Enterprises, Dept. HT. 1117 St. Catherine St. West, Suite 112. Montreal, Quebec, Canada

ADVERTISEMENT

RICCH COMPANY LTD. (CDR's)

The undersigned announces that the Anno-al Report 1982 of Ricoh Company Ltd. will be available in Amsterdam at rdam-Rotterdam Bank N.V. Algemene Bank Nederland M. Bank Mees & Hopes NV.
Pierson, Heldring & Pierson N.V.
Kas-Associatie N.V. ne Bank Nederland N.V.

AMSTERDAM DEPOSITARY COMPANY N.V.

To our readers...

lems you may have obtaining your copy of the International Herald Triternational Herald Tribune 181, avenue Charles-de-Gaulle 92200 Neuilly, France.

In Asia and Pacific write to: mational Herald Tribune 1801 Tai Sang Commercial Building

INTERNATIONAL EXECUTIVE OPPORTUNITIES

Notre LABORATOIRE PHARMACEUTIQUE exporte la moitié de sa production, ce qui témoigne de son dynamisme et de la qualité des médicaments qu'il découvre. Nous souhaitons accueillir un

DIRECTEUR des RECHERCHES

pour l'implantation d'une nouvelle Unité. L'idéal serait que ce Chercheur de haut niveau puisse séjoumer aussi bien aux

ETATS-UNIS qu'en EUROPE. Les qualités d'animateur et d'organisateur que nous souhaitons trouver chez cet homme sont à la mesure de la mission qui l'attend.

Média-System: 104, rue Réaumur, 75002 Paris, chargée de la transmission des C.V. respectera scrupuleusement toute mention restrictive portée par les candidats. Réf. 4632

Experienced Sales Personnel capable of earning US $100,000+ p.a.

Applicants should write in the first instance with a full c.v. marked 'Reference number PR124 to Mr. J. Davies, the Company's recruitment advisor at:

Dayton Groom and Saunders, 22 Great Marlborough Street, London W1V 1AF, England.

SCITEX CORPORATION LTD. develops, manufactures and exports computer graphics systems for industrial applications. These systems have brought about a revolution in the printing/publishing industry and hold the lead in their field.

We are seeking for our European Headquarters GRAPHIC/REPRO/SPECIALISTS

SYSTEM DEMONSTRATORS to operate demonstration systems SALES SUPPORT SPECIALISTS to provide technical support to our network of European sales organization. SYSTEMS INSTRUCTORS based in Brussels with intensive European

The following qualifications are desirable:

☐ Technical aptitude-ability to work with equipment that requires orderliness, discipline, planning and technical understanding.

D Experience in scanning, photo, or planning with reproshop or

☐ Knowledge of several European languages

This is an opportunity for a qualified young person to perform in a novel technological field in a stimulating marketing environment.

Condidates should apply in handwriting, with curriculum vitae and details of relevant experience to Miss D. Dolphyn (ref. 001).

SCITEX EUROPE 304 Avenue Louise, 1050 Brussels, Belgium.

Submission will remain confidential.

TECHNICAL JOBS

Director International Marketing

The individual we seek will have 7-10 years' international experience, marketing complex. electronic (e.g.: microwave, radio, radar) equipment and systems. Program management experience may also be applicable. Manager-level background is required, as well as demonstrated, first-hand knowledge of and experience in Third World cultures. Education should include BSEE, plus MBA preferred. French fluency desirable. U.S. citizenship essential. This is a high-visibility position in a rapidly growing and very successful company. The position offers exceptional advancement potential for a sales professional who can develop international markets and close substantial orders. Compensation includes fully competitive salary, generous incentive and excellent benefits program.

To explore this outstanding opportunity, please send your resume and salary history to Mr. Edmund J. Walsh, Vice President. Your inquiry will not be divulged to this or any other client of our executive search firm, now or in the future, without your full knowledge and consent.

> Asquith&Jackson Box 326-F. Weston, MA 02193

EXECUTIVES AVAILABLE

DIRECTOR OF MAINTENANCE = CHEF FLIGHT ENGINEER American, 28, seeks similar position worldwide private or commercial. Currently completely 5 year contract in Middle East. Fixed wing and heli-

■ Tel.: 02-665-9433 ext. 43. mm

Contact: Mr. Frank, P.O. Box 1224, Jeddah, Saudi Arabia 21431.

All replies to LH.T. Paris box numbers published without com-plete address should be sent to: International Herald Tribune. 181. Avenue Charles de Gaulle. 92521 Neuilly Cedex, France, who will forward. .

How to answer

Box Number Ads:

INTERNATIONAL EXECUTIVE OPPORTUNITIES

SCITEX CORPORATION LTD, develops, manufactures and exports computer graphics systems for industrial applications. These systems have brought about a revolution in the printing/publishing industry and hold the lead in their field.

We are now seeking specialists in

CARTOGRAPHIC/CAD/CAM APPLICATIONS

The job consists in providing technical support to our network of European sales organization by means of participation to sales negotiations at technical level, adapting systems' configurations to customer needs and performing demonstrations and production tests on various equipment.

The following qualifications are desirable:

☐ Technical aptitude ability to work with equipment that requires orderliness, discipline, planning and technical understanding.
☐ Aptitude or experience in above mentioned fields.

☐ Several European languages. ☐ Ability to work independently.

This is an opportunity for a qualified young person to perform in a novel technological field in a stimulating marketing environment.

Condidates should apply in handwriting, with curriculum vitae and details of relevant experience to Miss D. Dolphyn (ref. 002).

SCITEX EUROPE

304 Avenue Louise, 1050 Brussels, Belgium.

Submission will remain confidential.

PETROLEUM ENGINEERS WIVES, if your husband is currently

JAUUI ARADIA

Aramco is the world's largest oil and gas producing company and as such can offer unparalleled opportunities to qualified professionals.

For petroleum engineers this means more varied challenges and more advanced technology for tackling them. We are now looking for a limited number of professionals with a minimum of 5 years experience in the following areas:

* Drilling engineering

* Production engineering * Reservoir simulation

* Work-over specialists

* Reservoir management * Formation evaluation

Salaries are subject to discussion, based on qualifications and experience but will be very attractive. Apart from the financial rewards our range of employee benefits is indeed impressive. We offer suits you.

Please write or telephone for an application form to: Arkle, Deans & Associates Ltd., 18 Little Belmont Street, Aberdeen, AB1 1JG. Tel: 022429237, quoting reference IHT 529 working abroad, keep him informed of a great career move by posting him

this advertisement immediate married status positions with generous and a range of excellent recreation facilities.

education assistance; air-conditioned accommodation,

Working for the world's largest oil company is a term packages, you can be assured of a challenge that free medical care, paid-leave with company paid flights.

tremendous career move, and since we operate indefinite

Arkle, Deans & Associates Ltd.

Partners in Progress

:365

ा अच्छानी का निद्धा।।

ng Startil

ann — 🗯 Sandaga

21 0 PEER 12 1:00:00

Contract Con

12: 72년 5 1년

متفكلتات والملك والرايخ

..... awark

STATES OF 11.00

AND DEEL

ESCORGIA TOTAL STATE OF THE ST

A leading Financial Institution in the Middle East requires:

1. A FOREIGN EXCHANGE DEALER Salary negotiable depending on experience. Ref.2071/IHT

2. A FOREIGN EXCHANGE ANALYST WITH CHARTING EXPERIENCE

Salary in the range US $32,000-50,000 neg. Ref.2072/IHT

The Foreign Exchange Dealer will be responsible for dealing with a multi-currency portfolio of sizeable amount. The Foreign Exchange Analyst will be a self-starter, contributing ideas to a high-level decision-making body.

Applicants for the above positions, who will report to the Foreign Exchange Manager, will have at least three years relevant experience gained in first class financial institutions. In both cases exposure will have been gained to a broad range of currencies and instruments.

Salaries will be free of local tax. Free accommodation, car or transport allowance and medical facilities will be provided. Other benefits will include generous annual leave and return air fares. Appointments will be on married status where appropriate.

Please write or telephone for an application form, quoting the appropriate reference number, to W. L. Tait.

Touche Ross & Co, Management Consultants Hill House, 1 Little New Street, London EC4A 3TR. Tel: 01-353 8011

Divisional Manager Pharmaceuticals

From £20,000 + car

Southern UK

required by our client, a leading US multinational in the health care field. The Divisional Manager will report to the UK Marketing Director and will have total profit responsibility for a division with a turnover of £15 million and approximately 100 staff.

In addition to developing a creative marketing stategy, there will be considerable emphasis on the motivation of an already successful sales force facing the challenge of several major new product launches in the immediate future. Ideally, therefore, candidates will have both marketing and line experience in a multinational environment.

The position is regarded as a key development post within the corporation and the successful applicant must possess sufficient potential to move on to a more senior marketing or general management post, having shown proof of achievement in the initial assignment. Geographic mobility is therefore highly desirable.

The ideal candidate, male or female, will be a graduate with outstanding senior management potential, probably aged in the mid-thirties. Although preferably from a health care background, the consumer or related industries might also be appropriate. Please telephone (01-629 1844 at any time) or write-in confidence-in the first instance for a personal history form. B. C. Oliver ref. CD.1177. United Kingdom Australasia Benako Canada France Germany Ireland Italy Scandinavia South Africa Switzerland U.S.A.

Management Selection Limited

International Management Consultants 17 Stratton Street London W1X 6DB

ACROSS 1 Hail on the ocean 5 Wimbledon winner: 1975 9 Glide 13 Lock

ACROSS

67 Epinicion

8 Peruvian event?

72 Singer Ronstadt

74 Inward

75 Actress Rowlands

71 Cockchafer

76 — colada 77 Johnson gets unnerved? 89 Best-planted garden? 82 Teacher's org.

83 Hangover belper

86 Straighten from fruit 91 Labor

199 Soprano Mitchell

102 Map abbr.

ISS Groom, in 114 Musician's

118 Particular 119 Mythical

beasts 126 Of the dawn

121 Caucasian man 122 Sunbathes transition

115 Rathbone goes barn-storming? 117 Part of Albert

194 Where Meshed

101 Fold

103 Yoko

India 106 Card

109 Sports

89 Makes wine

94 Şaki 98 "Syne" predecessors

85 Pouch

gambling

18 Leaping car 19 Appoint as an associate 21 Sickly 22 Great Lakes acronyto 23 Growths in the Holland Causeways?

26 Osmani, for 27 What the fastidious farmer minds? 29 Oxford shoe

30 Cottage-(country house) 21 Arrest 32 Gustav German physicist

33 Utter 35 Small hooter 37 Gives a hoof 39 Disappoints 41 Plus 42 Outcasts in Osaka

48 Greenville 52 Clique in a club 57 Inquire into relatives'

word 46 Juan Carjos I

62 Golden shine 63 Venetian fishing boat 65 Tanning-ma Tanning-mate-rial source

BEIRUT

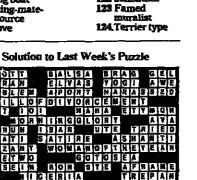

SERLIN

COSTA DEL SOL DAMASCUS DUBLIN EDINBURGH

HARARE HELSINKI

43 "He's making 45 Mass. motto secrets?

WEATHER

Fair Fair Fair Storm NA Fair Rain Fair Rain Fair Cloudy

VON ERNST & Cle AG PB 2622 Bern SF Fund SF 19.49 Trosphow Fund SF 4.94 TF Fund N.V. $11.68

G.T. MANAGEMENT (UK) LTD

- (w) Berry Poc. Pd. Ltd.
- (w) G.T. Asio Fund.
- (d) G.T. Bond Fund.
- (w) G.T. Dellar Fund.
- (d) G.T. Dellar Fund.
- (d) G.T. Investment Fund.
- (d) G.T. Jorgan Smoll Ce Fund.
- (d) G.T. Technology Fund.

SOFID GROUPE GENEVA

.. DM 17.45"

13 55

MADRID MANILA MEXICO CITY

Miami Milan

NEW DELHI

NEW YORK NICE OSLO PARIS

PEKING PRAGUE

RIO DE JANEIRO ROME SAO PAULO

SEOUL SHANGHAI SINGAPORE

STOCKHOLM SYDNEY TAIPEI

TURIS VERICE
VIENNA
WARSAW
WASHINGTON

TEL AVIV

TOKYO

ADVERTISEMENT

INTERNATIONAL FUNDS

SEPTEMBER 17, 1982

DOWN

2 Brays 3 The Tyrones actually 4 Sariaks 5 Quaker gray 6 Sound 7 Difficult position 8 Hebrew bushe

19 Caulking materia 11 A Waugh 13 Site of tomb of 14 Apple variety 15 "Nature" essayist 16 Teeters 17 Ukr., e.g.

handicap 25 Insecticides

29 Scarf 34 Chemical

Other Funds

Arione
Trustor Int. Fd (AEIF)
Bondshier | Igaue Pr.
Citodel Fund
Cleveland Offshore Fd.
COMETE

Stete St. American
Tokyo Poc. Hold (Sep)
Tokyo Poc. Hold (N.V.
Trentagetike Pund
UNICO Fund
UNICO Fund
UNICO Fund
United Cap Inv. Fund.
Wedder Japan N.V.
Wedder U.S. N.V.
Wedder U.S. N.V.

DOWN

29 Becomes edgy 24 Given a

28 Type of pot holder

36 Strange 38 W.W. Il fliers 40 Fine potter capital
44 Toy poodle

49 Nursery

DOWN

51 To live, to Livy 52 Fallacies 53 Rock bottom 54 Fragrance

CROSSWORD PUZZLE

Garden Varieties By A. J. Santora

55 Man's slipper 56 Exceptionally 58 Empty 50 "Live Fr _" (N.H.

motto)

60 International club

61 Gold measure 88 Shortages in 64 Enclosed, as 90 Star trekkir 92 Conforming proportion 69 Alleviates 79 Dutch painter: 1632-93 93 Postpone doubt 81 Throws cold water on 84 Sticky stuff

87 Frat men, al

86 Skater Babilonia

DOWN DOWN

73 Ate in style 76 Chinese unit of weight 78 Shade of brown 97 A Giant at 16 99 — first sight 100 Father of Eliasaph: Num. 3:24 79 Without any

> 104 He wrote "The Wild Duck" 195 French cathe drai city 107 Surfer's surface 110 Old Norse

Ē

111 Information 112 Proverbial

are, in Arles) 114 --- Paulo. Brazil 116 Wind dir.

BOOKS

THOMAS E. DEWEY AND HIS TIMES By Richard Norton Smith. 703 pp. $22.50.

Simon & Schuster, 1230 Ave. of the Americas, New York, N.Y. 10020.

Reviewed by Maurice Carroll

TO BE a winner in politics, you should plan to be born at the right time. Then you come of elective age at a time when the field is not crowded with heavyweights.

It looked as if Thomas E. Dewey would be one of the lucky ones. As district attorney of Manhattan when the city's newspapers were frisky and fascinated with the colorful criminals he was locking up, he won an early and impressive reputation. As gover-nor of New York when his display of executive talent contrasted with the chaos of wartime Washington, he was the perfect Republican alternative to a tiring Democratic administration.

And he was in his 40s, vigorous, successful, smart and tough, when the time came.

But as everyone knows, he was doubly unlucky.

Who realized that the immensely popular Franklin D. Roosevelt, hav-ing already broken the precedent be-gun by George Washington and run for a third term, would, even though old and ill, run for a fourth?

Who suspected that the scorned Harry S. Truman would turn out to be a ferociously successful campaigner and (some of us think) a most effective president?

So Dewey twice failed to win the presidency. A commanding political presence in his lifetime he will be among history's footnotes. School-children will puzzle: What was the name of the man who lost to Roosevelt and Truman?

Cranmed with Apecdotes

Many, including Richard Norton Smith, author of this good — al-though sloppily edited — biography, think Dewey deserved better. But the relentlessly researched book is crammed with anecdotes that suggest why he probably got just about what

There was a motorcade through New York City in which Dewey first annoyed his presidential candidate, Dwight D. Eisenhower, with a fussy torrent of instructions on how to behave at each stop. Then the governor turned to an aide and asked about

It had been canceled, the man re-plied. Dewey asked if the decision had been made at the Commodore Hotel campaign headquarters. Actually, the local party leader explained, a slip-up had occurred, and field organizers had made the decision on their own. Dewey exploded, demanding to know on whose authority such an order had been given and why the original schedule had not been adhered to

"After five minutes of this, an embarrassed Eisenhower turned and whispered into [Bernard] Shanley's ear, Jesus Christ, no wonder he was never elected president."

Even as a loser, Dewey is credited by Smith — this is the subtitle of the book - as "maker of the modern Republican Party." That seems a trifle cosmic. It was no longer the party of Robert A. Taft when Dewey left, but it has become the party of Ronald Reagan, and many would measure Taft as the more liberal. Were the Eisenhower years samply an interruption in a continuing antigovernment mood among Republicans?

Personally, I found the Dewey view of government and politics attractive, as Smith summarizes a series of lectures Dewey gave at Princeton in 1950.

Thomas E. Dewey

Politically, he dismissed "impractical theorists" who would divide voters ideologically between the parties. "Everything would be neatly arranged," said Dewey. The results would be neatly arranged, too. The Republicans would lose every election, and the Democrats would win." Governmentally, he spoke like the

Owosso, Mich., in the first decade of the century. It struck a responsive chord for me. In a little town in New Jersey, reading the turn-of-the-century boys' books stacked in my grandfather's attic - Horatio Alger, of course, the Rover Boys, the Boys of Columbia High — it was possible to get a feel of the independence, the lo-calism, that characterized the smalltown America of Dewey's childhood. That was the platform from which he Whatever his personal coldness, Dewey's view of what government should do was humane and broad. He expanded Albany's role. But he did it prudently, building a fund in the wartime years, for instance, that left his state in healthy shape for postwar readiustment.

This book is one of a number of good stories that have come out in recent years about politicians who fell short of the absolute top but who still mattered. Journalism students are told that it is narrative -- lots of action, lots of anecdote - that holds a reader, and Smith offers it liberally.

He also offers it with too frequent lapses into cliche. Why must the newsboys who shouted the headlines about racketeers be "apple-cheeked"? Why must upstate hamlets be "white-

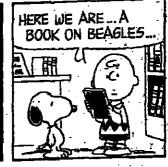

And why should a book about a man who was so meticulous about detail be flawed by such careless editing? The Tammany leader Richard Croker gains an "a" and becomes "Croaker." The New Jersey Republican Bernard Shanley is rebaptized Bertrand. Harry O'Donnell, the best political press agent I have ever met, is quoted in the book but left out

Stuff like that should not happen. But — overall — Dewey is luckier in his biographer than he was with the nation's voters. This is an admiring, respectful, readable story.

Maurice Carroll is on the staff of The 13

DENNIS THE MENACE

(Answers Monday) Jumbles: TARRY BRIBE INVEST FRIGID Answer: What the polite horse did when he

Imprimé par Offprint, 73 rue de l'Evangile, 75018 Paris

SEE? I CAN WRITE GOOD BUT MARGARET SAYS CAN'T SPELL WORTH & HOOT I'

ee Sa 10 1 ion. 100

approached a fence— LET THE RIDER GO FIRST

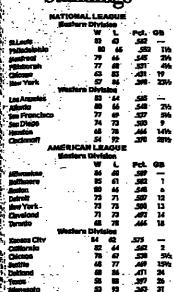

BALTIMORE — Jim Palmer, af-ter complaining of a sore back ear-lier in the week, pitched a six-hitter Thursday night as the Baltimore Orioles beat the New York Yankces, 3-1, to sweep a five-game

American League series.

The victory was the Orioles' 24th in their last 28 games and moved them within one game of the first-place Milwaukee Brewers in the Eastern Division. The Brewers did not play Thursday. Palmer, who will turn 37 next month, made 142 pitches while starting for the fifth consecutive time with three days' rest. He has won 12 of 13 decisions since May 10 and Thursday night's triumph was the 262d of his career. After Dave Winfield hit his 35th homer in the second inning the Yankees never again threatened Palmer (14-4). Baltimore scored

Major League Standings

two runs in the first inning off Dave Righetti (9-9), and that was all Palmer needed. Afterward, Palmer departed from his accustomed silence "Our bullpen was kind of thin tonight, so it was good to go nine imings," he said. "Normally, it's not a smart thing to do, but there are exceptions."

Referring to the Oriole manager, Earl Weaver, he added, "I can see

BASEBALL ROUNDUP Earl's reasoning for leaving me in.

On the other hand, there's no denying that the innings take their toll, and so does 142 pitches." Last Sunday in Cleveland, Palmer left a scoreless game after seven innings, claiming that he was in pain. Since then, there has been criticism from fans and the media in Baltimore, centering on the right-hander's history of asking for late-inning relief.

In response, Palmer said, "I know what I'm doing. I know how I feel. In Cleveland, the bullpen was rested and my back hurt. I took myself out. Tonight, the bullpen was tired and I stayed in. People don't realize things like that. I'm trying to help the team win the most games, and I'm trying to take care of myself, too." The Orioles, who scored come-from-behind victories in the first four games of the series with the Yankees, led from the start Thursday night. They took a 2-0 lead in the first inning on run-scoring sin-gles by Eddie Murray and Gary Roenicke. Murray also singled in the sixth and scored an unearned run on a two-out throwing error by Andre Robertson, the shortstop.

Tigers 4, Red Sox 2 In Detroit, Glenn Wilson's tworun homer highlighted a four-run seventh inning and Milt Wilcox pitched a six-bitter as the Tigers defeated Boston, 4-2. The loss dropped the Red Sox six games out of first place in the AL East.

In Chicago, Aurelio Rodriguez had four hits as the White Sox de-leated Oakland, 6-3, and moved nia, 2-1. Upshaw's single scored Alfredo Griffin, who had reached second base on an error in right field by Reggie Jackson. within 51/2 games of Kansas City in

Rangers 8, Twins 2

In Minneapolis, Larry Parrish hit a three-run homer and Charlie Hough won his fourth in a row as Texas beat the Twins, 8-2. Mariners 4, Royals 2 In Kansas City, Missouri, Joe Simpson hit a two-run triple in the ninth imning, leading Seattle over the Royals, 4-2. The victory was the Mariners' 68th of the season, setting a club record.

Blue Jays 2, Angels 1

In Toronto, Willie Upshaw's

In the National League, in San Francisco, Chili Davis hit a tworun homer and Fred Breining pitched six strong innings as the Giants beat San Diego, 9-3. It was the Giants' 11th victory in 13 games and the Padres' sixth run-scoring single in the 12th in-ning led the Blue Jays over Califor-

Giants 9. Padres 3

In Montreal, Mookie Wilson had four hits, including a homer, and scored three runs to lead New York to a 9-4 victory over the Expos. Montreal fell 2½ games behind St. Louis in the NL East.

Mets 9, Expos 4

Baltimore's Eddie Murray slid safely into third with a stolen base as New York's Barry Evans made the tag in the first inning of Wednesday's game. Umpire Bill Kunkel watched the action.

In Box 18, Upper Deck, One American Dream Is Fulfilled

By Alison Muscatine Washington Post Service WASHINGTON — Five days after my 28th birthday, I fulfilled a lifelong dream.

It happened during a visit home to California, during one of my family's annual nies of summer. It turned out to be the high point of my vacation. of Inned to Parill Every year since my childhood, my family has gone to see the San Francisco Giants play baseball in Candlestick Park. Every ng Single pear, we buy beer and hot dogs and a Giant and land land gram. Every year, my dad buys peanuts.

Every year, I consider buying a Giant cap put, now that my brother and I are adults, I laways decide against it. Every year, on the lay we go to the ball game, the Giants win.

But appear before in all the Giants win. But never before, in all the years we have the state of the property of the pr

The Lineup

We were sitting in an upper-deck box on the state third-base line. My father, on my left, bigness berating the first baseman for his slopy play and praising the deftness of the man the batter. I had just reviewed he program, trying to find one Giant whose same I recognized. My older brother — who same the how to "throw like a boy" when I was a kid — and his wife had to cancel at he last minute and weren't there. he last minute and weren't there.

It was the bottom of the second inning, and my parents and I were sitting in our specific box seets fractions in our apper-deck box seats finishing a lunch of nick 2-0 lead over the Pittsburgh Pirates. next moment, ones I normally might re- center." And red thread in the seams. And a member (the count, how many men were out, who was on base, etc.) have been obscured by the excitement of what followed.

All I know is that Reggie Smith, the lefthanded first baseman for the Giants, came to the plate, that Pirate pitcher Don Robinson threw a pitch, that Smith swung and that, then — CRACK — Smith hit a foul ball, high, very high, up toward the upper-deck stands along the third-base line.

I saw it coming. It was coming right to me, my mother, and my father. I was amazed because, believe me, it wasn't one of these foul balls that looks like it's coming straight at you and then, at the last second, ends up landing 200 feet away. This foul ball was coming right to us, and there was no doubt about it.

In fact, this baseball, spinning furiously and traveling at an incredibly rapid rate off Reggie Smith's bat, was coming right toward my mother's head.

"Duck, Mom!" I yelled as we watched the ball, spinning to the right, grow larger and larger. I stood up, reaching out as far as I could with my right arm. Within a split-second... SMACK! A major league basesecond... SMACK: A major league base-ball was dead center in my palm. My hand, trained by hours of playing "pitch and catch" and "running bases" with my brother, wrapped around the ball. Had I caught it? I bobbled it momentarily,

I couldn't believe it. After 28 years, I caught a foul ball at Candlestick Park.

I examined it carefully. It was the real unix 2-0 lead over the Pittsburgh Pirates. thing. A leather hardball, made by Rawlings in Haiti (Haiti?), with a "cushioned cork smudge of the Candlestick Park infield on

Printed on the ball was: OFFICIAL BALL NATIONAL LEAGUE, and then the signature of Charles S. Feeney, PRES. (This is a name all old Giant fans recognize, because "Chub" Feeney was once vice presideat of the Giant organization). On the other side, beneath "cushioned cork center," were the letters RO-N. I had no idea what

As I scrutinized every detail of the ball Reggie Smith hit to me, I realized that nearby fans were applauding my one-handed stab in Box 18 of the upper deck. Then a man came over and pointed to a large crowd of people behind us.

A Compromise

They'd like you to stand up and take a bow for them." At first I thought it was a joke. I harked back to my days as "the girl who could throw, bat and field better than any of the boys" and thought to myself, cynically: They're just impressed because a girl caught the ball. But I wanted to be polite, so I compromised. I stood and held the ball up toward the group requesting a bow. They applauded again.

For the next seven innings, I guarded my ball jealously (particularly when, moments after my catch, a group of prepubescent boys took over the row of seats directly behind us). I thought about all those games my family had gone to when my brother and I

I remembered how we would stand up in a pitch was fouled off, even if it was hit down the opposite baseline. And I remembered how back then, my brother, father, mother and I knew all the players and their numbers — the greats like Willie Mays (24), Willie McCovey (44), Juan Marichal (27), Orlando Cepeda (41), Felipe Alou (23), Jimmy Davenport (12) and Jim Ray Hart (14). sides learning to "throw like a boy," also spent many hours of my childhood memorizing the Giants' batting averages.)

And I remembered the thrill of waiting outside the Giants' locker room asking for player's autographs. (I got Willie Mays's on opening day in 1964, and later I got Jesus Alou's, Hal Lanier's and McCovey's.)

had given up so many of those traditions for our childhood: for years, my brother and I have gone to the games barehanded, and no one in my family knows the lineup any more, let alone the players' batting averages. But I realized later that none of that takes away from the thrill of catching a foul ball. After the game was over (the Giants, in keeping with our family tradition, won 4-2 and broke a six-game losing streak), my parents and I met my brother and his wife for

And I reflected how, since growing up, we "Guess what?" my father announced as he greeted them. "Your sister had fulfilled a lifelong dream. Apprised of my feat, my brother, stunned. asked to inspect the ball. He stared at it for dinner in San Francisco.

a moment, cradling it in his hand.
"I wonder where I would have been sitting," he said, looking toward me, smiling.

Alison Muscatine is on The Washington anticipation, gloves outstretched, every time Post's metropolitan staff.

3 Teams Lead NFL's Hurt Parade As Another Rough Sunday Looms

By William N. Wallace New York Times Service
NEW YORK — Testifying in a ecent court case. Dr. Marvin

Knight, the Dallas Cowboys' long-time physician, said that every football player he had known had at one time or another been injured. The annual toll began last Sunday with the opening of the National Football League season. The teams hurt the most were the Cleveland Browns, the Kansas City Chiefs and the New Orleans Saints because Clay Matthews, Jack Rudnay and George Rogers are so good and so difficult to re-

Matthews, a key inside lineback-er for the Browns, fractured an antle and will be out for the season. The Chiefs have lost Rudnay, their center the past 12 seasons, for at least a month following knee surgery, and the Saints must do without Rogers, the league's leading rusher last year as a rookie, for two to four weeks because of a pulled hamstring muscle.

NFL PREVIEW

"Playing without George in the game is like having Christmas without Santa Claus," said Bum Phillips, the New Orleans coach. The key game Sunday will be in Pittsburgh, where the Steelers will play the defending American Conference champions, the Cincinnati Bengals, who have beaten them our times in a row. Previews follow, with won-lost records in parentheses. AMERICAN CONFERENCE

Cincinnati (1-0) at Pittsburgh (1-0) — Ken Anderson passed for 354 yards in the Bengals' opening vic-tory over a weak Houston team, and the Steeler defense gave up 341 passing yards while defeating Dallas. This contest is likely to be an Anderson-Terry Bradshaw shoot-out with 80 passes attempted and the edge to the team that has the ball in the last minute. New York Jets (0-1) at New England (1-0) — The Jets' defense, bedazzled by Miami's quickness, will be dealing this time with size and strength; the Patriots' offensive line averages 6-feet-5 and 283 pounds. The halfback, Tony Collins, is the big-play man. Three new linebackers have stiffened a woeful defense. The Jets will stagger until they can field healthy players in both lines. Baltimore (0-1) at Miami (1-0)

The Colts' new coach, Frank Kush, will start four rookies on defense and five on offense, includ-ing Mike Pagel at quarterback. Baltimore teams have beaten the Dolphins only once in the last nine games. David Woodley, the Miami quarterback, is using the shotgun formation in more ways than Roger Staubach ever did.

San Diego (1-0) at Kansas City (0-1) — The Chargers' restructured defense held Denver to three points with two newcomers in the secondary. Jeff Allen and Andre Young. That and Chuck Muncie's 79 yards rushing were significant. The Chiefs started Bill Kenney over Steve Fuller at quarterback, and Kenney had a poor opening game. Besides Rudnay, the offense has lost J.T. Smith, the fastest wide receiver. A rookie, Les Studdard, colaces Rudnay. Seattle (0-1) at Houston (0-1) -

Bickering continues among the Seahawks. In spite of strike talk, the players say they were ready for opening game; the coach, Jack Pa-offensive line allowed eight quart-erback sacks, a team record. The Oilers promised a newly diversified offense but gained only 171 yards against Cincinnati, Earl Campbell, representing the old offense, ran for 82. He has gone 11 straight games without reaching 100 yards 100 yards.

NATIONAL CONFERENCE

Dallas (0-1) at St. Louis (1-0) — The Cowboy loss to Pittsburgh was factual but deceptive. The offense gained 436 yards while suf-fering two lost fumbles, two intercepted passes and one blocked punt Doug Cosbie is to start at tight end, concluding a streak of 92 starts by Billy Joe DuPree. Credit from the players for the Cardinals' rejuvenated 4-3 defense goes to the new assistant coach, Floyd Peters. However, the offen-sive line allowed six sacks by New Detroit (1-0) at Los Angeles Rams (0-1) — Although relieved by Gary Danielson in the opening game, Eric Hipple remains the Lions' starting quarterback. Monte Clark, the coach, says he will resist a quarterback controversy "as long as I can." Al Baker, a fearsome pass rusher three years ago, is back in form. Bert Jones's first game for the Rams was a good one, but he lacks blue-chip pass receivers. New Orleans (0-1) at Chicago (0-

1) - Ken Stabler has been a revelation at quarterback for the Saints. At 36 he is as quick as ever in releasing his passes and just as accurate. With Dennis Lick unable to play because of phlebitis, the Bears lack a capable left tackle to guard their quarterback. Bob Avel-lini. He had 23 stitches taken in his mouth, forehead and cheek and his nose reset after the game against Detroit. Vince Evans is the likely Washington (1-0) at Tampa Bay (0-1) — The Buccaneers put Ray Snell on injured reserve, leaving them with six healthy offensive linemen. None was very good in the loss to Minnesota, but the quarterback, Doug Williams, did well and so did the defense, according to the coach, John McKay. Joe Theismann began his ninth Redskin season with his best game ever, 382 yards passing against the Eagles. His offense utilizes two wide receivers, two tight ends and one running back. The team must score often because its defense is so vulnerable to the pass.

INTERCONFERENCE

Los Angeles Raiders (1-0) at Atlanta (1-0) — The Raiders' rookie running back, Marcus Allen, has impressed many, including his quarterback, Jim Phinkett. "I've never played with a back like him," said Plunkett after Allen gained 116 yards against the 49ers. Plunkett can anticipate a lot of completions against the Falcons' defensive secondary. Billy Johnson is a leader in punt return yards for Atlanta, but he no longer wears white shoes.

Philadelphia (0-1) at Cleveland (1-0) — Bill Cowher, a former free agent who has played very little, will replace Matthews for Cleveland. The Eagles will not be easy, although their coach, Dick Vermeil, was dismayed at the 37 points his defense gave up against the Redskins, the most in three

San Francisco (0-1) at Denver (0-1) - Bill Walsh, the 49er coach, made only one lineup change last season as his team swept to the championship, and he commended stability. This year he has made six, and injuries dictated only two. The newest regulars are Jeff Moore at halfback for Amos Lawrence; Lindsey Mason, a recent Raider reject, at tackle on offense; and Lawrence Pillars at defensive end for Dwaine Board, who is out for the season with a knee injury. Denver lost Steve Foley, a steady safety, for the year because of an arm fracture. That good Bronco de-fense has diminished.

MONDAY NIGHT

Green Bay (1-0) at New York Giants (0-1) — The Giants' offense has an acceptable passing game for the first time since Fran Tarkenton was a member. Butch Woolfolk represents a sizeable addition at running back, and the offensive line has held up so far. The Packers may be without two valuable performers, John Jefferson at tight end and Gerry Ellis at fullback. After trailing, 23-0, they outscored the Rams, 35-0, in the second half, although Ram errors helped a lot.

. S 💖

icialice

the; re

ning-jun

they in could f show some that; spc

ning mi

beo- jow

ader lea

rom h

the mp >s to દ્યો

isra-¦;y

the ion, an the ca

y to aw irut. on s su- Ho PLO

fen- ied

: to W

with ite

· the .i i ions mc

vith- tics

lf it

2IID-ifer-viet tion

ions

de-rom

l the ility had and

and

Kaum- at inut mm-

g been & c of the an

Buffalo Beats Minnesota on Late TD Pass

ORCHARD PARK, New York Joe Ferguson's third touchdown pass of the game, an 11-yard strike to Jerry Butler with 2:48 remaining capped a rally Thursday night that gave the Buffalo Bills a 23-22 National Football League victory over the Minnesota Vikings. The Bills, who earlier trailed, 19-0, went 94 yards on their game-winning drive. Butler made a leapng catch for the touchdown behind cornerback John Turner in the right corner of the end zone. Nick Mike-Mayer kicked the extra point to out the Bills ahead. Ferguson, who connected on 25 of 45 pass attempts for 330 yards, made Butler his favorite target all night. The third-year wide receiver from Clemson caught seven passes for 111 yards.

Ferguson's performance over-shadowed that of the Minnesota quarterback, Tommy Kramer, who threw two touchdown passes to Bob Bruer, a reserve tight end. Sammy White a Viking wide receiver, caught nine passes for 142 yards and made several key catches to keep drives alive.

Saints' Manning Traded to Oilers

The Associated Press NEW ORLEANS - Archie Manning, in his 12th year as quarterback for the New Orleans Saints, was traded to the Houston Oilers on Friday for Leon Gray, a veteran offensive tackle who has been a holdout this season, the Saints an-

"It's a tough decision," the Saints' coach, Burn Phillips, said at a news conference, "an especially tough decision when you're talking about a guy like Archie who's been here so long."

Manning lost his job as starting quarterback to Ken Stabler in last Sunday's season opener against St. Louis. The Saints obtained Stabler three weeks ago after he was cut by the Oilers.

BOOKS

SOCIES from America, any US book / subject. Send list US Overtect Book POB 2066 Great Neck, N.Y. 11022.

EDUCATION

SEA PINES ABROAD

American Preparatory School In the Scholung Alps. Co-ed, grades 9-12 Boarding, travel. High coodernics. Catalog, Write: See Plans Abroad, 5324 Faistenou, Salzburg, Austria.

Judge Says NCAA INCOME Has No Authority For TV Contracts

New York Times Service
NEW YORK — A U.S. District out judge calling the National collegiate Athletic Association a classic cartel," ruled Wednesday hat only an individual college has to rights to games involving its potball team. The ruling if upheld on appeal, rould wild the association's televiion football plan, under which the CAA has regulated the number to appearances by a college am and negotiated the price.

The decision, issued in Oklaho-The decision, issued in Burciaga, in City by Judge Juan Burciaga, irock down the association's fourear television contracts with CBS and at ABC, and its two-year conand his two-year con-

acts are worth a total of $281.5 A lawsuit by the University of kinhoma's Board of Regents and E University of Georgia Athletic sociation said the NCAA's condition of Georgia Athletic sociation said the NCAA's condition of the NCAA's condition o the Sherman Antitrust Act

Both CBS and ABC announced at they were going ahead with crasts of Saturday's games. Frank Broyles, the athletic di-citor at Arkansas, said: "The de-tion could result in a National othall League of collections othall League of college football d no one else playing. I think it destroy college football in fa-

Wayne Duke, the commissioner the Big Ten Conference, said, he selfish interests of a few lid destroy college football as bow it."

> Pro Tennis Rankings United Press International MDON — The grand prix mea's tensis slags other 64 tournaments: imy Conners, U.S., (15 tournaments) 3.126

Jillerms Viles, Argentine, (12) 2,198.
Jillerms Viles, Argentine, (12) 2,116.
to fiscEnne, U.S. (8) 1,465.
do Hisueros Spoin, (12) 1,184.
fox Gervichtis, U.S. (11) 1,198.
giz Wilconer, Swedon, (14) 1,725.
Jimitick Noth, Premote, 122 999.
Jimitick Noth, Premote, 122 999.
Jimitick Sock, Premote, 122 999.
Jimitick Sockers, Educator, 114 1999.
Jimitick Sockers, Educator, 114 1999.

SPORTS BRIEFS

Romanian Woman Sets Mile Record RIETI, Italy - Maricica Puica of Romania broke the women's world record for the mile with a time of 4 minutes, 17.44 seconds, at an international track and field meet Thursday night.

The old record of 4:18.08 was set by Mary Decker-Tabb of the United NBA's Robinzine Is Apparent Suicide

KANSAS CITY, Missouri - Bill

Robinzine, who played last year for the Utah Jazz of the National Basketball Association, has been found dead in his car. Police said it appeared to be a suicide. Robinzine, 29, was the Kansas City Kings' first-round draft choice from DePaul University in 1975. The Kines traded the 6-foot-7 power forward to Cleveland in 1980, and the Cavaliers sent him a month later to Dallas. He was traded to Utah last year, but his contract expired after the season and he became a free agent.

Robert Mann, Robinzine's agent, said Robinzine was depressed because he had not been signed by a team for the 1982-83 season. "He felt like he was a better player than he had been able to demonstrate," Mann said. Robinzine's best season with the Kings was in 1978-79, when he averaged 13.4 points and 7.8 re-bounds per game.

Struggling Golfers Lead PGA Event

PINEHURST, North Carolina - John Adams, struggling to win a tour exemption for next year, shot a 4-under-par 67 Thursday for a one-stroke lead after the first round of the Hall of Fame tournament. Adams posted the best opening round of his five-year professional career for the one-shot margin over Lance Ten Brocck, Tommy Valentine, Jim Barber and Lindy Miller. Tied at 69 were Hal Sutton, Ed Fiori, Allen Miller, Larry Mize, Terry Manney, Don Pooley, Bob Byman, Curtis Strange and Bobby Clampett.

Adams, Ten Broeck, Barber and Miller are trying to finish the year in the top 125 on the money list, which will bring an automatic tour exemption under a system to be implemented by the Professional Golfers' Association next year. Only Valentine, now 57th, is among the top 125.

High Jumper Is Suspended in Poland

WARSAW — Jacek Wszola of Poland, the 1976 Olympic high jump champion, has received a one-year suspension from the Polish track and field association for disciplinary reasons, the Polish news agency PAP reported Friday.

Compiled From Agency Dispatches

Thursday's Line Scores AMERICAN LEAGUE

Texes 903 120 226—8 10 9 Minnesoto 907 009 101-2 11 2 Hough and Sundberg: Vholu 1.Cooper (5), Berts (7) and R.Smith, W.—Hough, 15-11, L.—Viola,47, HR--LA.Parrish (14). lo, 47, HR-LA.Parrish (14).

Boston 999 900 911-2 6 1

Detroit 900 900 45x-4 8 9

Tarrax Clear (7), M.B.rows (8) and Alesson, Gadinan (8); Wilcox and Fahey, W.-Wilcox, 11-8.L.—Tarrax, 9-9, HR—Detroit, G.Wilson (12).

New York 010 000 000—1 6 2 Boltimore 200 601 000—3 6 8 Ribhetti and Cerone: Polmer and Dempsey. W—Polmer, 14-4. L—Rightetti, 9-9, HR—New York, Winfield (15).

Colifornia 018 900 888 888... York Winfield (25).
Colifformio 018 900 886 980—1 3 1
Toronto 900 919 900 881—2 11 0
Forsch Curtis (10), Sanchez (10), Hossier (12)
and Boone; Sileb, R.L. Jecktom (12) and Petroli, W—R.L. Jockson, 7-8. L.—Sømchez, 6-3. HR.—Coli-fornic, Grich (18).

Seaffle 018 100 022–4 10 1

Konses Chy 022 800 080–2 3 1

F.Bonnister, VendeBerg (8), Stenton (9) and Sweet'i Leonard, 1945.

Oaklond 191 609 971–3 12 2

Chicasa 100 282 915–6 13 0

Saderi, Horno (6) and Kosrvey, M.Heath (7);

Hoyf, Hickay (9) and Fisk, W.—Hoyf, 16-14, L.—

Baker, 6-1.

MATIONIAL J. EAGSHE

NATIONAL LEAGUE 102 510 500-9 13 3 687 001 110-4 11 1 New York Mentrael Service (7), Orosco (8) and Hedges; Sand-erson, B.Smith (4), Burris (7), Schotzsder (9) and Carter, W.-Swan, 10-4, L.-Sanderson, 10-12. HR.-New York, Wilson (5). San Dieso 500 100 002-3 9 0 San Francisco 002 002 22:-7 12 8 Just Promitisco 002 802 23e-9 12 8 Leller, Hawkins (7), West (8) and T.Kannedy; Breinine, Minton (7) and Brenty, W-Breining, 10-1 L-Leller, 14-9, HR-3on Prancisco, C.Davis (18).

Transactions

BASKETBALL
Noticeal Bestwiter Association
DENVER—Placed Ken Higgs guar waters POOTBALL

Religion Feotball League

CLEVELAND—Added Larry Broziel, corner

CK.

K.Y. GIANTS—Placed Jeff Weston, offensive sciale, on the injured reserve list. Cut Alike Curie, linebocker. Added Brian Corporator, corner-net read Crist Scote additional Measure. ack, and Chris Foots, offensky lineman, Casadian Football Learne BRITISH COLUMBIA—Traded Al Charuk acid to the roster. ANNESOTA—Cut Wolf Williams, corner-

HOCKEY Motional Heckey Lacous

MONTREAL—Added Mark Helden, so

Torn Kollaupoulos, center: and Plare

auti and Robert Lafleur, defensemen. SOCCER

Major Indeer Secon League
PHOENIX—Signed Zoron Nikelick, mid-

> European Soccer DEFA CUP

AUTO SHIPPING TRANSCAR 20 rue Le Sueur, 75116 Poris. Tel: 500 63 04, Nices 83 95 33 Antwerp 33 99 85, Connex 39 43 44.

AUTOMOBILES PRIVATE SALE. Leaving Europe, 79 FEBRARI 400. Oark blue, Swiss fully poid, 24,500 km, 529,000. 35 MERCENES 500 St. light brown, 590 km, 529,000. Nation (53) 01 35 00 Cap Ferrot, Frence

COLLECTOR must sell now. Accepting offers for feat sels. Perfect condition, libis Royce Shadow II, Aston Macris 108 Royce Shadow II, Aston Macris VB 76, Jaquer 1.6 Ser 2, Jaquer 4.2 Ser 1, Box 240, Herold, Pedro Tessiro 8, Macrid 20 a, Moders 20
CADILLAC SEVELE BLEGANTE, oil options. 1979. $15,000. 20,000 miles.
New from January 81. One owner Beigune 02/440 07 46. To 63173.
1977 AMC BEP, cultomolic, extract US plates, perfect condition. Tel. 734 78 07 Parts.

EXCAUSUR PHARTON IV, 1982, 8000 km. DAV140,000. Vienno: 0043222 / 650710. TRANSCO TAX FREE CARS We keep a constant stock of more than one hundred brand new cars, compatitively priced.

Send for free catalogue & stock list.

Transco SA, 95 Moorderloom, 2030 Antwerp, Betjam.

Tek 03/542 62 40, (10 free).

The 35207 TRANS B

TAX Free cars all makes and models ATK, NV, Ademai 22, 2000 Anterp Belgium, Tel: 03/231 16 53. Tio: 31535

AUTOS TAX FREE Mercedas 300 SD Turbo diesel. Mercedas 500 SE. / 500 SEC. Mercedas 500 SE. / 280 S. Loncia Beta 1400 HPE 1976. Coditor, Seville 1977. Chavrolet Conventible 1975.

FREE MULTICOLOR CATOLOG SHIPSIDE BUILDING PCB 7568, Amsterdom Airport - C Holland, Tel: (20) 152833 - Telex 12568

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

(Continued From Back Page) AUTOS TAX FREE

ECPORT INTERNATIONAL LTD CEST SHOWROOM & INVENTORY Free pid-up at the airport tearioon 1 2000 Airherp, Belgium Tale 03 231 39 00 15 Inset Taless 35546 PHCART B AMERICAN ATTORNEY / PILOT, es-parisocad in or crosh coses. Dovid B shurroy, 225 Broodway, #590, 5.D., CA 92101, USA, Tel-714-231-369, US TAX, VISA & IMANIGATION Consultoris USA, 91 Fig. St. Honore, Prois 8s. Tel-266 90 75. The 642066 F.

BUROPE AUTO BROKERS Cars and RV's for worldwide delivery, all makes. Send for tax free passport. POB 214, 3430 AR Nieuwegein, Holland. Tel: (0) 3402-41346. The 70326 SHINK.

ICZKOVITS Claridenstrasse 36, CH-8027 Zurich ,Tel: 01/20276 10, Teleza 53444,

SHIPSIDE TAX FREE CARS Ali Makes - Ali Models European and worldwide delivery Insurance - Shipment

CANADA IMMIGRANT VISAS. Bus-nessmen and Investors. criv. Vick, McThea, Afterseya, 309-1111 West Georgic Street, Vencouver, B.C. West 3GT, Teles 04-508113 VICAAC VCR. SIECUTIVES - QUALIFY POR. U.S. permerani residency, Free viso infor-motion. Law Officase. G. Roa, 155 S. Monte Awa, PH 1, Microi FI. 33131 USA, 76J. 305-374-5178. TAX FREE CARS

Munich, West Gerniony el, (0) 89-871 | 168. The 5213930 MCI D.

BOATS AND RECREATIONAL VEHICLES

LEGAL SERVICES U.S. IMMIGRATION. We gre the longest U.S. Immigration law first on the West Coast. We specialize in handling entry problems to the U.S., especially forean nationals, Confidential inquiries. Write to: POPTON, STAMIR, GOLAN, 345 Wishine Blod., #318,
Los Angeles, Coffornia 90010, U.S.A.
Usp Telex no. 215320, Tels (213) 938
3268.

3368.
ALL US COURTS-HAGUE, M.L. Expert in trick, finance, oil mother, integrity. In Who's Who in America. Fluent German, int'l clentels, william Regart, PC, Sate Tower Bidg, Syndaus, NY 13202, Tel-315-471-5322 13. CRIMPIAL LAWYER experienced in successfully crisisting North Ameri-cans carested in Europe. Call or write. Robert M. Assirod Esc., 204 E. Moin 9., Morides, CT 06450, U.S.A. Tol. 223-229-0006.

HOLIDAYS & TRAVEL LEGAL SERVICES

SERVICES PR/INTERPRETER & TOURISM GUIDE Excellent Presentation, English/French. Paris: 562 (5 B). US multilingual girl Friday, great per sonality 8. looks, modern car, solver your problems, Paris 260 38 89. LADY YNTEPPESTER, personal assist-ant. Munich: 089/3517790.

OUNG LADY, linguist, cho will travel, London 747 3304. MENCEDES 500 SEI. & SI. 300 SD Turbo Diesel, US specs. De Lomaca, Posthier J 72, Super Corvette, BMW 635
CS., + Oklimer T-Brid 1956. Germoey (I) 6868/517. Tiz-445342 DES D.
TAX FREE DIRECT FROM 63.M. decler.
Retoil wholesole oil G.M. con in Conodien diollers. Immediate dell'ery. Boredien Abster., 1925. Lourentien, Montroci H4M2N1 Conodo. The 05827836
EDCLUSIVE BRANKD NEW CARS. All types Mercedes 500 SEI, 500 SEC, Farrant card BMW's. Cell Germany: [D] 431 18663. Telen 272405 D. YOUNG PR LADY, excellent appear cace, Teli Paris 548 69 47. YOUNG LADY INTERPRETER 8, trave companion, Paris, Teli 633 68 09. companion, Paris. Tel: 633 68 09. NTY. PR/BUSINESS ASSISTANT Paris. Tel: 828 79 32. PR YOUNG LADY, trilingted, esceller appearance. Paris 527 01 92. PARIS - YOUNG LADY P.R. Comparion. Escellers appearance. 553 62 62.

> NEW YORK one way $220 confirmed seals from Landon, Tel; (1) 437 5492 TO USA or WORLDWIDE, contact your US travel agents Paris 225 92 90. HOTELS RESTAURANTS NIGHT CLUBS FRANCE

PRIZE Withhang Philippine gorder restaurant, Latin Guarier Paris. Au thentic custine, Tel: 633 18 59. SWITZERLAND LICENS - GRAND HOTEL EUROPE. Large price range - Every of 041/30 11 11, The 72657.

LOW COST FLIGHTS

PORTUGAL 7 DAYS INCLUSIVE TOURS FROM PARIS TO:

> Fieces Contoch Paris Tel: 742 59 81; 742 52 44; 742 54 97. The: 220550. FROM MILAN TO: LSBON LA05,000
> ESTORIA / CASCAIS LA66,000
> COSTA VERDE (OPORTO)
> ALGARYE LA68,000
> MADIERA L707,000

Places contact: Num Tel: 874150. Telen: 313696 For other programs and detailed information, ask your TRAVEL AGENT

YACHT CHARTER CENTER LTD., Aki Moutsopoulou 19, Pirosus, Greece. Tel: 4113194 The 213935 CYCA GR

FOR SALE & WANTED THE BILIESMAN - Sensitive individuals, this may possibly be the list & last advertisement of this notions. A unique, never before circulated pictories poster, for the mon who won & lost in love. This print has never been circulated, pince being designed of Copenhagen in 1772. Your deslayer choices are trigled. Verwend french. Also prints for diversified occasions. W.A. Lovis, Emerstgund Passage 22, 67 Heidelberg, W. Germany Post, SALE-MOVING: pair laties, Philips findge, wather-dryer, oven, dish wester, cill opone one year old, more, 325 23 49 Paris.

ART DECO plastises broader. Co50ct. 45 haguette deserred + 357 old out densend, GUILLARD Jewelers, Beau-fivage, CH-1006 Lossame. 221-27 62 30

BOOKS

P-Og S.

PERNCH WOMAN, 29, no children, fair English, visiting Colifornia early October, seeks to correspond with Americans. All letters consevered. Writes Leosis, 1 Place Goez, Recouvrenes-Brest, 2200 France.

GRES AND GUYS oil continents worst pan pals, Details free Hermas Verlag, Box 110666/N., D-1000 Bartin 11, West Germany.

St., London WT. Tol. 01 629 6839 INTERSTIP STANESH on Costs del Sol. Audio-visual lab and accommodation available. Groups of seven. Academic Cultural, Comedias 11, Malaga, Spain. Tel. 21 23 09. DEFLOMA/DEGRESS in interior design correspondence course. Details Dept HT, Rhodec International, BCAV/Rho-dec, London WCIN 30C, UK

PEN PALS

FRIENDS

All over the world: France, Belgium
Concada, U.K., Germany, Spoin
Sweden, U.S.A., etc.
Friendrib, language, exclusinges, etc..
Request free brockure.
AMES DU COURSES, rue Boviere 18, 4050 ESNEJO, BELGIUM.

PAGES 14 & 10 FOR MORE CLASSIFIEDS

shir tive: and ense Fri-,000 : as-y afbeir

olo-1gee Was that > but 🧐 it be the <sup>1</sup> full milil to wish the be

CANADIAN SCHOOLS ABROAD.
We welcome enquiries from Conadian and American formiles living in UK. Qualified Conadian and British teachers. All students learn French as a function of school life, classes never more than 12 students. Contact Waking (1986/2) 71990
SPANISH COURSES IN MALAGA.
SPAIN, all grades, small groups, 4 hours doily, courses commissing each assarts. Luring with Spanish framework of Espacial, Ava. J.S. Elcono, 110, Malaga.
ACADERAC YEAR Oct 15th to May 20th. Fire Arts - Language - Fathion. Chaces year own course of study - University credits, Paris American Accoderacy, ore des Unutines, 75005 Paris. Tel. 225 35 09.
PHOTOGRAPHISC TRAINING CENTER now running Dipleme Course in photographic studies, television journolism, and video techniques. 18 Grosvenor St., London WT. Tel of 1629 6839 INTENSIVE SPANISH on Costo del Sol.

aţ

ij

25

Of ςk w m.

'oe

су id S.

Vice President Who?

candidate for president in 1984 has started. But there has been little speculation as to the Republican candidate.

The reason is that until he says otherwise, Ronald Reagan has the spot. This is very tough on George Bush, who wants to be Reagan's But Bush has a problem. He has been vice president of the United States for two years, so nobody knows who he is.

In fact people haven't heard Ruchwald Buchwald from him in so long that many who supported him think he's dropped out of public

One of George's loyal supporters admits Bush has a recognition problem, and that it is impossible to keep his name in the public eye. he told me, "he won't be the first vice president of the United States we will have to bring back from obscurity." "Does George think Reagan will run again?" I asked. George doesn't know, and he would be the last person to ask the president."

"Has the president indicated if he didn't run. George could go for To my knowledge George and Ronnie have never discussed politics. After all, they're not that "I would think it's only fair to George that Ronnie give some kind of hint whether he wanted another term, so George could get some exposure," I said.

"If Ronnie tells anyone he isn't going to run again, he'll be considered a lame duck president and no one will pay any attention to him. He has to have everyone believing he's going for a second term, whether he is or not"

"And George has to have every-one believe he isn't." "George is a team player. Ive never known him since he's been

Prize to Swedish Institute

The Associated Press PARIS - The Stockholm International Peace Research Institute has won UNESCO's 1982 prize for education for peace, the organiza-tion announced Thursday.

WASHINGTON — The season vice president to hint he'd ever do for guessing the Democratic anything different if he was in the didate for president in 1984 has Oval Office."

> "Maybe that's why no one ever hears from him," I said. "But that must put you in a spot. You can't very well get an organization to-gether by 1984 without tipping George's hand that he has presidential ambitions."

The Bush man said, "It is a Catch-22 situation. If I try to raise money for Bush now, people will get the impression George has gotten the word that Reagan won't run again. But if I say George hasn't got the word, no one will give me any money."
"Why do you need money now?

"To start getting Bush some name recognition. If he is going to run against a Teddy Kennedy or a John Glenn, people are going to have to know who he is. I'll tell you one thing. Being vice president of the United States doesn't do anything for a person's political image."

"Why doesn't Bush announce that he hopes Ronald Reagan runs for another term, because he feels he's the best president we've ever had. That way Bush won't look ambitious but he'll get his name in the papers."

That's all well and good if we were sure Reagan would run again. But if he doesn't, the reason will be that things in the country are in terrible shape, and if they are, Bush doesn't want to be associated that closely with the president." * * *

"So if Bush just remains vice president and doesn't say anything right now he's covered in case the country goes belly-up?"

"Every vice president who has run for president has been in trouble because he was too closely associated with his boss. We'd like to avoid that with Bush if we could."

"I can see what you're up against. But surely George knew by becoming the vice president of the United States he was in a nowin situation." "Yes, but at the time, if you remember, he called Reagan's plans for the country 'voodoo economics,' and the Reagan people don't forget easily."

"So they made him vice presi-

"Well they certainly weren't going to make him an ambassador

The Difficulty of Keeping a Straight Face Susan Sarandon And Other Perils of the Movie Business

L ONDON — They've been shooting a film here which stars Catherine Deneuve as a She gives the impression, aided by a flat voice and distant gaze, of someone who is distillusioned 4,000-year-old who drops her lovdespite finally having made the hig time. "Twe been an actor since 1970," she says, "I'm just very practical about it." er, a younger man of only 300 played by David Bowie, in favor of a woman doctor who specializes in the problems of aging. The film is called "The Hunger." It is The big time is, in any case, an leading man.

roles for women are less interest-

"The problem when you get to a certain point in your career is that directors either want the big stars or they want to discover someone new — there's a bit of ego there. I'm not Barbara Streisand or Clint Eastwood. It's difficult if you're in the middle -

She is active in politics, but only, she says, in self-defense. "Issues like the First Amendment and nuclear war threaten me personally so I'm involved." She appears in the New York theater as often as she can (her plays in-clude "An Evening with Richard Nixon" and "A Couple of White Chicks Sitting Around Talking")

and her first big acting job was in

I don't know where I am."

MARY BLUME

a first directorial effort by Tony Scott, brother of Ridley ("Alien") Scott, and the woman doctor is played by the American actress Susan Sarandon. Filming, Sarandon says, has been fraught with moments when it is hard as the dickens to keep a straight face.

"The first rule when you're doing a gothic horror romance is you have to believe it or the audience won't," she said in her makeshift dressing room in a Mayfair mansion. She was wearing cotton trousers, a T-shirt and close-cropped orange hair. "But there are moments of tongue in cheek — you have to leave spaces for the audience to laugh or they'll laugh at the wrong

Sarandon, who is very busy these days, can currently be seen in Paul Mazursky's "Tempest," which she has described as a Jewish midlife-crisis version of Shakespeare (she plays Ariel, whom Mazursky has transformed into a New Jersey chantoosie). After "The Hunger" she moves on to "The Buddy System" with Richard Dreyfuss, which she calls ing the waitress in Louis Malle's everything you can while making a TV soap opera, "A World it. Anything else is bonus." Apart," in which she says she played the girl everything happens to. In New York she helped found an acting group called the Im-prov which is less fun now than it was when everyone was bold and raw. "Once you've developed your bag of tricks there's no danger in what you can do any longambiguous place to be. "Leading er. What everyone looks for m life is some kind of controlled fol-

ing than supporting roles because the leading lady is always waiting for something to happen to the She found something close to that by working with the Imagi-nation Workshop for schizo-phrenics at New York's Mount Sinai Hospital.

"It started about five years ago. I heard about it at Christmas and I was having a hard time get-ting through Christmas so I thought I would read The Night Before Christmas' in a children's ward. It was very self-indulgent." Instead, she found herself replacing an absent schizophrenic in an improvised play. "I was a in an improvised play. "I was a kind of a guest artist," she says. When in New York she works with the group twice a week, two sessions a day. "We use the same technique as the Improv," she says. "You're working with more fragile people. They aren't necescrazier than actors.

"You never know what to expect. Their reality, and they supposedly have trouble with their fix on reality, is so much more real than ours when acting. It makes acting feel like nothing." But it also helps acting. "I am an actor and anything that happens in my life is fodder to anything I

She co-produced and appeared in "The Last of the Cowboys" with Henry Fonda, but producing does not attract her. "As an actor you have to be protected and keep your bubble up. You can't do that when you're dealing with teamsters and accountants. She hasn't the patience for directing. Acting is the main attraction: even if any sensible actor knows he or she is just part of a package these days, there are mysteries too.

She tells the story of Laurence Olivier coming offstage after a sublime performance, auxious and depressed. Everyone clustered around to soothe him and say had been perfect. "I know," he cried. "But why?" "I don't think it's something you ever figure out," Sarandon says. Acting, she feels, can never be completely fulfilling.

"That," she says, "is what is so seductive about it."

as the aircraft carrier invincible returns from the Falklands. The 22-year-old Andrew, a helicopter pilot, told reporters the 74-day campaign was "an experience I wouldn't have missed." Queen Elizabeth, accompanied by her lustrand, Prince Philip, and daughter, Princess Anne, went out to the carrier by royal barge for a 10-minute private reunion in the admiral's cabin with Andrew as the Invincible moved into its beath at the Portsmouth naval base after 166 days at sea. An estimated 15,000 people lining the harbor cheered the strival of the carrier.

PEOPLE

2-Handed Fleisher Cheered Leon Fleisher, 54, stricken in spokesman for Koch said the may-1964 with an ailment that partially or spoke with a lawyer for the crippled his right hand, won a sheith, but did not meet him. The standing ovation at the inaugural concert of Joseph Meyerhoff Symphony Hall in Baltimore after playing Franck's Symphonic Variations with the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra conducted by Sergin Comissiona. Fleisher last played publicly with two hands in 1965. He has undergone years of rehabil-itation. Before Thursday night, Fleisher, a member of the piano faculty at Baltimore's Pe Conservatory, played several con-certs for the left hand.

Sheikh Mohammed al-Fassi, the Saudi Arabian billionaire who has been doling out large sums of money around the United States, won't give New York $200,000 because Mayor Edward Koch didn't greet him or provide security for his entourage. The sheikh's spokesman said the sheikh changed his mind because Koch did not have the "common courtesy" to provide any security for two members of his entourage who arrived at a City officials refused, but after Manhattan hotel with more than sheikh had sat in his charter p 250 pieces of luggage, then had been accosted and robbed. A escort without sirens or lights.

mayor said that he does not meet with people just because they're nich, but if someone does some thing nice for the city, he would be happy to meet them and thank them. In Florida and Vagnua, the sheikh's gifts to organizations carned into more bad publicity. Al-Fassi stopped off Wednesday in Orlando, where he had intended to donate $80,000 to the Tom Skinner Club, a Christian youth-organization. But when he learned the local newspaper had criticized him in an editorial, he tore up the check and threatened to leave town, Mayor BBI Frederick said. After further consultation with his aides and a motorcade ride to City Hall, the sheikh finally gave the Skinner Chib $20,000 and donated $15,000 to two city projects. Al-Fassi did not fare much better in Norfolk, where he made a stop to drop off $30,000. On arrival at Norfolk International Airport, al-Fassi demanded a police esconwith sirens and flashing lights. City officials refused, but after the sheikh had sat in his charter plane for 45 minutes, they agreed to an

AUTO SHIPPING

MATINA

Car Shipping to the US, Conada, Nagarot & workfields. Tel. 1021 51 3-84 98, Telest 24639 25 fed du Midi, 1000 Brussik, Belgiot

6684 Germez 1219, 37/38 Avelut tel 96 55 [1] Mariet 21, Lends Str. 1910, tel 57 20 77, Brussit 165 rue du Mid, tel 513 4160

a romantic comedy about ordinary people. Last winter she was nominated for an Oscar for play-"Atlantic City," an event so un-expected that she didn't even manage to vote for herself. Thanks mostly to her work with Malle (she also starred in his "Pretty Baby"), Sarandon has be-come a leading lady after 12 years in films. "I started out with a lot of girls who have disappeared — Kim Darby, Mia Farrow, Karen Black, Susan Blakely," she said. Sometimes the film itself nearly disappears: her two biggest es, "Atlantic City" and "The Rocky Horror Picture Show, "almost didn't get released. The only way to survive in this business is not to have any expectation of what a film is going to Susan Sarandon with Catherine Deneuve (at right) in "The Hunger." do for you later. You have to get

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES

Stocks & Stock Options

Our Trading Managers have returned over 28% profit to date this year. Minimum investment $10,000. Write for further details of our

AMERICAN OPTIONS

INVESTMENTS LTD

PO Box 70385

THE AMERICAN TROY

depicting the twin ideals of Freedor and Justice. Send for tull detail Connaught Precious Metals Ltd., 39 Hatton Garden, London SC1 BJR.

BUSINESS SERVICES

N.Y.C. CERTERED Public Accounting firm will bandle financial assignment in the U.S. Rephy Box 15597, Hardel Tribune, 75271 Newlin Codes, Franco. DONT VISIT PARIS ALONE. Take of high standard private guide with a Call AFOS: 541 01 89 / 539 55 75.

DIAMONDS

Antwerp Cutting Factory
Open Mon. thru Sat. included.

SIDIAM INVESTMENT Brussels: 1509 Centre Int. Rogier, 15th floor. 02/218 28 83.

WHEN IN LONDON

ny your diamonde & jewellery holesole prices from: DE MRLE DIAMONDS

32/33 Hatton Gardens, London EC1. Tel: 01 405 6165.

OFFICE SERVICES

BSCC

Your office away from bome

Address, mail, messages, phone, the Multilingual secretarial services. Advise / assist foreign businessmen all commercial pursuits.

Business Services Consult Corp. Kuttelgasse 8 (beside Bahrhofstrasse), CR-8001 Zurich, Switzerland. Tel. 01/211 92 07. Telesu 813062 BSCC

REAL ESTATE FOR SALE

FRENCH PROVINCES

AMERICA CALLING NJE05CD. Travelers' messages. Write Bax 6262, Olympia, WA 98502, USA. RELIGIOUS SERVICES FRANCE

CENTRAL BAPTIST CHURCH, 13 r. d GREAT BRITAIN RICAN CHURCH IN LONDON,

PERSONALS

LOCKING FOR THE ADDRESS in New York of Mr. Daniel Ludwig (80 years ald). Write to: G. Tavernier, Petunics-troat 12, 9219 Gent, Belgium NINA, WE LOVE YOU. Call home 302-227-2139.

MOVING INTERDEAN

Who else for your next international move FOR A FREE ESTIMATE CALL

894.76.11 652.31.17 65.09.57 31.05.91 269.54.00 86.31.44 (06190) 2 42.85.30 4011.08 CADIZ: FRANKFUKT: 961.41.41 671.24.50 141.50.36 738.32.88 742.85.11 473.43.57 95.55.20 363.20.00

GERMANY: INTL MOVING SERVICES Fronkfurt, 0611-781006. Munich, 089 142244. Dusseldorf, 02102-45023/24.

BEST WINNING CHANCES IN EUROPE!

Over $ 19,500,000.00 Awaits

LUCKY WINNERS in the Tax-Free

Austrian Lottery

Starting Soon

1st Prize: US $ 600,000.00

3 Prizes of $ 120,000.00 28 Prizes of $ 60,000.00

PLUS 40,365 Other Cash Prizes up to $ 30,000.00

Total Prize Money: $19,560,000.00

Lottery since one out of every two tickets wins at least the cost of

• Only 72,000 tickets sold (compared to 300,000-500,000 in

• For your protection, the AUSTRIAN LOTTERY is under strict

Make a date with luck! Order now, using coupon below, your ticket(s) for the 115th Austrian National Lottery

—to ——

PROKOPP INTERNATIONAL the official distributor for the Austrian National Lottery.

(Since 1913)

Please send valid for all 22 Weekly Drawings of the 115th Austrian National Lottery beginning November 15th, 1982. For the mailing of all winning lists. I add US S 12 for Overseas Airmail Postage (or US $ 8

OMORROW • MAIL TODAY • WIN TOMORROW • MAIL TODAY

All winnings paid out tax-free in any currency, anywhere.

and it's easy to be a Lucky Winner in the 115th Austrian

2nd Prize: US $ 300,000.00

3rd Prize: $ 240.000.00

government control.

29 Mariahilfer Str.

within Europe)

Lengiose total payment of US $ ...

with check payable to J. Prokopp.

ALLIED VAN LINES INTERNATIONAL HERALD THE CAREFUL MOVERS

FRANCE: 14 r. de la Vega, Paris 12 Tel: 343 23 64.

MOVING

UNITED VAN LINES THE QUALITY MOVES: Host Interactional Moving 15 Rue Philippe de Dangeau 78000 Versailles Tel: (3) 950 77 44 - Telex: 696301F

4th Prize: $ 180,000.00

1061 Vienna, Austria.

Valid only where legal, not available to residents of Singapore

...... Full ticket(s) at US S 432.00 each

..... Quarter ticket(s) at US S 108 00 each

CLASSIFIED ANNOUNCEMENTS

> SUBSCRIBE to the INTERNATIONAL

TRIBUNE AND SAVE.

For details

IN ASIA AND PACIFIC

contact our local distributor on metional Herold Tribune of Sang Commercial Build 14–34 Heanessy Road HONG KORIG Tel: HK 5–286726

SUBSCRIBE TO THE WALL STREET JOURNAL

INTERNATIONAL AIR EDITION

Delivery by Jet Air Freight from New York every business day.

Send order with payment to Jane Toli THE WALL STREET JOURNAL Hilton Tower - Boire 7A Blvd de Wotenloo 38 1000 Brussels, Belgium, Tel: (2) 513 90 80

COVERSEAS AMERICANS

Vote 1982 Congressional elections.
Trained volunteers will help you with the official ballot request forms. US consuls present to notarize and moil. 5 to 7 pm, Tuesday, Spat 21st at The Hotel Interconfinented, 3 rue Costiglione, Paris Ist, or 6 to 8 pm, Friday Sept 24th, La Maison de l'Amerique Lotine, 217 Bd St Germoin, Paris 7th, Bring your passports S.S. number may be required. A non-portison service of Republicans Abroad (France).

YOU'R LONDON TICKET AGENT. Sidi for CATS and all major events. Tel. LONDON 242 8748.

BNGLISH VIDEO FILMS in PAL system available for rental in Germany. Muricin 089-224583.

AMERICAN IMMMGRATION & VISA contacts required by Mr A.R. Homid, Landon, 01 938 1721. FEELING leav? - howing problems SOS HEP crisis-line in English, 3 p.m. 11 p.m. Tek Paris 723 80 80. PORTUGAL SEE Holidays and Travel

SUN N.Y. TIMES, let Euro-deliver Keizer: PCS 2, 1000 Brussek, Belgium ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS English delly, Paris 634 59 65. CRISIS COUNSELING, Psychotherap Masters & Johnson, Paris 273 40 77.

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES

COMPUTER PORTRAITS COMPUTER PORTRAITS
IN COLOR OR B & W
AN INSTANT MONEY MAKER THAT CAN EARN YOU
$6000 - $8000 per abouth
A portrol from a five subject or from a prioto in less than 60 sec. This can be instantly transferred on to a T-shirt or most any testile item. Full or part firm.
ALL CASH BUSNESS. Portable. No apperience necessary. Excellent for shopping carriers, resorts, shows, hotels, madorder, cornicols, from or ony high traffic focation. Systems priced from $12,500 to $29,000, FOB Frontiart.
KEMA COMPUTER SYSTEMS
DEPT $18 POSITIACH 174082
6 FRANCRIERT GERMANY.
Tal: (0611) 747 808.

TELEX: 412713.
Office hours 10 a.m. 6 p.m.

Office hours 10 a.m. 6 p.m.

Office hours 10 c.m. 6 p.m. IN COLOR OR B & W

ADVERTISEMENTS REAL ESTATE FOR SALE REAL ESTATE TO RENT/SHARE

When in Romer
PALAZEO AL VELABRO
PALAZEO AL VELABRO
ury appriment house with furnis, cucinciple for 1 week and in $50 a day for two.
Phone: 6794325, 6793450.
Write: Via del Velobro 16, 00186 Rome.

CRUGED TO DWELL ARROAD for

OBLIGED TO DWELL ARROUAD for 1 year, nert my own Rome central (Irrestevers) furnished flot in residential building, 6th floor, 1 bedroom, 1 double windowed living / diring room, paracramic terroos. Lift, telephone, central heating, For further information, cells (III) 654 21 85 Rome, 7-10 cm and 8-10 pm. No agencies.

PARIS AREA PURNISHED

AT THE CLARIDGE

74 Champs Elysees 8th

l month or more Tel: 359 67 97 Telex 290 548F

16TH Old world charm 4 rooms, 19 baths sun high colm, $1200, 65T 88 34

TONI KING IEAL ESTATE NYC. Sho & long term delate furnished oper ment rentals. 212-307-6455.

REAL ESTATE WANTED/EXCHANGE

EMPLOYMENT

EXECUTIVE POSITIONS AVAILABLE

FOR MORE EXECUTIVE POSITIONS LOOK UNDER "INTERNATIONAL EXECUTIVE OPPORTUNITIES" PAGE 1 1

EXECUTIVES AVAILABLE

RENCH RESIDENT, Netherlands na-tionality, SS, wide int'l experience, lawyer, negotiator, saler manager, general manager, senior esculine oil/gas. Fluent French, English, Ger-

out gas. Fruent French, English, Ger-man, Italian, some Spornish, will invest, may relocate. Box 847, Herald Tri-burse, 92221 Neutity Cades, France. SWISS EDP - MANAGER, 36, seeks a new position in an English speaking country, preferably in the Middle East. Hease write to Art. Volet, Enring 6, CH-1003 Lossanne, Switzerland

GENERAL POSITIONS AVAILABLE

SCHOOL DIRECTOR: Prestigious, co

SCHOOL DIRECTOR: Prestigious, coculuctional, independent elementary school on Manhatron a East Side. Since curriculum & freculty are belingued (French/English), condidates must spicot filtert, idiomotic French. Solary commensance with experience. Address resumes to John M. Groham, Soarch Committee, The Fleming School, 35 E 62nd St., New York, N.Y.
10021 USA. No applications accepted after 30 September 1982.

JOB OPPORTUNITIES worldwide, Temprex PO Box 98673, TST Hong Kong.

GENERAL POSITIONS WANTED

FRENCH PROVINCES CHARMING OLD HOUSE complete PETER SRUIN MAKELAARDLI int? Hoosing Service restored facing Romanesque chartel 80 kms West Paris, 3 bedrooms, 2 butta, landscaped garden. F550,000 Tel: (16-37) 82 61 93 after 1 p.m. For rent houses and apartments. VMSTERDAM. Tel: 020 - 768022 CREAT RRITAIN DUTCH HOUSING CENTRE S.V. Deluce rentols. Voleciusstr. 174, Asterdom. 020-721234 or 723222.

LUXURY MAYFAIR APARTMENT near Berteley Square. Completely re-novated. One bedroom. [01] 499 2104

N PRESTIGIOUS Vouliagement. 1200 sq.m. land for sale, Tel: 6816439. ITALY IN THE HILLS OF UMBRIA

A few building sites in a protected nature park dose to Assis. Beautifully wooded area with splendid views. All services on hand under Anglo-Dutch management. Sites are from half fectors upwards at prices from $1 to $3 per squm. Full details from: PATENTED BORER-CLEANSER con-centrats. Non-corrosive and free of dangerous chemicals. No sulphur resi-due, energy soving up to 20%, both for industrial and domest application. Looking for agents, Great Britain and Ireland. Inquiries: HT, Box 1797, Friedricher. 15, 6000 Frondurt, W. Germany. ZONARES Str v. Magailbaens 27 1183 HB AMSTELVEEN The Natherlands. Tel: (0) 20-410359.

Friedrichst: 15, 6000 Fronkfurt, W. Gerntony.
THE FASTEST GROWING WORLD economic owel is S.E. Asia. Buy control of a well established business in the Philipates and use it as a base. We have many apportunities available in manistracturing and trading. Consortia Int., Molin PO Box 5018, Malenti, Philippines, Teles: 66522 CONST PN.
BIRLISSELS. Internationally lander restourch! For sale. Presingless I postion. Excellent facility. Room for expansion. Profitable gross sales $14 million. Write Box 15603, Harald Tribune, 92521 Neurilly Cadex, France. SPERLONGA / FITEL One Hectore agricultural land. $10 thousand. Call Canada 613-232-2015. PARIS & SUBURBS

TOUR TOTEM MEXT TO SENE. 5 rooms, 122 sq.m. + caller + porting. 18th floor, never lived in, splended view, Recsoncible price. No agent. Tel 9 cm - 2 pm: 544 76 08 or 544 73 01.
77H. Nice Rited orlic. P500,000. Owner on the spot today, 2 - 5 pm. 59 Ave de Breteuil. SPAIN MALLORCA. Locale for disco / bor. 217 sq.m., below $135,000. Write. Tonobe, Waffenplatzstr. 72, Zurich 8002, or coll. 431-202 0700 evenings.

SWITZERLAND Your Swiss Chalet

DIAMONDS & JEWELRY Directly from owner-builder an the begutiful Export Prices Tax Free VAL D'ILLEZ Heart of big winter/summer area, does to Lake Geneva. Chalet including 800 m. land, SF260,000 to SF400,000, 75% intortgage over 20 years.

Low interest rates 7½% to 6½% Plots free for sale to foreign guests guaranteed. Please contact directly: Alain Wustcher, c/o HISCO S.A. 311, Royte de Mayrin

USA GENERAL INVESTMENT IN U.S.A. Your 'first contact' in Europe. W.E.T.I.C., Inc. Information Office, Box 6137, CH-8023 Zurich. Teh (01) 363 62 73, Swit.

USA RESIDENTIAL SOUTHERN CALLY: TENNIS cryone? Surny 2 bedroom, 2 both conde, fully oir conditioned, big fiving room, fire-place, decks, mountain view, 45 mm. to San Diego, 24 tennis courts, 4 pools, 18 hole golf. Quiet pastant setting. Sang fires. $87.502. Contact Jehin Jay, 15831 Davis Cup Ln., Ramona CA 72065. Tel: 714.799-1/21. NEW YORK CITY Large 1 budroom apartment in Sovereign Apartment House. 1400+ sq. ft., 2 baths. $350,000. Tel. Owner 212-759-6294.

REAL ESTATE TO RENT/SHARE CREAT BRITAIN MAYFAR 50 METERS HEJON, now ly furnished fluts from $250 weekly. Tel: 01 599 8223

TERRE'S SERVICES in Amperdom, Hilversum & Utrachi crecs. Tel 035-12198 Kopinglweg 387, Hilversum

POSITIONS AVAILABLE EMPLOYMENT GENERAL POSITIONS WANTED

WANTES

IVY LEAGUE, Irish, lower seels hose ing and/or work Oct. through Dec. Paris or Rome, Mole, 24, personable & attractive. SMS, 229 Oleander, Palm Beach, Fl. 33480 USA: 305-832-3020. MALE, 32, Diplomas from 8, work or perionas in US, France, England 6 tran. Regularised in France, seeks de cent job in Paris area. Paris 737 18 34 RESNOT women, 32, bilingual, excellen education, would look offer children & tutoring, part time. Paris: 535 50 34

SECRETARIAL

TUESDAYS in the IHT Classified Section.

TEACHING POSITIONS AVAILABLE ENGLISH MOTHER-TONGUE teachs wanted part-first. Previous experience with children essential. To teach En-jish through handicrefits to children 4 11. Tel: Poris 203 66 87. RENCHMAN seeks English private courses Paris: (1) 607 27 02 or (6) 010 48 43 evenings.

AUTO RENTALS

PAGES 13 & 10 FOR MORE

7.1

 $n_{2}$

alient.

KAT AT

Mil Natio

int (7.

L Tie

de was:

दे वास्त्र,

Pece-

ing ties

E place

graft 14th

ge Gutti

ich kociei

المتورد

DROES: (

निर्दे । एक

12 Be 12 ...

بايد ريال 18 12 Six

February and

MORLDWIDE or shipping & removels. ATK NV, Ankerto: 22, 2000 Antwerp Belgium, Tel. 03/231 16 53 The 31535

PLACE YOUR CLASSIFIED AD

BY PHONE: Call your local IHT representative with your text. You will be informed of the cost immediately, and once propayment is made your ad will appear within 48

BY MAIL: Send your text to your local lift representative and you will be advised of the cost in local currency by return. Payment before publication is necessary. BY TELEX: If you have an urgent business text, telex us, and it will be published within 48 hours in our INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS MESSAGE CENTER.

In all the above cases, you can now avoid delay by charging your

Cards NAME:	Plea
ADDRESS:
COLINITRY.

American Express Card account. ise indicate the following:

Please charge my ad to my American Express Card account number:

PARIS (HEAD OFFICE) For France and all countries not listed below: 181 Ave. Charles-de-Gaulle, 92521 Neurilly Cedex.

Tel.: 747-12-65. Telex: 613595.

EUROPE SCANDINAVIA: For subscrip-fless contact the Paris office. For-edvertising only contact Exemple Rosch in London Tel.: 018364802. Telex: 262009. AUSTRIA: McKim White, c/o OWG, Wolkerie 16, 1010 Vien-na. Tel.: 52 63 97., Teles: 113427 OWESEA. BELGIUM & LUXEMBOURG: Arthur Moismer, 6 Rue Louis Hy-mons, 1060 Brussels, Tel.: 343,18,59, Telen: 23922 AMX. SMA, (1977. Team: 297/27 AMX.)
SEMMANY: For subscriptions: excited the Forts efficis, for only vertising control. Held: Jung or Signid Konrod, UHI, Friedrichistosse 13, D 6 frontfest/M.
Tel. 72 of 55. Tix 416/71, HTD. GREECE & CYPRUS: J.C. Remes-son, Pindorou 26, Athens, Tel. 3618397/3602421 Telex: 218344 ESGR. 218344 BSGR ITALY: Antonio Sombrotto, 55 Vio della Mercede, 00187 Rome. Tel. 677-34-37. Telece 610 161. NETHERIANDS: Amoud Tessing/ Allens Grim, Prof. Tulpstreet 17, 1018 GZ. Amsterdom. Tel. 020-26 36 15. Telec: 13133. PORTUGAL: Rica Ambor, 32 Ros des Jonatos Vardes, Lisbon. Tel. 672793 & 662544.

SPAIN: Affredo Unsbuff Scrimento, Burto Mart 1, 6D, Pedro Tanzero B. Madrid' 20, Tel: 45529 91-4553306. Tol: 46172. COYAE, 46156 COYAE. SWATZERLAND: Guy Yon Theyne and Morshall Walter, "Les Vegnes" 15 Chemier Dated, 1009 Pully/ Loussone. Tels. (201) 29-58-94, Telem. 25722 GVT CH. UNITED KINGDOM: For walscriptions contest the Puris edites. For otherising only con-test. Emme Reach, LH.T., 62 Long Arre, London, WCES/H. Tel: 01 836 4802. Teles: 262009.

OTHERS HONG KONG: C. Change & Asso-cioles Let., 506 Cer Po Commer-ciol Bulleting, 18-20 Lynchurst Terrous, Camirol, thong King, Eds. 5.420706 Telex: 63079. SRASE Dan Switch, 23 Massad Street, P.O. Son 11297, Tel Aver Tel. 229873 8. 242294. Teleso 341118 BKTV E. EKT 6376. JAPAN: Todoshi Mori, Mario Soles Jepon Inc., Tossurocho Buleing, 3-3-14. Shimboshi, Minesto Iu., To-tyo 105. Tules: 25666. Tel., 504-1925. SINGAPORE MALAYSIA: Scriey Ton, CHENEY TAN ASSOCIATES, Soile SIR, Network Bidg. 24. Peck Soils St. Singapore 0207. Tel.: 748 21 50 ... 748 71 83. Tr.: 33783 (CTAFICS.

SOUTH AFRICA: Robin A. Horn-tsond, International Madia Rep-resentatives. FO Box 4,163, Johannesburg. 2000. Tel. 29-8217. Teles: 8-4013. U.S.A.: Semby O'Herra, Internation of Herald Tribuna, 444 Modeo Ava., New York 10022, Tel 212-752 3890.

WANTED

BRITISH LADY - experienced AST, VIP level, specking 5 kanguogas fluerity, seeks chlenging potention or Public Relotions / Personal Assistont, Will relocate or troval. Reply P.O. Box 41708, 1008 EB Assistantom, Holland.
BNGISSMAN, 42, specks French, German, Italian, Driving license. Seeks employment any sphere American life in Europa. Employer with crimicals exprecised. Write Box 849, Hersid Tribure, 92521 Neully Cades, France.
YOUNG GERMAN LADY, Horriourbased, pleasant appacrama/personcity, seeks interesting job. Pretrocklytrovelling, business or personal castsiant. Write HT, Box 1803, Friedrichstr.
15, 6000 Frankfurt, W. Ger. Near Parc Bordelas, residential area, hindre sells freestone ano-level house. 3 bedracoms, 2 bedracoms, 2 WCs, fiving, dring, poing, garage-warkshop, 82 sp.m. cellor, central ineding, corpeted throughout, F500,000. Tel. in French (56) 08 99 60 or (58) 07 30 09, in English or French (58) 07 32 97. Please send further information HOLLAND Renthouse International Name О 020-448751 (4 lines) COTE D'AZUR, Unique modern house designed for writer, ideal artist or art collector, Living 100 sq.m, with loggia, 5 bedrooms, study, 3 boths, cellor, fer-Address Amsterdam, Bolestein 43. City/Country = (Please print clearly)

PRENCH FAMILY Voscresson (west of Portis office on cuspoir position for re-sponeitie US or UK stotest 20-25 years. Should take care of three young children. Col. morning Poris. 24 77 10. PART 1 166
BINDOPEAN houselessor female, unche
40 English specting, for trade, private family/1 chiel, villa by sec. Good can dilions, free Jan 83. finese, Hovasset H-Sharon 47, Hezzla-Plauch, termi. POSITIONS WANTED

EMPLOYMENT

Prof. 1256, Fronce.
PRENCH LADY, 50, 20 years of teaching in USA, would beloyst or give laysons in evenings. Serious references evolicible. Fel: 251 79 9 Poris.
AMERICAN WOMAN, 21, seeks post in child core field. Experience, eccellent references. Paris; 260 38 89, room 49
AU PARI / HALY. American, 18, seeks instellate postigot. Morgo Craz, One 5th AV NYC 1003 USA 212-533-4671
BROUGH NANNES & Mothers Helps

NGLISH NANNES & Mothers' Helps free now. Nash Agency, 37 Grand Pa-rade, Brighton, UK. Tel: 682 666.

$25 PER DAY, unlimited mileoge AU TOHANSA, Fromzenbrushen St. 8, A 1020 Vierno, Tel. 24 T6 94.

CLASSIFIEDS

QUICKLY AND EASILY

For your guidance: the basic rate is $8.45 per line per day + local taxes. There are 25 letters, signs and spaces in the first line and 36 in the following lines. Mini

JEL: VALIDITY SIGNATURE: